Goldstein,2012-12-06 The VIIIth Annual International Spring Symposium on Health Sciences held at the George Washington University School of Medicine in Washington D C attracted over three hundred fifty scientists from twenty five countries The leading scientific experts in the field reported on recent biomedical advances in aging They provided an up to date account of the molecular genetic nutritional and immunological mechanisms associated with the aging process and approaches to intervention and treatment of the major disorders associated with the aging process including Alzheimer's disease A unique aspect of this meeting was a concurrent one day hearing of the U S Senate Sub Committee on Aging organized by the Alliance for Aging Research The theme for the hearing was Advances in Aging Research Seven scientists attending our aging symposium were asked to testify They were Drs Carl Cotman University of California Irvine Trudy Bush Johns Hopkins University Takashi Makinodan University of California Los Angeles William Ershler University of Wisconsin Madison Gino Doria ENEA Rome Mr Dan Perry Director of the Alliance for Aging Research and myself The Membrane Hypothesis of Aging Imre Zs.-Nagy,1994-07-12 The Membrane Hypothesis of Aging offers the most comprehensive multidisciplinary description of the cell maturation and aging process The membrane hypothesis of aging MHA described in this book is based on the actual multidisciplinary knowledge of cell morphology physiology and biochemistry The solid basis of known facts explains the destructive progressive intrinsic and universal character of the aging process The book interprets other aging theories including free radical theory of aging dysdifferentiation hypothesis of aging and cancer and the accumulation theories It presents important issues for future research The book also outlines the possibilities of an efficient preventive anti aging drug design and presents the first promising results of such research activity Drosophila as a Model Organism for Ageing Studies Frédéric A. Lints,M. Hani Soliman,2013-11-21 Many books on ageing attempt to cover the whole field of gerontology However since gerontology is now such a diversified and rapidly expanding subject the results of such attempts tend to be either incomprehensible compendia or encyclopedias of disheartening size The present book aims to be both more modest and more ambitious It focuses on a single object Drosophila but attempts to offer a synthesis of all the gerontological work that has been done on it It also aims to show the extent to which this work has led to an understanding of the biological phenomena of ageing longevity senescence and death in higher organisms including man Finally it attempts on the basis of current knowledge to mark out the paths that the next generation of researchers will most probably follow Drosophila has been used as a model organism to advance our basic knowledge of the fundamentals of genetics and gerontology It may be noted that the pioneering work on the genetics of ageing which used Drosophila began very early in this century within the first decade of the rediscovery of Mendel's laws

Biology of Aging Robert Arking, 2006-02-02 Robert Arking's Biology of Aging is an introductory text to the biology of aging which gives advanced undergraduate and graduate students a thorough review of the entire field The mass of data related to aging is summarized into fifteen focused chapters each dealing with some particular aspect of the problem His prior two editions have also served admirably as a reference text for clinicians and scientists This new edition captures the extraordinary recent advances in our knowledge of the ultimate and proximal mechanisms underlying the phenomenon of aging
