Trading Secrets Mark Huband, 2012-12-14 Today's intelligence community faces challenges that would have been inconceivable only a dozen years ago Just as al Qaeda's destruction of the Twin Towers heralded a revolution in global diplomacy the events of 9/11 also threw two centuries of spy craft into turmoil because this new enemy could not be bought Gone were the sleepers and moles whose trade in secrets had sustained intelligence agencies in both peacetime and war A new method of intelligence had been born The award winning former Financial Times security correspondent Mark Huband here takes us deep inside this new unseen world of spies and intelligence With privileged access to intelligence officers from Rome to Kabul and from Khartoum to Guantanamo Bay he reveals how spies created secret channels to the IRA deceived Iran's terrorist allies frequently attempted to infiltrate al Qaeda and forced Libya to abandon its nuclear weapons Using accounts from ex KGB officers Huband vividly describes the devastation caused by the West's misreading of Soviet intentions in Africa and explains how ill prepared western intelligence agencies were when the Cold War was replaced by the perception of a new terrorist threat Benefiting from privileged access to intelligence sources across the world Trading Secrets provides a unique and controversial assessment of the catastrophic failure of spies to grasp the realities of the Taliban's grip on Afghanistan and draws upon exclusive interviews with serving officers in assessing the ability of the major intelligence agencies to combat the threat of twenty first century terrorism Unrespectable Radicals? Paul A. Pickering, 2016-02-24 In 1988 Iain McCalman's seminal work Radical Underworld unravelled the complex and clandestine revolutionary networks of democrats that operated in London between 1790 and the beginnings of Chartism to reveal an urban underworld of prophets, infidels, pornographers and rogue preachers where powerful satirical and subversive subcultures were developed This present volume reflects and builds upon the diversity of McCalman's discoveries to present fresh insights into the culture and operation of popular politics in the age of reform It is a coherent and integrated treatment of the subject that offers a window into this unrespectable underworld and questions whether it was a blackguard subculture or a more complex and rich counter culture with powerful literary, legal and political implications This book brings together an international team of experienced scholars to explore the concepts and subjects pioneered by McCalman The volume presents a focused and coherent review of popular politics from the meeting rooms of a reform society and the theatre stage to the forum of the courtroom and the depths of prison John Mitchel, Ulster and the Great Irish Famine Kenneth Dawson, 2017-07-25

The Belfast Jacobin is the first ever biography of Samuel Neilson a founding member of the Society of United Irishmen whose profound influence on this radical movement was to alter the course of Irish history Samuel Neilson joined Wolfe Tone and Thomas Russell at the inaugural meeting of the United Irishmen in 1791 forming a radical front that would challenge the political realities of the day in increasingly strident ways As editor of the Northern Star Neilson was to be a principal figure in shaping the United Irishmen's ideology before the newspaper was suppressed by the military He brought the excitement caused by the French Revolution into Irish focus putting public dissatisfaction into words and later gathering the forces necessary for revolt Kenneth Dawson conducting original research and drawing upon innumerable archive sources reveals Neilson's formidable strength as an organiser of radical politics his incessant run ins with the authorities and his central role in planning the United Irish Rebellion of 1798 Samuel Neilson brought talk of revolution to the street The Belfast Jacobin is a pivotal history that illuminates the true import of his deeds and writing sorely obscured in many accounts of the 1790s secret service community Technologies of Empire Dermot Ryan, 2012-12-21 Technologies of Empire looks at the ways in which writers of the long eighteenth century treat writing and imagination as technologies that can produce rather than merely portray empire Authors ranging from Adam Smith to William Wordsworth consider writing not as part of a larger logic of orientalism that represents non European subjects and spaces in fixed ways but as a dynamic technology that organizes these subjects and transforms these spaces Technologies of Empire reads the imagination as an instrument that works in tandem with writing expanding and consolidating the networks of empire Through readings across a variety of genres ranging from Smith s The Wealth of Nations and Edmund Burke s Reflections on the Revolution in France to Maria Edgeworth s Irish fiction and Wordsworth s epic poetry this study offers a new account of writing s role in empire building and uncovers a genealogy of the romantic imagination that is shot through by the imperatives of imperialism Published by University of Delaware Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press Castlereagh John Bew, 2012-09-01 A magisterial biography of perhaps the greatest British statesman of the 19th century John Bew s Castlereagh explores how Robert Stewart Viscount Castlereagh came to be internationally renowned and highly respected by the great powers of Europe and America and at the same time defamed by his contemporaries and despised by the English public he sought to serve
