was bound apprentice to his brother James a printer who published the New England Courant To this journal he became a contributor and later was for a time its nominal editor But the brothers quarreled and Benjamin ran away going first to New York and thence to Philadelphia where he arrived in October 1723 He soon obtained work as a printer but after a few months he was induced by Governor Keith to go to London where finding Keith s promises empty he again worked as a compositor till he was brought back to Philadelphia by a merchant named Denman who gave him a position in his business On Denman s death he returned to his former trade and shortly set up a printing house of his own from which he published The Pennsylvania Gazette to which he contributed many essays and which he made a medium for agitating a variety of local reforms In 1732 he began to issue his famous Poor Richard s Almanac for the enrichment of which he borrowed or composed those pithy utterances of worldly wisdom which are the basis of a large part of his popular reputation In 1758 the year in which he ceased writing for the Almanac he printed in it Father Abraham s Sermon now regarded as the most famous piece of literature produced in Colonial America
