Johannessen, Ansgar Pedersen, Kurt Petersen, 2013-04-17 Business education and business research has often been criticized by the business community which claims that much of it is mainly directed at the establishment of teachers and researchers themselves instead of distributing their knowledge to the business community It may seem that many universities and other research institutions have turned into mere knowledge manufacturers where the emphasis is more on the output volume than on quality of relevance with little or no consideration for the end users As universities and corporations attempt to prepare management to be alert to future changes improved and even brand new teaching methodologies are required The main focus of the present volume is on the distribution and selection of new knowledge How can business educators deliver new knowledge to students and the business community more rapidly than before How should we define the core business curriculum when new knowledge becomes old knowledge Intellectual Capital for Communities Ahmed Bounfour, Leif Edvinsson, 2012-06-25 In the knowledge economy the value of corporations is directly related to their knowledge and intellectual capital But broaden the perspective a little wider and you begin to see the possibilities Think of cities regions even entire nations in addition to the public sector If intangibles and intellectual capital are important to the private sector they are also important to the productivity and competitiveness of the public sector and so to communities and nations as a whole In this book Editors Ahmed Bounfour and Leif Edvinsson have brought together the best minds in intellectual capital throughout the world to focus on a new and fertile area of research measuring and managing the intellectual capital of communities This is a creative and cutting edge area of research that has the potential to change how public sector planning and development is done Once there is a clear way to identify where wealth is created in a given region nation this process has the potential to reveal a huge knowledge repository in the public sector with a significant but idle potential for collective wealth creation the wealth of nations in waiting *Review of Small Business Administration's Programs and Policies -- 1971, Hearings Before ... 92-1 on ... Office of Personnel Management. Library, 1964 Building Knowledge in Architecture Richard Foqué, 2010 Foqué establishes a general design theory based on the axioms of pragmatic thinking a crucial unity between experience and the process of learning and between conceptual thought and situational consciousness Building Knowledge develops a theoretical framework and practical instrumentation to establish a knowledge base for the discipline of architecture Part one of the book presents design methods as a third way of investigating reality apart from scientific methods or the conception of art By describing the science philosophical context Foqué extensively analyses the nature of design activity and the design process its inherent characteristics and the differences between science and art As such it is argued that design processes have a research dimension in such which are essentially contextual and action driven Foqué offers an integrated and comprehensive perspective to understand design activity both from an epistemological and practical standpoint This results in an expanded discourse about the true nature of architectural design processes Within this theoretical framework part two explains how case study research is a primordial means to establish a knowledge base for the discipline and profession of architecture From this premise Foqué compares case study research in law medicine and business administration and develops a practical and comprehensive approach to case studies in architecture The methodology offers a solid and general framework wherein a consistent body of knowledge regarding architectural design processes can be generated This promotes deeper insight in the complex relationship between context product and process which governs every design process on the one hand and between the several stakeholders involved on the other hand Publisher The Directory of MBAs ,1999
