Unproduction Studies and the American Film Industry James Fenwick, 2021-08-09 This book makes the case for unproduction studies the study of films left unmade unseen or unreleased as a radical discipline with the potential to uncover a shadow history of the American film industry Exploring the archival methods that can be utilised in this endeavour James Fenwick argues that a revisionist history is needed to understand the logic of the film industry finding that it has long been predicated on a system of unmade creativity in which finances resources and labour is invested into projects that production companies know will never be produced or have no intention of ever producing Using the Production Code Administration PCA records housed at the Margaret Herrick Library as a case study the book explores the material existence of the unmade and considers how archives and archival methods can be used to construct a shadow history that recovers the forgotten marginalised and overlooked figures in film history providing explanations for structural forces that contributed to the unmade Given its unique use of the unmade as an analytic for film history this book will be an essential read for scholars interested in film and media history performance studies film production and creative practice as well as to archivists and archival researchers Trapped in a Corrupt School District Angelo Morelli, PhD, 2022-03-21 Born and mostly educated in Italy at a young age I immigrated to Quebec Canada where I taught Latin to French speaking high school students Then I earned a Ph D degree in French and Latin at the University of Ontario My dream came true when in 1967 I entered the USA as French instructor at a college in central Kansas and later at the University of Tennessee Alas due to the declining enrollment in the foreign languages at the University three years later I lost my untenured job Next being just a part time French instructor in a catholic college I took a full time teaching job in the public school district of Fairview a medium sized town in the Appalachian Plateau I taught French and Latin to high school freshmen There I was appreciated by everybody and three years later I was granted tenure With the advent of a new school superintendent Tom Jones in 1980 the tide suddenly turned He advocated that the school district did not need a teacher with a Ph D degree and most of all that as a European I was unqualified to teach in his American schools He decided that I had to go Unable to find a legitimate reason to get rid of me he started building a termination case for gross inefficiency For that purpose Jones replaced my honest principal with Frank Grossman an awkward and loyal bootlicker who had no knowledge of French and Latin For four years Grossman made my life extremely miserable He sat in my classroom almost fifty times and if so to speak I taught that planet Earth is round he documented that I said it is square Yet nothing could justify my dismissal In spring 1982 Jones indefinitely laid off 67 untenured teachers for alleged financial problems I was the only tenured teacher among them Later the school board ordered to rehire all 67 teachers because the lay off was unjustified Yet Jones refused to rehire me Finally he made me ransom my tenured job by making me drop a couple of pending grievances Exasperated by his repeated failures to get rid of me Jones announced in the local news that I was the poorest teacher in the school district and that he had no choice but to let me go To achieve his resolve he had Grossman triple the efforts to fabricate as much negative documentation as possible Grossman even used a few teachers students parents and substitute teachers to support his efforts To further mortify and disgrace me he had me sit in other teachers classroom to learn how to teach French and Latin in America He ordered me to take additional college classes to qualify to teach those languages at the first year level Two school administrators and three outsiders were hired to sit in my classes and prepare negative reports None of them knew French and Latin I became a laughing stock in the entire school district The maltreatment became so callous that my doctor placed me on sick leave for 30 days because of an acute anxiety syndrome After four years of relentless and undignified torment in March 1984 Supt Jones had his rubber stamp school board fire me for alleged inability to teach French and Latin even at the first year level Even my foreign accent and my alleged European way of teaching were given as termination grounds Yes my sick leave was also used to claim that I was physically unable to teach Since previously I had been a successful teacher in catholic schools Jones had the insolence to advise that I should seek employment in catholic schools as if those were inferior This book describes the incredible despicable and appalling persecution mistreatment and humiliation I endured in that school district run by a corrupt superintendent and his accomplices It is a shocking case of ignorance bigotry and malice

Notice Although the events described in this book took place decades ago they are still etched in my memory I decided to recount them in this book as a personal healing and to warn teachers that such things can truly happen A Light in the Darkness Albert Marrin, 2021-09-21 From National Book Award

Finalist Albert Marrin comes the moving story of Janusz Korczak the heroic Polish Jewish doctor who devoted his life to children perishing with them in the Holocaust Janusz Korczak was more than a good doctor He was a hero The Dr Spock of his day he established orphanages run on his principle of honoring children and shared his ideas with the public in books and on the radio He famously said that children are not the people of tomorrow but people today Korczak was a man ahead of his time whose work ultimately became the basis for the U N Declaration of the Rights of the Child Korczak was also a Polish Jew on the eve of World War II He turned down multiple opportunities for escape standing by the children in his orphanage as they became confined to the Warsaw Ghetto Dressing them in their Sabbath finest he led their march to the trains and ultimately perished with his children in Treblinka But this book is much more than a biography In it renowned nonfiction master Albert Marrin examines not just Janusz Korczak s life but his ideology of children that children are valuable in and of themselves as individuals He contrasts this with Adolf Hitler s life and his ideology of children that children are nothing more than tools of the state And throughout Marrin draws readers into the Warsaw Ghetto What it was like How it was run How Jews within and Poles without responded Who worked to save lives and who tried to enrich themselves on other people s suffering And how one man came to represent the conscience and the soul of humanity Filled with black and white photographs this is an unforgettable portrait of a man whose compassion in even the darkest hours reminds us what is possible

Barbarian and Noble Marion Florence Lansing, 1911

School , 1924 School Consolidation and Rural Life , 1922 Kidnapped Souls Tara Zahra, 2011-05-02 Throughout the nineteenth and into the early decades of the twentieth century it was common for rural and working class parents in the Czech German borderlands to ensure that their children were bilingual by sending them to live with families who spoke the other language As nationalism became a more potent force in Central Europe however such practices troubled pro German and pro Czech activists who feared that the children born to their nation could literally be lost or kidnapped from the national community through such experiences and more generally by parents who were either flexible about national belonging or altogether indifferent to it Highlighting this indifference to nationalism and concerns about such apathy among nationalists Kidnapped Souls offers a surprising new perspective on Central European politics and society in the first half of the twentieth century Drawing on Austrian Czech and German archives Tara Zahra shows how nationalists in the Bohemian Lands worked to forge political cultures in which children belonged more rightfully to the national collective than to their parents Through their educational and social activism to fix the boundaries of nation and family Zahra finds Czech and German nationalists reveal the set of beliefs they shared about children family democracy minority rights and the relationship between the individual and the collective Zahra shows that by 1939 a vigorous tradition of Czech German nationalist competition over children had created cultures that would shape the policies of the Nazi occupation and the Czech response to it The book s concluding chapter weighs the prehistory and consequences of the postwar expulsion of German families from the Bohemian Lands Kidnapped Souls is a significant contribution to our understanding of the genealogy of modern nationalism in Central Europe and a groundbreaking exploration of the ways in which children have been the objects of political contestation when national communities have sought to shape or to reshape their futures
