comprehensive introduction to the literature of eSwatini It details a literary trajectory that begins with renditions of the country by early travelers and settlers and follows with the emergence of a national literature that is marked by early oral influences and molded by unique sociopolitical interests Along the way the author considers how contemporary writing by visitors expatriates and journalists have salvaged and recycled earlier images and attitudes through a series of representational and rhetorical practices In particular the lingering influence of colonial discourse is explored in the context of the nation's pivotal incwala ritual A chapter on Hilda Kuper that situates her fiction and drama between outsider and insider accounts is followed by the final two chapters that trace the development of anglophone and siSwati writing and identify themes arising from the major literary genres produced by local authors. The concluding section features a comprehensive registry of writers with brief summaries of their works Spaces of Anticolonialism Stephen Legg, 2025-03-01 Spaces of Anticolonialism is the first book length account of anticolonialism in Delhi as the capital of Britain s empire in India It pioneers a spatial governmentality analysis of the networks mobilizations and hidden spaces of anticolonial parrhesia or courageous speech and actions in the two decades before independence in 1947 Reading across imperial and nationalist archives newspapers memoirs oral histories and interviews Stephen Legg exposes subaltern geographies and struggles across both the new and old cities which have traditionally been neglected in favor of the elite spaces of New Delhi Presenting the dual cities as one interconnected political landscape Legg studies Indian National Congress efforts to mobilize and marshal support between the mass movements of Civil Disobedience 1930 34 and Quit India 1942 43 The book s six chapters compare the two movements in terms of their public spaces of nonviolent anticolonialism their problematization by violence and their legacies This bottom up analysis focused on the streets bazaars neighborhoods homes and undergrounds of the two cities foregrounds the significance of physical and political space it highlights the pioneering role of women in crafting these spaces and it exposes the microtechniques that Congress used to encourage Gandhi s nonviolence and to tolerate its testing in the face of the rising popularity of the radical left Legg s rereading of Michel Foucault's final lectures on parrhesia produces a bold new approach to questions of postcolonialism resistance and South Asian governmentalities This allows anticolonialism to be read not as an outside but as a coherent and bottom up project of self transformation and space making that was elite coordinated but whose sovereignty lay with a disobedient and not always nonviolent public This book provides an innovative and restive historical geography of spaces of anticolonialism in the capital of contemporary India s 1 4 billion people Creating Heritage Thomas Carter, David Harvey, Roy Jones, Iain Robertson, 2019-11-15 This book investigates the selection process of heritagisation to understand what specific pasts are being selected or rejected for representation who is selecting them how and to whom they are being represented and why they are being presented or dismissed in the ways that they are Some aspects of our pasts are venerated and memorialised for a variety of reasons while others are forgotten or even hidden This volume thus provides examples from across a spectrum Some phenomena are well suited to heritagisation such as animals memorialised for their bravery long past agricultural techniques and implements and impressive landscapes However this book also deals with products e g tobacco historical periods e g the Third Reich and scientific techniques e g genetic modification with negative connotations that extend beyond their heritage attributes This volume considers how the actors in the heritage industry admit valorise prioritise and rationalise historic resources as heritage products These findings provide practical examples of how heritage institutions privilege frame and or exclude a wide range of heritage items. They also contrast the invocations of sectional local national or class based and more cosmopolitan heritages and consider the extent to which innovation and change are or can be acknowledged within the heritage discourse On the High Line Annik LaFarge, 2024-05-07 The most comprehensive up to date and acclaimed guide to the High Line by the leading expert on the history of the park now in a fully revised edition Built atop a former freight railroad the park in the sky is regularly cited as one of the premiere examples of adaptive reuse and quickly became one of New York's most popular destinations attracting more than 8 million visitors a year This updated Third Edition of On the High Line published to coincide with the fifteenth anniversary of the park s opening remains the definitive guide to the park that transformed an entire neighborhood and became an inspiration to cities around the globe In short entries organized by roughly two city block sections the guide provides rich details about everything in view on both sides of the park Illustrated with more than 110 black plants and horticulture and important industries and technological innovations that developed in the neighborhoods the park traverses from book publishing and food distribution to the introduction of cold storage and the development of radar the elevator and talking movies Updated to include newly opened sections of the park this edition also features a new conversation pertaining to the more controversial side of the High Line s story and how it became a poster child for the most grievous manifestations of gentrification and inequity in public spaces Author Annik LaFarge provides a frank discussion on how the park s leadership created a platform for discussing these issues and for advising other projects on how to work more inclusively and from a social justice and equity perspective On the High Line serves as an educated travel companion someone invisibly perched on a visitor's shoulder who can answer every question including what was here before moving back in time through the early 20th century the Industrial Revolution and the colonial and pre European times when this stretch of what we call Manhattan was home to the Lenape people and much of it was covered by the waters of the Hudson River A companion website with more than 650 photos historic contemporary rooftop and aerial can be viewed at HighLineBook com Geography of Loss Patti Digh, 2013-12-23 This extraordinary book is borne of loss the loss of love of certainty and assuredness of knowing where we are or who we are of beauty and youth of health of life itself of privacy and of roles and of knowing When someone or something we love leaves us we suddenly walk alone into new territory without them We become strangers in new lands places where the landscape is unalterably changed where the center of gravity has somehow faltered and become weak making us feel as if we might fall off the surface of the earth Sometimes that moment of loss defines the rest of our lives becoming a center to our compass forever This unique book is a guidebook an atlas of those experiences of loss and grief a map for living through and into change and impermanence to moving on anew You are the navigator through the three main sections Embrace what is walk into your new landscape Honor what was be grateful for your old landscape Love what will be live into your future landscape Illustrated throughout with art submitted from around the world this book is an atlas of experience utilizing map imagery and the richly metaphoric evocative and functional language of geography to help you place yourself on your own journey to find In the Ruins of the Cold War Bunker Luke your way through helpful exercises and an empathetic expert guide Bennett, 2017-06-22 During the Cold War military and civil defence bunkers were an evocative materialisation of deadly military stand off They were also a symbol of a deeply affective pervasive anxiety about the prospect of world destroying nuclear war But following the sudden fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 these sites were swiftly abandoned and exposed to both material and semantic ruination This volume investigates the uses and meanings now projected onto these seeming blank derelict spaces It explores how engagements with bunker ruins provide fertile ground for the study of improvised meaning making place attachment hobby practices social materiality and trauma studies With its commentators ranging across the arts and humanities and the social sciences this multi disciplinary collection sets a concern with the phenomenological qualities of these places as contemporary ruins and of their strange affective affordances alongside scholarship examining how these places embody and or otherwise connect with their Cold War originations and purpose both materially and through memory and trauma Each contribution reflexively considers the process of engaging with these places and whether via the archive or direct sensory immersion In doing so the book broadens the bunker's contemporary signification and contributes to theoretically informed analysis of ruination place attachment meaning making and material culture Lake District Natural History Walks Christopher Mitchell, 2004 Discover the Lake District's hidden wildlife geology and archaeology while enjoying walks in beautiful surroundings With walks from one to six miles readers can become nature detectives and solve the hidden mysteries Teaching Arabs, Writing Self Evelyn Shakir, 2013-11-01 Evelyn Shakir s witty wise and beautifully written memoir explores her status as an Arab American woman from the subtle bigotry she faced in Massachusetts as a second generation Lebanese whose parents were not only foreign but eccentric to the equally poignant blend of dislocation and homecoming she felt in Bahrain Syria and Lebanon where she taught American literature to university students She effortlessly combines personal anecdote with cultural political and historical background and is incapable of stereotyped thinking one of the book s many pleasures is the diversity she finds among the people she encounters in the Middle East including not only students but cab drivers storekeepers and the guys who make the spinach pies at the bakery down the street from her apartment As Shakir explores her own identity she leads the reader to an appreciation of the richness and complexity of being Arab American or any mixed heritage in an increasingly small world

The Quest for Origins K. R. Howe,2003-05-31 Did they come from space from Egypt from the Americas From other ancient civilizations These are some of today s most fanciful claims about the first settlers of the islands of the Pacific But none of them correctly answer the question Where did the Polynesians come from This book is a thoughtful and devastating critique of such new learning and a careful and accessible survey of modern archaeological anthropological genetic and linguistics findings about the origins of Pacific Islanders Professor Howe also examines the two hundred year old history of Western ideas about Polynesian origins in the context of ever changing fads and intellectual fashions Offshore William Brittain-Catlin,2005 A revealing and chilling expose on the hidden side of global wealth and power shows how tax havens have become central to global finance The author asserts that offshore practices put capitalism and freedom in grave danger
