Rycroft on Analysis and Creativity Charles Rycroft, 1992-05. Viewpoints contains challenging essays on Freud, his fellows, and critics and on the contribution of modern figures such as Bruno Bettelheim, Thomas Azas, and Eric Berne. Charles Rycroft also pursues his enduring fascination with the place of memory and imagination in the work of artists and writers such as Wilkie Collins, Rousseau, and Sartre and finally explores our puzzled conceptions of selfhood and self-awareness. Fluent, entertaining, imaginative, and thought-provoking, this collection confirms Rycroft as one of the most humane as well as the most distinguished of British psychoanalysts.

Time Regained Delia Ungureanu, 2021-10-07. Awarded the Tudor Vianu Prize for Literary and Cultural Theory by the National Museum of Romanian Literature. Over the past 30 years, the fields of world literature and world cinema have developed on parallel but largely separate tracks with little recognition of their underlying similarities and the ways that each can learn from the other. Time Regained does not move from literature to cinema but exists simultaneously in both fields. The 7 filmmakers selected here—Andrei Tarkovsky, Akira Kurosawa, Martin Scorsese, Raúl Ruiz, Wong Kar Wai, Stephen Daldry, and Paolo Sorrentino—are themselves also writers or people with literary training and they produce a new type of world cinema thanks to their understanding of the world simultaneously through literature and film. In the process, their films produce new readings of literary texts that world literature studies wouldn't have been able to achieve with its own instruments. Time Regained examines how filmmakers build on literature to reconfigure the world as a landscape of dreams and how they use film to reinvent the narrative techniques of the authors on whom they draw. The selected filmmakers draw inspiration from French surrealists, modernists, Marcel Proust, Virginia Woolf, and Marguerite Yourcenar and predecessors such as Dante and Cao Xueqin. In the process, these filmmakers cross the borders between film and literature, nation and world, dream and reality.

John Betjeman William S. Peterson, 2006. Sir John Betjeman (1906–1984), Poet Laureate, was probably the most widely read English poet of the twentieth century. Because of his frequent appearances on radio and television and his fervent devotion to the preservation of England's architectural heritage, his face and voice became familiar to millions. Few other poets of any century have had such a powerful influence on their contemporaries. This bibliography lists and describes all of his known writings, including his own books, ephemera, contributions to periodicals, and to books by others, lectures, and radio and television programmes. Other categories such as editorships, music settings, and dramatic adaptations of his poems, recordings, and interviews are also included, as well as a section devoted to writings about him. Manuscripts and drafts of all his works are described in detail This enormous body of material is thoroughly indexed cross referenced and in most cases annotated Now at last the activities of this remarkable man both a poet and a cultural phenomenon can be seen in their full breadth and complexity
