Irish Childhoods Pádraic Whyte, 2011-05-25 While much has been written about Irish culture's apparent obsession with the past and with representing childhood few critics have explored in detail the position of children's fiction within such discourses This book serves to redress these imbalances illuminating both the manner in which children's texts engage with complex cultural discourses in contemporary Ireland and the significant contribution that children's novels and films can make to broader debates concerning Irish identity at the end of the twentieth and beginning of the twenty first centuries Through close analysis of specific books and films published or produced since 1990 Irish Childhoods offers an insight into contrasting approaches to the representation of Irish history and childhood in recent children's fiction Each chapter interrogates the unique manner in which an author or filmmaker engages with twentieth century Irish history from a contemporary perspective and reveals that constructions of childhood in Irish children's fiction are often used to explore aspects of Ireland's past and present Encyclopedia of Film Themes, Settings and Series Richard B. Shumway, 2012-03-15 John Sayles is the very paradigm of the contemporary independent filmmaker By raising much of the funding for his films himself Sayles functions more independently than most directors and he has used his freedom to write and produce films with a distinctive personal style and often clearly expressed political positions From The Return of the Secaucus Seven to Sunshine State his films have consistently expressed progressive political positions on issues including race gender sexuality class and disability In this study David R Shumway examines the defining characteristic of Sayles's cinema its realism. Positing the filmmaker as a critical realist, Shumway explores Sayles's attention to narrative in critically acclaimed and popular films such as Matewan, Eight Men Out, Passion Fish, and Lone Star. The study also details the conditions under which Sayles's films have been produced, distributed, and exhibited, affecting the way in which these films have been understood and appreciated. In the process, Shumway presents Sayles as a teacher who tells historically accurate stories that invite audiences to consider the human world they all inhabit.

The Cinema of John Sayles Mark Bould, 2009. Through discussion of films such as Return of the Secaucus 7, The Brother from Another Planet, Matewan, and Sunshine State, this study uncovers themes of racial and sexual otherness, capitalist excess, and the erosion of community in the work of John Sayles.
