

Dear Mother Nature,

I'm trying to tell you that I'm on my hands and knees, saying "stop the snow!" I'm wondering why you are continuing to give us more and more snow!

I hate cutting the grass, but now, I would be in heaven if you got rid of the snow. If I cut the grass we could play soccer or badminton. If we play and have fun, you won't see kids becoming grumpy, or frustrated.

I, for one, love dirt biking and horseback riding, but if there's snow, I'm not able to practice or compete. I love making a dirt bike track to practice on, but I can't with snow or I'll get stuck! I can't get to my horses and take good care of them if there's too much snow!

It's April 4th, seriously, give me a break!! Last year we lost all of our snow on the 1st week of March! Also, the year before!

I hope that you read this letter and take it into consideration. Then we all can have a awesome year of fun!!

Sincerely,
Connor F.

Love Letters and the Romantic Novel during the Napoleonic Wars Sharon Worley, 2017-01-06

Love letters during the Napoleonic wars were largely framed by concepts of love which were promoted through novels and philosophy The standard texts so to speak which were written by major authors who inherited this Enlightenment bearing responded to the emerging concepts of love found in novels and philosophical essays Love among this Napoleonic coterie is unique because it demonstrates the reciprocal relationship between the love letter and the romantic novel Germaine de Staël Juliette Rcamier Chateaubriand Benjamin Constant Lady Emma Hamilton Napoleon Bonaparte and his brother Lucien Bonaparte were the authors and recipients of some of the most passionate love letters of this period They were also avid readers of the newly emerging genre of the romantic novel and many of them were also authors of such works where they projected their personal romances onto the characterization of their fictional heroes and heroines In addition these authors had lived through the recent French Revolution and the Terror Imprisoned during the Revolution or branded as emigrants upon their return to Paris their mature adult lives were spent in the shadows of the Napoleonic wars in which they shifted political loyalties as the specter of Napoleon's powers grew from First Consul to Emperor of Europe The looming threat of war ignited the depths of their passions and inspired their intellectual analysis of love happiness and suicide Their evolving concept of love was a romantic all consuming passion which gripped the lovers in fatal embraces This book's analysis of their love letters and romantic novels reveals the emerging political landscape of the period through extended metaphors of love and patriotism     The Love Letters of a Husband James Milne,1928     Love Letters of a Musician Myrtle Reed,1899
