Jonathan H. Turner, 2006-05-17 Sociology is experiencing what can only be described as hyperdifferentiation of theories there are now many approaches competing for attention in the intellectual arena From this perspective we should see a weeding out of theories to a small number but this is not likely to occur because each of the many theoretical perspectives has a resource base of adherents As a result theories in sociology do not compete head on with each other as much as they coexist This seminal reference work was brought together with an eye to capturing the diversity of theoretical activity in sociology specifically the forefront of theory Contributors describe what they themselves are doing right now rather than what others have done in the past The goal of this volume is to allow prominent theorists working in a variety of traditions who wouldn't usually come together to review their work The chapters in this volume represent a mix of theoretical orientations and strategies but these theories are diverse and represent the prominent theoretical discussions in sociology today Some areas included are Section I Theoretical Methodologies and Strategies Section II The Cultural Turn in Sociological Theorizing Section III Theorizing Interaction Processes Section IV Theorizing from the Systemic and Macrolevel Section V New Directions in Evolutionary Theorizing Section VI Theorizing on Power Conflict and Change Section VII Theorizing from Assumptions of Rationality This handbook will be of interest to those wanting a broad spectrum and overview of late 20th early 21st century sociological theory Sociology for B.A. Students Semester I: Fundamental

Callender, 2016-11-16 This work sets forth the argument that in the age of neoliberal globalization black people around the world are ever so slowly becoming African Americanized They are integrated and embourgeoised in the racial class dialectic of black America by the material and ideological influences of the Protestant ethic and the spirit of capitalism as promulgated throughout the diaspora by two social class language games of the black American community the black underclass Hip Hop culture speaking for and representing black youth practical consciousness and black American charismatic liberal conservative bourgeois Protestant preachers like TD Jakes Creflo Dollar etc speaking for and representing the black bourgeois educated professional and working classes Although on the surface the practical consciousness and language of the two social class language games appear to diametrically oppose one another the authors argue given the two groups material wealth within the Protestant ethic and the spirit of capitalism of corporate neoliberal America they do not Both groups have the same underlying practical consciousness subjects agents of the Protestant Ethic and the spirit of capitalism The divergences where they exist are due to their interpellation embourgeoisement and differentiation via different ideological apparatuses of the society church and education i e schools for the latter and prisons the streets and athletic and entertainment industries for the former Contemporarily in the age of globalization and neoliberalism both groups have become the bearers of ideological and linguistic domination in black neoliberal America and are antagonistically converging the practical consciousness of the black or African diaspora towards their respective social class language games We are suggesting that the socialization of other black people in the diaspora ought to be examined against and within the dialectical backdrop of this class power dynamic and the cultural and religious heritages of the black American people responsible for this phenomenon or process of convergence we are referring to as the African Americanization of the black diaspora
