Madame Tubaud In England:

Madame Tussaud Pamela Pilbeam, 2006-08-10 Tussaud's catered for the public's fascination with monarchy whether Henry VIII and his wives or Queen Victoria as well as for their love of history acting as an accessible and enjoyable museum This work looks at Madame Tussaud herself and her exhibition as part of the wider history of wax modelling and of popular entertainment

The Human Tradition in Modern France K. Steven Vincent, Alison Clairmont-Lingo, 2000-10-01 The Human Tradition in Modern France gives a human perspective of the history of France from 1789 to the present revealed in essays that highlight individuals and intriguing events that too often have been lost under labels and statistics Students will gain an understanding of the humor and passion in French history from these new original essays by well established scholars This collection also relates the individuals events and controversies to current historiographical debates The Human Tradition in Modern France is an excellent supplementary text for courses on French history and is also useful for courses in world history and Western Civilization

Fair and Unfair Trials in the British Isles, 1800-1940 David Nash, Anne-Marie Kilday, 2020-11-12 Adopting a microhistory approach Fair and Unfair Trials in the British Isles 1800 1940 provides an in depth examination of the evolution of the modern justice system Drawing upon criminal cases and trials from England Scotland and Ireland the book examines the errors procedural systems and the ways in which adverse influences of social and cultural forces impacted upon individual instances of justice The book investigates several case studies of both justice and injustice which prompted the development of forensic toxicology the implementation of state propaganda and an increased interest in press sensationalism One such case study considers the trial of William Sheen who was prosecuted and later acquitted of the murder of his infant child at the Old Bailey in 1827 an extraordinary miscarriage of justice that prompted outrage amongst the general public Other case studies include trials for treason theft obscenity and blasphemy Nash and Kilday root each of these cases within their relevant historical cultural and political contexts highlighting changing attitudes to popular culture public criticism protest and activism as significant factors in the transformation of the criminal trial and the British judicial system as a whole Drawing upon a wealth of primary sources including legal records newspaper articles and photographs this book provides a unique insight into the evolution of modern criminal justice in Britain

England During the Last Four Months of the War William Crowell Edgar, 1919

The French in London Isabelle Janvrin, Catherine Rawlinson, 2016-07-24 Ever since 1066 there has been a substantial French presence in London It is now said to be the sixth most populous French city and this book illustrates explains and exposes how this came about over more than a 1000 years Full of individual stories and overlooked details covering a common history from William the Conqueror to Charles de Gaulle

Picture World Rachel Teukolsky, 2020 Explores the ways in which new forms of visual culture such as the illustrated newspaper the cheap caricature cartoon the affordable illustrated book the portrait photograph and the advertising poster worked to shape key Victorian aesthetic concepts

Pantheons Matthew Craske, 2017-07-05 The institution of the pantheon has come a long way from its classical origins Invented to describe a temple dedicated to many deities the term later became so far removed from its original meaning that by the twentieth century it has been able to exist independently of any architectural and sculptural monument This collection of essays is the first to trace the transformation of the monumental idea of the pantheon from its origins in Greek and Roman antiquity to its later appearance as a means of commemorating and enshrining the ideals of national identity and statehood Illuminating the emergence of the pantheon in a range of different cultures and periods by exploring its different manifestations and implementations the essays open new historical perspectives on the formation of national and civic identities Our Little English Cousin Blanche

Capital Punishment in Twentieth-Century Britain

Lizzie Seal,2014-03-05 Capital punishment for murder was abolished in Britain in 1965 At this time the way people in Britain perceived and understood the death penalty had changed it was an issue that had become increasingly controversial high profile and fraught with emotion In order to understand why this was it is necessary to examine how ordinary people learned about and experienced capital punishment Drawing on primary research this book explores the cultural life of the death penalty in Britain in the twentieth century including an exploration of the role of the popular press and a discussion of portrayals of the death penalty in plays novels and films Popular protest against capital punishment and public responses to and understandings of capital cases are also discussed particularly in relation to conceptualisations of justice Miscarriages of justice were significant to capital punishment s increasingly fraught nature in the mid twentieth century and the book analyses the unsettling power of two such high profile miscarriages of justice The final chapters consider the continuing relevance of capital punishment in Britain after abolition including its symbolism and how people negotiate memories of the death penalty Capital Punishment in Twentieth Century Britain is groundbreaking in its attention to the death penalty and the effect it had on everyday life and it is the only text on this era to place public and popular discourses about and reactions to capital punishment at the centre of the analysis Interdisciplinary in focus and methodology it will appeal to historians criminologists sociologists and socio legal scholars

Women and the Material Culture of Death BethFowkes

Tobin,2017-07-05 Examining the compelling and often poignant connection between women and the material culture of death this collection focuses on the objects women make the images they keep the practices they use or are responsible for and the places they inhabit and construct through ritual and custom Women s material practices ranging from wearing mourning jewelry to dressing the dead stitching memorial samplers to constructing skull boxes collecting funeral programs to collecting and studying diseased hearts making and collecting taxidermies and making sculptures honoring the death are explored in this collection as well as women s affective responses and sentimental labor that mark their expected and unexpected participation in the social practices surrounding death and the dead The largely invisible work involved in commemorating and constructing narratives and memorials about the dead from family members and friends to national figures calls attention to the role women as memory keepers for families local communities and the nation Women have tended to work collaboratively making collecting and sharing objects that conveyed sentiments about the deceased whether human or animal as well as the identity of mourners Death is about loss and many of the mourning practices that women have traditionally and are currently engaged in are about dealing with private grief and public loss as well as working to mitigate the more general anxiety that death engenders about the impermanence of life

The Emergence of Modern

Marketing R.A. Church, Andrew Godley, 2004-08-02 Modern marketing and advertising deeply influence the way we in which perceive the world and define our identity Yet many of today s marketing and advertising practices are themselves products of earlier times The development of brands of advertising techniques and modern retailing are all associated with economic and business development of earlier periods This collection of essays considers the emergence of modern marketing by examining product differentiation and brand creation distribution and retailing strategies as well as advertising in a range of case studies covering the United States Continental Europe and the United Kingdom It highlights important innovations in marketing whilst underlining some surprising continuities and is a valuable reference for undergraduate and postgraduate students of marketing and advertising
