Economic Relations Between Britain and Australia from the 1940s-196 J. Singleton, Paul Robertson, 2001-12-14 In the early postwar era Britain enjoyed a very close economic relationship with Australia and New Zealand through their common membership of the Sterling Area and the Commonwealth Preference Area This book examines the breakdown of this relationship in the 1950 and 1960s Britain and Australasia were driven apart by disputes over industrial protection agriculture capital supplies and relations with other countries Special emphasis is given to the implications for Australia and New Zealand of Britain's growing interest in European integration

The State in New Zealand, 1840-1984 Michael Bassett, 1998 In this study historian and former politician Michael Bassett explores how and why the state became such an active and interventionist player in New Zealand life developing subsidizing and regulating the economy and increasingly protecting citizens from the cradle to the grave It looks in detail at the many schemes in which a paternalistic government became involved especially the extensive social programmes taken for granted by the people but from the 1960s increasingly difficult to sustain economically Bassett makes heavy use of departmental archives and concludes that the continuing process of intervention had to be halted

New Zealand Brad Patterson, Kathryn Patterson, 1998 For many years New Zealand was stereotyped as a sleepy hollow of the South Pacific but more recently it has had an influence in international affairs which belies its size Noted more for its conservatism and stability its green fields and sheep than for its innovation and radicalism this most geographically isolated of English speaking countries took pride in its role as a provider of agricultural produce for Europe

Capitalist Networks and Social Power in Australia and New Zealand Georgina Murray, 2017-09-29 It is often asserted that the ruling elite in Western capitalist economies now consists of liberal intellectuals and their media sympathisers By contrast this book looks at the real elite in Australian and New Zealand society and shows that there is still a ruling class based upon economic dominance From an analysis of corporate and public records interviews and other primary and secondary data it develops a picture of networks of power that are changing but are as real as any network in the past
