The Drive-In Guy Barefoot,2023-11-16 The Drive In meaningfully contributes to the complex picture of outdoor cinema that has been central to American culture and to a history of US cinema based on diverse viewing experiences rather than a select number of films Drive in cinemas flourished in 1950s America in some summer weeks to the extent that there were more cinemagoers outdoors than indoors Often associated with teenagers interested in the drive in as a passion pit or a venue for exploitation films accounts of the 1950s American drive in tend to emphasise their popularity with families with young children downplaying the importance of a film programme apparently limited to old low budget or independent films and characterising drive in operators as industry outsiders They retain a hold on the popular imagination The Drive In identifies the mix of generations in the drive in audience as well as accounts that articulate individual experiences from the drive in as a dating venue to a segregated space Through detailed analysis of the film industry trade press local newspapers and a range of other primary sources including archival records on cinemas and cinema circuits in Arkansas California New York State and Texas this book examines how drive ins were integrated into local communities and the film industry and reveals the importance and range of drive in programmes that were often close to that of their indoor neighbours

Hollywood v. Hard Core Jon Lewis, 2002-09-01. A tale of censorship and regulation at the heart of the modern film industry. In 1972 The Godfather and Deep Throat were the two most popular films in the country. One a major Hollywood studio production, the other an independently made skin flick. At that moment, Jon Lewis asserts, the fate of the American film industry hung in the balance. Spanning the 20th century, Hollywood v. Hard Core weaves a gripping tale of censorship and regulation. Since the industry's infancy, film producers and distributors have publicly regarded ratings codes as a necessary evil. Hollywood regulates itself; we have been told to prevent the government from doing it for them. But Lewis argues that the studios self-regulate because they are convinced it is good for business and that censorship codes and regulations are a crucial part of what binds the various competing agencies in the film business together. Yet between 1968 and 1973, Hollywood films were faltering at the box office and the major studios were in deep trouble. Hollywood's principal competition came from a body of independently produced and distributed films from foreign art house film. Last Tango in Paris to hard core pornography like Behind the Green Door that were at once disreputable and for a moment at least irresistible even chic. In response, Hollywood imposed the industry-wide MPAA film rating system, the origins of the G, PG and R designations we have today that pushed sexually explicit films outside the mainstream and a series of Supreme Court decisions all but outlawed the theatrical exhibition of hard core pornographic films. Together, these events allowed Hollywood to consolidate its iron grip over what films got made and where they were shown, thus saving it from financial ruin.

Soho on Screen Jingan Young, 2022-05-13. Despite Soho's rich cultural history, there remains an absence of work on the depiction of the popular neighbourhood in film. Soho on Screen provides one of the first studies of Soho within post-war British cinema. Drawing upon historical, cultural and urban studies of the area, this book explores twelve films and theatrically released documentaries from a filmography of over one hundred Soho set productions. While predominantly focusing on low budget exploitation films which are exemplars of British and international filmmaking, Young also offers new readings of star and director biographies from Laurence Harvey to Emeric Pressburger and in so doing enlivens discussion on filmmaking in a

Leonard Maltin's Movie and Video Guide ,2000 Bowker's Complete Video Directory 1996 R R Bowker Publishing,1996 Showman of the Screen A. T. McKenna,2016-11-01 Short immaculately dressed and shockingly foul mouthed Joseph E Levine 1905 1987 was larger than life He rose from poverty in Boston s West End to become one of postwar Hollywood's most prolific independent promoters, distributors, and producers. Alternately respected and reviled, this master of movie promotion was responsible for bringing films as varied as Godzilla (1956), Hercules (1958), The Graduate (1967), The Lion in Winter (1968), and A Bridge Too Far (1977) to American audiences. In the first biography of this controversial pioneer, A. T. McKenna traces Levine's rise as an influential packager of popular culture. He explores the mogul's pivotal role in many significant industry innovations from the 1950s to the 1970s, examining his use of saturation release tactics and bombastic advertising campaigns. Levine was also a trailblazer in promoting European art house cinema in the 1960s. He made Federico Fellini's 8 1/2 (1963) a hit in America, feuded with Jean-Luc Godard over their production of Contempt (1963), and campaigned aggressively for Sophia Loren to become the first actress to win an Oscar for a foreign language performance for her role in Two Women (1960). Despite his significant accomplishments and prominent role in shaping film distribution and promotion in the post-studio era, Levine is largely overlooked today. McKenna's in-depth biography corrects misunderstandings and misinformation about this colorful figure and offers a sober assessment of his contributions to world cinema. It also illuminates Levine's peculiar talent for movie and self-promotion as well as his extraordinary career in the motion picture business.

Outlaws, Rebels, & Vixens: Motion Picture Censorship in Milwaukee, 1914-1971

Matthew J. Prigge, 2016. For nearly 60 years, the Milwaukee Motion Picture Commission (MMPC) had the last word on what was suitable for exhibition at local movie theaters. Born of the high ideals of the Progressive Era, the MMPC evolved into one of the nation's strictest censor boards and kept hundreds of scenes and films from playing in Milwaukee that ran elsewhere with little to no interference. From the bawdy antics of silent era comedians to the unabashed sexuality of the 1960s, the MMPC saw itself as a defender of Milwaukee's morality throughout a half-century of great change and tumult. As the first ever book-length examination of a local film censor board, Outlaws, Rebels, & Vixens tells the long forgotten story of the battle for Milwaukee's cinematic soul. Includes a full index of all films either censored or banned by the MMPC.
