Empire of Vines Erica Hannickel, 2013-10-09 The lush sun drenched vineyards of California evoke a romantic agrarian image of winemaking though in reality the industry reflects American agribusiness at its most successful Nonetheless as author Erica Hannickel shows this fantasy is deeply rooted in the history of grape cultivation in America Empire of Vines traces the development of wine culture as grape growing expanded from New York to the Midwest before gaining ascendancy in California a progression that illustrates viticulture's centrality to the nineteenth century American projects of national expansion and the formation of a national culture Empire of Vines details the ways would be gentleman farmers ambitious speculators horticulturalists and writers of all kinds deployed the animating myths of American wine culture including the classical myth of Bacchus the cult of terroir and the fantasy of pastoral republicanism Promoted by figures as varied as horticulturalist Andrew Jackson Downing novelist Charles Chesnutt railroad baron Leland Stanford and Cincinnati land speculator Nicholas Longworth known as the father of American wine these myths naturalized claims to land for grape cultivation and legitimated national expansion Vineyards were simultaneously lush and controlled bearing fruit at once culturally refined and naturally robust laying claim to both earthy authenticity and social pedigree The history of wine culture thus reveals nineteenth century Americans fascination with the relationship between nature and culture
