Money Makes Us Relatives Womens Labor In Urban Turkey:

Money Makes Us Relatives Jenny B. White, 2004-08-02 Money Makes Us Relatives shows how women's work in Turkey is viewed as a poorly paid extension of domestic family labor opening up key debates about women's roles in late global capitalism

Money Makes Us Relatives Jenny Barbara White, 1994 Case studies of individual workers and workshop managers add a fascinating human dimension to the book White reveals how women's participation in production networks offers the benefits of a social identity and long term security thus making ambiguous the standard formulations about exploited workers These findings urge a reformulation of traditional theories of petty commodity production and gift exchange to account for the roles played by kinship and gender This study will be of interest to a wide interdisciplinary audience in economic anthropology women's studies development and labor migration and Turkish and Middle Eastern studies

Money Makes Us Relatives Jenny B. White, 2004-08-01 Women Workers in Turkey Saniye Dedeoglu, 2007-10-24 Globalisation is often considered as not only generating jobs but also having a negative effect on those at the bottom of the labour supply chain Here Saniye Dedeoglu shows us exactly how globalisation has affected women engaged in insecure invisible and low unpaid garment work Through a close ethnographic study of women workers in Istanbul's garment industry she reveals how industries have adapted their labour demands to make use of local female labour supplies and highlights the strategies and responses that have evolved in response to contemporary changes in global industrial production in Turkey Dedeoglu shows how production for global markets has seeped into local labour markets contributing to a culture of work which is informal and whose participants are often invisible Women Workers in Turkey throws up the critical question of what it means to be a woman in today's globalised society and is an important contribution to the various perspectives on the social and economic consequences of globalization to the least privileged in industrial societies

Women in the Ottoman Empire Suraiya Faruqi, 2023-01-26 It is an often ignored but fundamental fact that in the Ottoman world as in most empires there were first class and second class subjects Among the townspeople peasants and nomads subject to the sultans who might be Muslims or non Muslims adult Muslim males were first class subjects and all others including Muslim boys and women were of the second class As for the female members of the elite while less privileged than the males in some respects their life chances might be better than those of ordinary women Even so they shared the risks of pregnancy childbirth and epidemic diseases with townswomen of the subject class and to a certain extent with village women as well Thus the study of Ottoman women is indispensable for understanding Ottoman society in general In this book the agency of women from a diverse range of class religious ethnic and geographic backgrounds is for the first time woven into the social and political history of the Ottoman Empire from the early modern period to its dissolution in 1918 Suraiya Faruqi charts the history of elite and non elite women in thematic chapters concentrating on urban women family life work slavery education and survival in times of war In the process the book introduces readers to the key sources primary and secondary necessary to reconstruct and understand the ways that females navigated social legal and economic constraints through the central prisms of family relations work and charity The first introductory social history of women in the Ottoman Empire and including a timeline and extended further reading section this book will be essential reading for scholars and students of Ottoman history and the history of women in the Middle East Family Beyond Family James P. Ito-Adler,Parker Shipton,2024-12-01 Arguably all humans invent or accept forms of family beyond those that are close biological kin These fictive forms of kinship may vary across diverse cultures and serve different purposes This book explores a wide variety of such kinship forming from expedient daylong pseudo marriages to notions of deities as everlasting parents for humankind and life on earth These range from the purely abstract to the bricks and mortar of college fraternities and sororities Family Beyond Family observes and examines the principles and purposes of such fabricated connections

Everyday Life in the Muslim Middle East, Third Edition Donna Lee Bowen,Evelyn A. Early,Becky Schulthies,2014-11-17 The substantially revised and updated third edition of Everyday Life in the Muslim Middle East focuses on the experiences of ordinary men women and children from the region Readers will gain a grassroots appreciation of Middle East life culture and society that recognizes the impact of wars and uprisings as well as changes to Islamic practice due to advances in technology The book also explores the influence of social media on politics and labor relations and the changing status of women family values marriage childrearing gender and gay rights This dynamic and imaginative volume continues to provide a rich resource for understanding contemporary Muslim culture in the Middle East The Everyday Violence of Forced Displacement Miriam Geerse,2023-10-16 The Everyday Violence of Forced Displacement Memory Community and Identity Politics among Internally Displaced Kurds in Turkey is based on ethnographic research in four Istanbul neighborhoods in the early 2000s and after Miriam Geerse focuses on individuals and families that tried to sustain meaningful lives in an urban context marked by political and structural violence Geerse argues that forces other than war and forced displacement instilled in many forced migrants a pressing need and desire to keep hammering home the price and pain of displacement Much of this book then bears witness to the formation of an oppositional consciousness Geerse s analysis of the mobilization of social capital in times of illness and social conflict offers an understanding of how a dispersed community of people who share the same stories function in an inhospitable urban environment In laying bare the interconnections between experiences before during and after forced displacement and by focusing on people s narratives and their experiences Geerse provides insight to activists striving to improve the position of Kurds to academics studying the impact of forced migration and other forms of political violence on civilians and to all those who argue for a more balanced view of the recent history of Turkey Police, Provocation, Politics Deniz Yonucu,2022-03-15 In Police Provocation Politics Deniz Yonucu presents a counterintuitive analysis of contemporary policing practices focusing particular attention on the incitement of counterviolence perpetual conflict and ethnosectarian discord by the state security apparatus Situating Turkish policing within a global context and combining archival work and oral history narratives with ethnographic research Yonucu demonstrates how counterinsurgency strategies from the Cold War and decolonial eras continue to inform contemporary urban policing in Istanbul Shedding light on counterinsurgency's affect and emotion generating divisive techniques and urban dimensions Yonucu shows how counterinsurgent policing strategies work to intervene in the organization of political dissent in a way that both counters existing alignments among dissident populations and prevents emergent ones Yonucu suggests that in the places where racialized and dissident populations live provocations of counterviolence and conflict by state security agents as well as their containment of both cannot be considered disruptions of social order Instead they can only be conceptualized as forms of governance and policing designed to manage actual or potential rebellious populations

Politics and Kinship Erdmute Alber, Tatjana Thelen, 2021-12-15 Politics and Kinship A Reader offers a unique overview of the entanglement of these two categories in both theoretical debates and everyday practices The two despite many challenges are often thought to have become separated during the process of modernisation Tracing how this notion of separation becomes idealised and translated into various contexts this book sheds light on its epistemological limitations Combining otherwise distinct lines of discussion within political anthropology and kinship studies the selection of texts covers a broad range of intersecting topics that range from military strategy DNA testing and child fostering to practices of kinning the state Beginning with the study of politics the first part of this volume looks at how its separation from kinship came to be considered a modern phenomenon with significant consequences The second part starts from kinship showing how it was made into a separate and apolitical field an idea that would soon travel and be translated globally into policies The third part turns to reproductions through various transmissions and future making projects Overall the volume offers a fundamental critique of the epistemological separation of politics and kinship and its shortcomings for teaching and research Featuring contributions from a broad range of regional temporal and theoretical backgrounds it allows for critical engagement with knowledge production about the entanglement of politics and kinship The different traditions and contemporary approaches represented make this book an essential resource for researchers instructors and students of anthropology

Istanbul Çağlar Keyder, 1999 This groundbreaking volume investigates the processes of globalization in one of the oldest and grandest of world cities Istanbul usually is identified as a battleground between East and West Islam and secularism Yet the authors argue that beyond these clichés lies a complex reality as Istanbulites simultaneously try to accommodate understand challenge and shape the sweeping transformations that globalization has brought to their city Explaining the course of the conflicts and the compromises involved in maintaining a precarious urbanity this theoretically informed volume focuses on fields of struggle ranging from politics to heritage humor to music public space to housing

Bureaucratic Intimacies Elif M. Babül, 2017-10-03 Human rights are politically fraught in Turkey provoking suspicion and scrutiny among government workers for their anti establishment left wing connotations Nevertheless with eyes worldwide trained on Turkish politics and with accession to the European Union underway Turkey's human rights record remains a key indicator of its governmental legitimacy Bureaucratic Intimacies shows how government workers encounter human rights rhetoric through training programs and articulates the perils and promises of these encounters for the subjects and objects of Turkish governance Drawing on years of participant observation in programs for police officers judges and prosecutors healthcare workers and prison personnel Elif M Bab l argues that the accession process does not always advance human rights In casting rights as requirements for expertise and professionalism training programs strip human rights of their radical valences disassociating them from their political meanings within grassroots movements Translation of human rights into a tool of good governance leads to competing understandings of what human rights should do not necessarily to liberal transparent and accountable governmental practices And even as translation renders human rights relevant for the everyday practices of government workers it ultimately comes at a cost to the politics of human rights in Turkey

Turkey's Engagement with Modernity C. Kerslake, K. Öktem, P. Robins, 2010-02-25 Turkey's Engagement with Modernity explores how the country has been shaped in the image of the Kemalist project of nationalist modernity and how it has transformed if erratically into a democratic society where tensions between religion state and society continue unabated

Gender and Economics in Muslim Communities Ebru Kongar, Jennifer C. Olmsted, Elora Shehabuddin, 2017-08-25 Bringing together feminist analyses of economic processes and outcomes with feminist critiques of Orientalism this book examines the diverse economic realities facing women in a range of Muslim communities This approach pays special attention to the role of Islam in economic analyses of gender equality and women's well being in Muslim communities while at the same time challenging biased and inaccurate accounts that essentialize Islam Nuanced case studies conducted in Bangladesh Iran Israel Nigeria and Turkey illustrate the historical and institutional diversity of Muslim communities and draw vivid pictures of the everyday economic lives of Muslim women in these communities These studies are complemented by quantitative analyses that extend beyond inserting Islam as a dummy variable The contributions represent a wide range of disciplines including anthropology economics gender studies political science psychology and sociology By placing critiques of Orientalist scholarship in direct dialogue with scholarship on economic development in Muslim contexts this diverse collection illustrates how different methods and frameworks can work together to provide a better understanding of gender equality and women's well being in Muslim contexts In doing so the authors aim to facilitate conversations among feminist scholars across disciplines in order to provide a more nuanced picture of the situation facing women in Muslim communities This book was originally published as a special issue of Feminist Economics
