Monocultures Of The Mind Perspectives On Biodiversity And Biotechnology:

Monocultures of the Mind Vandana Shiva, 1993-02 Vandana Shiva has established herself as a leading independent thinker and voice for the South in that critically important nexus where questions of development strategy the environment and the position of women in society coincide In this new volume she brings together her thinking on the protection of biodiversity the implications of biotechnology and the consequences for agriculture of the global pre eminence of Western style scientific knowledge In lucid and accessible fashion she examines the current threats to the planet s biodiversity and the environmental and human consequences of its erosion and replacement by monocultural production She shows how the new Biodiversity Convention has been gravely undermined by a mixture of diplomatic dilution during the process of negotiation and Northern hi tech interests making money out of the new biotechnologies She explains what these technologies involve and gives examples of their impact in practice She questions their claims to improving natural species for the good of all and highlights the ethical and environmental problems posed Underlying her arguments is the view that the North s particular approach to scientific understanding has led to a system of monoculture in agriculture a model that is not being foisted on the South displacing its societies ecologically sounder indigenous and age old experiences of truly sustainable food cultivation forest management and animal husbandry This rapidly accelerating process of technology and system transfer is impoverishing huge numbers of people disrupting the social systems that provide them with security and dignity and will ultimately result in a sterile planet in both North and South In a policy intervention of potentially great significance she calls instead for a halt at international as well as local level to the aid and market incentives to both large scale destruction of habitats where biodiversity thrives and the introduction of centralised homogenous systems of cultivation

Monocultures of the Mind Vandana Shiva, 1993 Monocultures of the mind Biodiversity a third perspective Biodiversity and the environment The seed and spinning wheel technology development and biodiversity conservation The biodiversity convention an evaluation from the third world perspective Monocultures of the Mind Vandana Shiva, 1993 People, Plants, and Justice Charles Zerner, 2000 In an era of market triumphalism this book probes the social and environmental consequences of market linked nature conservation schemes Rather than supporting a new anti market orthodoxy Charles Zerner and colleagues assert that there is no universal entity the market Analysis and remedies must be based on broader considerations of history culture and geography in order to establish meaningful and lasting changes in policy and practice Original case studies from Asia Latin America Africa and the South Pacific focus on topics as diverse as ecotourism bioprospecting oil extraction cyanide fishing timber extraction and property rights The cases position concerns about biodiversity conservation and resource management within social justice and legal perspectives providing new insights for students scholars policy professionals and donor foundations engaged in international conservation and social justice

Heirloom Seeds and Their Keepers Virginia D. Nazarea, 2014-11-21 Through characters and stories that offer a wealth of insights about human nature and society Heirloom Seeds and Their Keepers helps readers more fully understand why biodiversity persists when there are so many pressures for it not to. The key Nazarea explains is in the sovereign spaces seedsavers inhabit and create where memories counter a culture of forgetting and abandonment engendered by modernity. A book about theory as much as practice it profiles these individuals who march to their own beat in a world where diversity is increasingly devalued as the predictability of mass production becomes the norm.

Environmental Management for Sustainable Development Chris Barrow, 2006-09-27 Environmental management is a wide expanding and rapidly evolving field affecting everyone from individual citizens to businesses governments to international agencies. Indisputably it plays a crucial role in the quest for sustainable development. This comprehensively updated second edition explores the nature and role of environmental management covering key principles practices tools strategies and policies offers a thorough yet understandable introduction and points to further in depth coverage. Among the key themes covered are sustainable development proactive approaches the precautionary principle the polluter pays principle the need for humans to be less vulnerable and more adaptable. Reflecting the expansion and evolution of the field this revised edition focuses strongly on sustainable development. There has been extensive restructuring to ensure the book is accessible to those unfamiliar with environmental management and it now includes greater coverage of topics including key resources under stress environmental management tools climate change and urban environmental management. With rapid expansion and development of the subject it is easy for those embarking on a course of study to become disorientated but with its well structured coverage effective illustrations and foundation for further more focused interest this book is easily accessible to all.

McIntyre-Mills, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2021-08-05 This book explores the concept of multi species relationships and suggests critical systemic pathways to protect shared habitats This book discusses how the eradication of species as a result of rapid urbanisation places humanity at risk This book demonstrates how narrow anthropocentrism has focused on the rights of human beings at the expense of other species and the environment This book explores a priori norms and a posteriori measures and indicators to include and protect multiple species This book aims to strengthen institutional capacity and powers to address and extend the UN 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda by drawing on local wisdom but also the need to implement laws to prevent ecocide This book highlights that our fragile interdependence requires a recognition of our hybridity and interconnectedness within the web of life and suggests ways to reframe policy within and beyond the nation state to support living systems of which we are a strand From Field to Fork Paul B. Thompson, 2015 Paul B Thompson covers diet and health issues livestock welfare world hunger food justice environmental ethics Green Revolution technology and GMOs in this concise but comprehensive study He shows how food can be a nexus for integrating larger social issues in social inequality scientific reductionism and the eclipse of morality The Global Food Economy Tony Weis, 2008-12-08 The Global Food Economy examines the human and ecological cost of what we eat The current food economy is characterized by immense contradictions Surplus food mountains bountiful supermarkets and rising levels of obesity stand in stark contrast to widespread hunger and malnutrition Transnational companies dominate the market in food and benefit from subsidies whilst farmers in developing countries remain impoverished Food miles mounting toxicity and the ecological hoofprint of livestock mean that the global food economy rests on increasingly shaky environmental foundations This book looks at how such a system came about and how it is being enforced by the WTO Ultimately Weis considers how we can find a way of building socially just ecologically rational and humane food economies

Food Utopias Paul V. Stock, Michael

Carolan, Christopher Rosin, 2015-01-09 Food is a contentious and emotive issue subject to critiques from multiple perspectives Alternative food movements including the different articulations of local food miles seasonality food justice food knowledge and food sovereignty consistently invoke themes around autonomy sufficiency cooperation mutual aid freedom and responsibility In this stimulating and provocative book the authors link these issues to utopias and intentional communities Using a food utopias framework presented in the introduction they examine food stories in three interrelated and complementary ways utopias as critique of existing systems utopias as engagement with experimentation of the novel the forgotten and the hopeful in the future of the food system and utopias as process that recognizes the time and difficulty inherent in changing the status quo The chapters address theoretical aspects of food utopias and also present case studies from a range of contexts and regions including Argentina Italy Switzerland and USA These focus on key issues in contemporary food studies including equity locality the sacred citizenship community and food sovereignty Food utopias offers ways forward to imagine a creative and convivial food system

The Color of Creatorship Anjali Vats, 2020-09-29 The Color of Creatorship examines how copyright trademark and patent discourses work together to form American ideals around race citizenship and property Working through key moments in intellectual property history since 1790 Anjali Vats reveals that even as they have seemingly evolved American understandings of who is a creator and who is an infringer have remained remarkably racially conservative and consistent over time Vats examines archival legal political and popular culture texts to demonstrate how intellectual properties developed alongside definitions of the good citizen bad citizen and intellectual labor in racialized ways Offering readers a theory of critical race intellectual property Vats historicizes the figure of the citizen creator the white male maker who was incorporated into the national ideology as a key contributor to the nation's moral and economic development She also traces the emergence of racial panics around infringement arguing that the post racial creator exists in opposition to the figure of the hyper racial infringer a national enemy who is the opposite of the hardworking innovative American creator The Color of Creatorship contributes to a rapidly developing conversation in critical race intellectual property Vats argues that once anti racist activists grapple with the underlying racial structures of intellectual property law they can better advocate for strategies that resist the underlying drivers of racially disparate copyright patent and trademark policy

Beyond Western Economics Trent Schroyer, 2009-05-08 This book combines intellectual history with contemporary events to offer a critique of mainstream economic thought and its neoliberal policy incarnation in global capitalism The critique operates both theoretically at the level of metaphysics and the philosophy of science and concretely in case studies of globalization and world events Trent Schroyer provides a moral and cultural interpretation of modernity and scientism highlighting their political and economic consequences but the book's main purpose is not to criticize The author moves beyond this to offer alternative economic cultures again combining abstract theoretical analysis with concrete case studies of alternative economic formations from local self sufficiency movements to cooperatives and other anti capitalist institutional experiments These case studies exhibit an impressive range of variation from first world to third world from reformist to utopian transformative Finally Schroyer links the project to the global justice movement that opposes corporate globalization and eventually links participatory economics and democratic politics to a new image of science as participatory social learning Science by the People Aya H. Kimura, Abby Kinchy, 2019-09-13

Longlisted for the Fleck Prize from the Society for Social Studies of Science 4S Citizen science research involving nonprofessionals in the research process has attracted both strong enthusiasts and detractors Many environmental professionals activists and scholars consider citizen science part of their toolkit for addressing environmental challenges Critics however contend that it represents a corporate takeover of scientific priorities In this timely book two sociologists move beyond this binary debate by analyzing the tensions and dilemmas that citizen science projects commonly face Key lessons are drawn from case studies where citizen scientists have investigated the impact of shale oil and gas nuclear power and genetically engineered crops These studies show that diverse citizen science projects face shared dilemmas relating to austerity pressures presumed boundaries between science and activism and difficulties moving between scales of environmental problems By unpacking the politics of citizen science this book aims to help people negotiate a complex political landscape and choose paths moving toward social change and environmental sustainability Nature, Tourism and Ethnicity as Drivers of (De)Marginalization Stanko Pelc, Miha Koderman, 2017-08-01 This book considers de marginalization attesting that marginal regions have the potential for de marginalization and are anchored in developmental terms on the following core themes nature tourism ethnicity and general factors including migration Adding to the discussion on marginality and sustainability this book contributes a number of case studies on a diverse selection of topics and regions in which these crucial issues connect It delivers a reflection of de marginalizing processes in today s globalized world where an increasing number of people groups societies and regions are marginalized and vulnerable not only from social and economic factors but also from natural causes such as natural hazards This book addresses the unsustainable practices in the past that have often generated difficult conditions for sustainable development in the future Marginal regions that have not been developed are given much needed consideration as they may now enjoy the benefits of having not been exploited in the past to their present day developmental advantage The overview offered by this book is significant in that marginal regions with relatively unspoiled and attractive natural and cultural landscapes have a great potential for sustainable tourism Contributions include the de marginalization of ethnic groups the role of education and migration in the process and different economic and political perspectives Considering the topics covered the book should be appreciated by all those involved in creation of social policies urban and regional planning coordinating economic with spatial and social development and by those studying in the fields where competencies for such activities are important part of the study program I Think

Therefore I Eat Martin Cohen, 2018-11-13 The worst thing about food science the elephant in the room is that it s not just the opinions that are changing but the facts themselves shift too Did you know that the great philosophers were the original foodies To eat or not to eat That s an easy question to answer But what to eat That s a deep and profoundly difficult one Doctors and nutritionists often disagree with each other while celebrities and scientists keep pitching us new recipes and special diets No one thought to ask the philosophers those rational souls devoted to truth ethics and reason what they think Until now

A History of the Literature of the U.S. South: Volume 1 Harilaos Stecopoulos, 2021-05-20 A History of the Literature of the U S South provides scholars with a dynamic and heterogeneous examination of southern writing from John Smith to Natasha Trethewey Eschewing a master narrative limited to predictable authors and titles the anthology adopts a variegated approach that emphasizes the cultural and political tensions crucial to the making of this regional literature Certain chapters focus on major white writers e g Thomas Jefferson William Faulkner the Agrarians Cormac McCarthy but a substantial portion of the work foregrounds the achievements of African American writers like Frederick Douglass Zora Neale Hurston and Sarah Wright to address the multiracial and transnational dimensions of this literary formation Theoretically informed and historically aware the volume s contributors collectively demonstrate how southern literature constitutes an aesthetic cultural and political field that richly repays examination from a variety of critical perspectives

The Law of Complex Earth and Outer Space Systems Elena Cirkovic, 2025-03-17 This book offers a paradigm shifting exploration of lawmaking for the complex interactions between Earth systems and outer space Drawing on complex systems science posthuman approaches and plural ontologies the author proposes a reimagining of law and governance for the cosmic age Through the cosmolegal perspective this study embraces the inherent uncertainties and complexities of Earth space interactions From Arctic methane craters to orbital debris the book weaves together scientific insights landscape architecture legal theory and doctrine to address pressing environmental challenges that span Earth and beyond While legal scholarship has increasingly engaged with Earth System Science it typically treats outer space as distinct from Earth s environment However Earth s existence and complex systems are fundamentally intertwined with and emerge from outer space This book argues that a legal framework for Earth s systems needs to include outer space At its core the book advocates for a complexification of law calling for greater epistemic humility in legal thought and practice Thoughtful and provocative this work invites readers to reconsider fundamental assumptions about law nature and agency beyond the human in an era of planetary change The cosmolegal approach aims to shift legal imagination and understanding positioning human law as just one of many actors within the cosmos This original work will appeal to scholars of legal theory and environmental law as well as those interested in posthumanism ecology and materialism
