Teacher's Guide for Pathways to Pluralism Robert A. Spivey, Edwin Scott Gaustad, Rodney F. Allen, Lawrence R. Hepburn, 1990-01-01 Any program used to teach about religion in the social studies must meet certain criteria The materials must be socially significant and suitable to the classroom The teaching strategy must promote genuine learning taking every safeguard to prevent indoctrination Only then is the public school teacher warranted legally and morally to undertake an in depth examination of religious traditions Each of the 10 studies presented in the text Pathways to Pluralism has an integrity of its own While it is not necessary that these studies be used in a fixed sequence it is important that any study chosen be used in its entirety in order to promote objectivity Free inquiry and induction are characteristic of the materials Students are asked to analyze source materials related to religion and the social studies and on the basis of the information provided are asked to develop their own positions Then an open informed class discussion permits students to present their own points of view and respectfully consider positions different from the ones they have reached This teacher s guide includes for each study 1 a statement of the primary goals 2 information to be considered in responding to the study questions in the text 3 oral and written activities that may be presented at the conclusion of the study 4 questions for further research and 5 a vocabulary list A correlation of this text with leading U S history textbooks is also provided Author JB
