Pathways To Translation Pedagogy And Process:

    Pathways to Translation Donald C. Kiraly,1995 This work examines the state of the art of translator training in Germany and Europe It presents a survey of new approaches in translation teaching and a discussion of the contributions second language education theory and practice can make to translation education   Using CAT Tools in Freelance Translation Paulina Pietrzak,Michal Kornacki,2020-11-30 This book explores the impact of applying computer assisted CAT tools in freelance translation toward better understanding translators strategies preferences and challenges in using new technologies and identifying areas of enhancement in translator training The volume offers a brief overview of the latest developments in technology in translation examining such issues as the effect on the translation process and the dynamics of the translator technology interaction Drawing on data from a study with active translators in Poland Pietrzak and Kornacki examine the underlying factors underpinning translators lack of engagement with these tools including such issues as prevailing pre conceptions around technology and limited knowledge hindering the most efficacious use of these resources and the subsequent impact on translator identity Taken together the book brings together these insights to help pinpoint freelance translators needs more effectively and adapt training programmes accordingly The volume will be of interest to scholars in translation studies with an interest in process and technology as well as active translators   Telecollaboration in Translator Education Mariusz Marczak,2023-11-24 This volume provides a comprehensive treatment of telecollaboration as a learning mode in translator education surveying the state of the art exploring its distinctive challenges and affordances and outlining future directions in both theoretical and practical terms The book begins with an overview of telecollaboration and its rise in prominence in today s globalised world one in which developments in technology have significantly impacted practices in professional translation and translator education The volume highlights basic design types and assessment modes and their use in achieving competence based learning outcomes drawing on examples from seven telecollaboration projects In incorporating real life research Marczak draws readers attention to not only the practical workings of different types of projects and their attendant challenges but also the opportunities for educators to diversify and optimize their instructional practices and for budding translators to build competence and better secure their future employability in the language service provision industry This volume will be a valuable resource for students and researchers in translation studies particularly those with an interest in translator education and translation technology as well as stakeholders in the professional translation industry   Quality Assurance and Assessment Practices in Translation and Interpreting Huertas-Barros, Elsa,Vandepitte, Sonia,Iglesias-Fernández, Emilia,2018-07-27 The development of translation memories and machine translation have led to new quality assurance practices where translators have found themselves checking not only human translation but also machine translation outputs As a result the notions of revision and interpersonal competences have gained great importance with international projects recognizing them as high priorities

Quality Assurance and Assessment Practices in Translation and Interpreting is a critical scholarly resource that serves as a guide to overcoming the challenge of how translation and interpreting results should be observed given feedback and assessed It also informs the design of new ways of evaluating students as well as suggesting criteria for professional quality control Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as quality management translation tests and competency based assessments this book is geared towards translators interpreters linguists academicians translation and interpreting researchers and students seeking current research on the new ways of evaluating students as well as suggesting criteria for professional quality control in translation   Translation and Interpreting as Social Interaction Claire Y. Shih,Caiwen Wang,2024-01-11 Adopting the tripartite theory of social psychology as its theoretical framework this book advocates that the three components of social interaction affect behaviour and cognition underpin the daily activities of translators and interpreters In particular it argues that the affect or emotion of translators and interpreters should not be overlooked or treated as a separate entity but as a crucial link between their mental process cognition and physical process behaviour This central theme of the intertwining nature of the affect behaviour and cognition of translators and interpreters is examined theoretically empirically and methodologically with contributions from around the world featuring literary translation translator training and interpreters practice It is a timely contribution to the field of Translation Process Research where affect is increasingly recognised as playing a key role in translation and interpreting phenomena   ICO-ASCNITY 2019 Hidayatul Ihsan,Eka Siskawati ,Amy Fontanella,Afifah ,Sariani ,Robbi Rahim,2020-04-08 As an annual event 1st International Conference on Applied Science Business and Humanity ICo ASCNITY 2019 brought the agenda to assembly together researcher academics experts and professionals in examining selected theme by applying multidisciplinary approaches In 2019 this event held in 1 2 November at Grand Inna Hotel and Convention Padang Indonesia The conference from any kind of stakeholders related with Accounting Business Art and Tourism Language and Education was refereed before being accepted for publication The double blind peer reviewed was used in the paper selection   Translation and Web Localization Miguel A. Jimenez-Crespo,2013-11-07 Web localization is a cognitive textual communicative and technological process by which interactive web texts are modified to be used by audiences in different sociolinguistic contexts Translation and Web Localization provides an in depth and comprehensive overview into this emerging field of study The book covers the key areas and main theoretical and practical approaches of the subject rather than a step by step practical guide Topics covered include the often controversial definition of localization how the process develops what constitutes a text in this process digital genre theory and its implications and how to conduct research or training in this field The book concludes with a look into the dynamic nature of web localization and the forces such as crowdsourcing that are reshaping web localization and translation as we know it In light of the deep changes brought by the Internet Translation and Web Localization is an indispensable book for researchers postgraduate and advanced undergraduate students of translation studies as well as practitioners and researchers in related fields such as computational linguistics applied linguistics Internet linguistics digital genre theory and web development Professional Interpreting Programmes in China Yinying Wang,2023-07-07 Wang presents the status quo of curriculum development in professional interpreting programmes in China and points to the urgency to devise a curriculum improvement model to ensure the relevance of such programmes against a changing reality She covers the European experience in interpreter education that China can learn from and discusses opportunities arising from previous examples for China to iterate upon in the context of the broader and more diverse professional reality The book puts the nature of professional interpreters and in turn interpreting programmes under the concurring lens of curriculum studies and the sociology of professions Wang identifies eight stakeholders which call for changes in interpreting programmes and six categories of competence or sub competence which see a progression from undergraduate to graduate and lifelong learning stage These serve as curriculum goals and encapsulate the recommended changes in institutional curricula The conceptualised model is then described with a case study on Chinese English retour training to show its applicability and relevance in interpreting programmes on the ground Offering insight for academics practitioners and trainee interpreting students and of relevance to a broader interpreting community looking to set up or reform interpreting curricula Wang s book will help ensure curriculum improvement that is theoretically sound and practically viable Restructuring Translation Education Feng Yue,Youlan Tao,Huashu Wang,Qiliang Cui,Bin Xu,2019-01-14 This book offers data based insights into the problems of translation education and their causes in the context of localization and globalization in the era of big data By examining language services around the globe illustrating applications of big data technology and their future development and describing crowdsourcing and online collaborative translations speech to speech translation and cloud based translation it makes readers aware of the important changes taking place in the professional translation market and consequently recognize the insufficiency of translation education and the need for it to be restructured accordingly Furthermore the book includes data based analyses of translation education problems such as teaching philosophy curriculum design and faculty development of both undergraduate and postgraduate education in China More importantly it proposes solutions that have already been successful in experiments in a number of universities in China for other institutions of higher education to imitate in restructuring translation education The discussion is of interest for current and future translation policy makers translation educators translators and learners Non-professional Interpreting and Translation Rachele Antonini,Letizia Cirillo,Linda Rossato,Ira Torresi,2017-06-15 In the light of recent waves of mass immigration non professional interpreting and translation NPIT is spreading at an unprecedented pace While as recently as the late 20th century much of the field was a largely uncharted territory the current proportions of NPIT suggest that the phenomenon is here to stay and needs to be studied with all due academic rigour This collection of essays is the first systematic attempt at looking at NPIT in a scholarly and at the same time pragmatic way Offering multiple methods and perspectives and covering the diverse contexts in which NPIT takes place the volume is a welcome turn in an all too often polarized debate in both academic and practitioner circles Education, Translation and Global Market Pressures Wan Hu,2018-03-07 This book investigates the market driven transformation of the higher education sector and the response given by the translation programmes in the UK and China two vastly different social and economic contexts It provides an in depth look at six selected case studies critically analysing how social economic and political factors have affect curriculum designs in different translation programmes This innovative volume contributes to the development of knowledge in an important area of translation studies and opens a new way for providing both cross national and cross disciplinary perspectives in analysing the curricula of translation programmes Translation Competence Carla Quinci,2023-02-23 This book offers a systematic and comprehensive account of translation competence TC reflecting on its different models and conceptualisations throughout its development and outlining future directions for both theory and practice The volume charts the evolution of TC in line with related findings in empirical product and process oriented research In critically examining the different models of translation competence Quinci explores a wide range of connected issues of ongoing debate within Translation Studies including translation quality the revision process and translator self assessment The second section of the book investigates these themes at work in the design conduct and results of an award winning longitudinal research project which analysed the acquisition and development of TC in a sample group of translation trainees and professional translators The volume builds on the outcomes of this project to offer practical activities for translator education informed by theory and empirical research toward encouraging continued reflection and new directions for translation competence research and practice This book will be of interest to scholars in Translation Studies as well as translation trainees and active translation professionals A History of Modern Translation Knowledge Lieven D'hulst,Yves Gambier,2018-06-28 A History of Modern Translation Knowledge is the first attempt to map the coming into being of modern thinking about translation It breaks with the well established tradition of viewing history through the reductive lens of schools theories turns or interdisciplinary exchanges It also challenges the artificial distinction between past and present and it sustains that the latter s historical roots go back far beyond the 1970s Translation Studies is but part of a broader set of discourses on translation we propose to label translation knowledge This book concentrates on seven processes that make up the history of modern translation knowledge generating mapping internationalising historicising analysing disseminating and applying knowledge All processes are covered by 58 domain experts and allocated over 55 chapters with cross references This book is indispensable reading for advanced Master and PhD students in Translation Studies who need background information on the history of their field with relevance for Europe the Americas and large parts of Asia It will also interest students and scholars working in cultural and social history Doing Applied Linguistics Daniel Perrin,Ulla Kleinberger,2017-06-12 How can students be empowered to communicate professionally as translators journalists and CCOs How can professionals engaged in crucial language interactions do the same pilots nurses lawyers and many others This volume gives answers to these questions providing insights into critical situations and good practices from many years of research and teaching in a practice oriented research driven School of Applied Linguistics A Project-Based Approach to Translation Technology Rosemary Mitchell-Schuitevoerder,2020-06-15 A Project Based Approach to Translation Technology provides students of translation and trainee translators with a real time translation experience with its translation platforms management systems and teamwork This book is divided into seven chapters reflecting the building blocks of a project based approach to translation technology The first chapter identifies the core elements of translation environment tools and collaborative work methods while Chapters 2 and 4 review the concept of translation memory and terminology databases and their purposes Chapter 3 covers machine translation embedded in the technology and the other chapters discuss human and technological quality assurance digital ethics and risk management and web based translation management systems Each chapter follows a common format and ends with project based assignments These assignments draw and build on real time contexts covering the consecutive steps in the workflow of large and multilingual translation projects Reviewing the many translation technology tools available to assist the translator and other language service providers this is an indispensable book for advanced students and instructors of translation studies professional translators and technology tool providers The Handbook of Translation and Cognition John W. Schwieter,Li Wei,2020-01-09 The Handbook of Translation and Cognition is a pioneering state of the art investigation of cognitive approaches to translation and interpreting studies TIS Offers timely and cutting edge coverage of the most important theoretical frameworks and methodological innovations Contains original contributions from a global group of leading researchers from 18 countries Explores topics related to translator and workplace characteristics including machine translation creativity ergonomic perspectives and cognitive effort and competence training and interpreting such as multimodal processing neurocognitive optimization process oriented pedagogies and conceptual change Maps out future directions for cognition and translation studies as well as areas in need of more research within this dynamic field A Qualitative Approach to Translation Studies Elisa Calvo,Elena de la Cova,2023-12-22 This collection invites readers to explore innovative or underexploited ways of working qualitatively with what in Translation Studies may be termed as elusive constructs The volume adopts a functionalist approach to focus on one such concept namely the notion of translation problem using case studies to illustrate how a significant elusive construct can be addressed empirically It explores different qualitative research methodologies which although well established in other fields are yet to be extensively used in TS but which may nevertheless prove to be of significance for future studies as they allow elusive concepts typically found in TS to be worked with more coherently Chapters are structured around two core ideas first the qualitative systematic analysis of source text content with emphasis on the detection of translation problems as a means of creating efficient frameworks for coherent decision making from a functional perspective and secondly the practical process of stereotyping and profiling specific problems within different contexts content types or services to help identify manage and resolve them in a number of settings from research to professional translator training and assessment environments This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies particularly those with an interest in qualitative approaches Behind the Mind Susanne Göpferich,Arnt Lykke Jakobsen,Inger M. Mees,2009 This volume contains ten papers describing various translation experiments using Translog and or think aloud methodology Copenhagen Studies in Language volumes 36 Looking at Eyes edited by Susanne Gopferich and Arnt Lykke Jakobsen and 37 are two complementary volumes containing empirical studies by scholars working in the field of translation process research Contributors include members of the EU Eye to IT project Teaching Translation Martin Ward,Carlo Eugeni,Callum Walker,2024-11-26 The field of translation and interpreting T I training has been undergoing rapid and far reaching transformation in recent years as a result of technological advances and sweeping shifts in the international environment within which T I seeks to mediate Teaching Translation Contexts Modes and Technologies provides across section of multi national perspectives on teaching various dimensions of translation both within dedicated programmes and as part of individual modules on translation adjacent programmes This volume offers essential up to date perspectives to ensure that T I training remains robust and resilient far into the 21st century Examining key topics of concern across academia professional translation practice and collaborative pedagogies as well as offering crucial insights from the voices of the trainees themselves this is an essential text for professionals scholars and teachers of translation studies and interpreting studies The Development of Translation Competence Aline Ferreira,John W. Schwieter,2014-06-02 The Development of Translation Competence Theories and Methodologies from Psycholinguistics and Cognitive Science presents cutting edge research in translation studies from perspectives in psycholinguistics and cognitive science in order to provide a better understanding of translation and the development of linguistic competence that translators need to be effective professionals It presents original theories and empirical tests that have significant implications for advancing the field of translation studies and what researchers know about the development of linguistic competence The book is divided up into three Parts Part I consists of a state of the art introductory chapter which serves to frame the subsequent studies in Part II which explore the development of translation competence by reporting on topics such as translation expertise cognitive ergonomic issues in translation translation ambiguity standards and metrics for translation processing speed and production time among others Part III then hones in on specific data collection methodologies from cognitive science that highlight innovative ways to gather and analyze data Some methods discussed include tasks looking at processing speed brain imagining techniques such as functional magnetic resonance imaging adaptation fMRIa language switching eye tracking keystroke and mouse logging and retrospection among others This book effectively demonstrates that psycholinguistic and cognitive approaches to studying the development of translation competence promise to diversify traditional perspectives of translation studies and to improve the quality and generalizability of translation research in general This title will serve as a valuable reference for scholars practitioners translators and anyone who wishes to gain an overview of current issues and methods in translation studies solidly grounded in psycholinguistics and cognitive science
