Patriarchy And Economic Development Womens Positions At The End Of The Twentieth Century:

Patriarchy and Economic Development Valentine M. Moghadam, 1996 A Companion to the History of the Middle East Youssef M. Choueiri, 2008-09-02 A Companion to the History of the Middle East offers a fresh account of the multifaceted and multi layered history of this region A fresh account of the multifaceted and multi layered history of the Middle East Comprises 26 newly commissioned essays by leading international scholars Primarily focused on the modern and contemporary periods Covers religious social cultural economic political and military history Treats the region as four differentiated political units Iran Turkey Israel and the Arab world Includes a section on current issues such as oil urban growth the role of women and democratic human rights Gender and Identity Construction Feride Acar, Günes-Ayate, 2021-12-28 This volume deals with issues and problems of national and gender identity in Central Asia the Caucasus and Turkey Articles discuss experiences and position of women vis vis state intervention economic political and cultural change in both public and private spheres of life In the book the real life conditions and experiences of women are analyzed on three complementary levels The first of these is the economic and institutional circumstances shaped by structural adjustment policies globalization and transnational policies The second is realities of everyday life particularly pertaining to family religion tradition and education The third level is that of politics and ideology where national and nationalist discourses often build on the gender identity shaped by the economic and social levels The book does not only present a cross cultural analysis of women s position in the region but also reflects the varied perspectives of female scholars from many different countries and disciplines Gender Economics: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources, 2018-12-07 Gender Economics challenges current economic theory targeting the way gender is often used for economic gain or increased market share Experts realize that company growth can no longer be achieved by taking a conventional approach but few follow through with introducing new frameworks that change the way diversity is treated Gender Economics Breakthroughs in Research and Practice features current research that combines the concepts of gender theory sociology and economics observing how diversity influences numerous dimensions of business and consumerism Covering topics including gender empowerment and also bias economic equality industrial creativity leadership and the impact of social connectedness on life satisfaction this publication is an ideal reference source for legislators and policymakers economic developers corporate practitioners educational faculties academicians researchers and graduate level students of all disciplines Hermeneutics and Honor Anan Ameri, 1999 Women s traversal of public space in Islamic ate societies and the ensuing process of negotiating gendered identities are the central concerns of this collection of essays The dichotomy between private and public spheres upheld as axiomatic for most societies has recently been challenged by scholars as an artificial construct For women in particular the demarcation between the two spheres has become blurred by the enormous public consequences of their private behaviour Elaborate cultural codes of honour and traditional masculinist interpretations of scripture have reinforced the public private polarity and restricted Muslim women's access to the public realm as conventionally defined The distinguished contributors to this volume provide insight into how women from different social strata and historical periods in various Islamic ate societies have creatively engaged with these limitations upon their behaviour Agency and Gender in Gaza Aitemad Muhanna,2016-04-01 Drawing on rich interview material and adopting a life history approach this book examines the agency of women living in insecure and uncertain conflict situations It explores the effects of the Israeli policy of closure against Gaza and the resulting humanitarian crisis in relation to gender relations and gender subjectivity With attention to the changing roles of men in the household and community as a result of the loss of male employment the author explores the extension of poor women's mobility particularly that of young wives with dependent children for whom the meaning of agency has shifted from being providers in the domestic sphere to becoming publicly dependent on humanitarian aid Without conflating women's agency with resistance to patriarchy Agency and Gender in Gaza extends the concept of agency to include its subjective and intersubjective elements shedding light on the recent distortion of the traditional gender order and the reasons for which women resist the masculine power that they have acquired as a result An empirically grounded examination of the attempt to maintain the meaning of social existence through the preservation of socially constructed images of masculinity and femininity this book will be of interest to social scientists with interests in gender studies masculinities and the sociology of the family Finding Peace in Iraq: Joint Field Research on New Approaches to Peacebuilding in the Kurdistan Region Thomas Hill,Talia Hagerty,2013 Scholars at the University of Duhok in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq have spent the past decade exploring peace and conflict studies and have established the field's only degree granting program in Iraq In 2012 2013 students and professors from the University of Duhok and New York University met to design and conduct peace research in the KRI Finding Peace in Iraq is one result of their work These collaborative studies offer valuable knowledge related to peacebuilding in different dimensions economics resource management minority and gender inclusion education and religion This research represents an important step in reframing relationships between a generation of Americans and Iraqis who have known nothing but isolation and separation from each other Women's Employment in Muslim Countries Niels Spierings,2016-04-29 This book presents a new and nuanced exploration of the position of women in Muslim countries based on research involving more than 300 000 women in 28 Muslim countries It addresses topical debates on the role of Islam modernization globalization neocolonialism educational inequalities patriarchy household hierarchies and more The European's Burden Salvatore Engel-Di Mauro,2006 Textbook The SAGE Encyclopedia of Business Ethics and Society Robert W. Kolb,2018-03-27 Spans the relationships among business ethics and society by including numerous entries that feature broad coverage of corporate social responsibility the obligation of companies to various stakeholder groups the contribution of business to society and culture and the relationship between organizations and the quality of the environment War Refugees Jennifer Kling, 2019-04-04 The current refugee crisis is unparalleled in history in its size and severity According to the UNHCR there are roughly 67 million refugees worldwide the vast majority of whom are refugees as the result of wars and other military actions This social and political crisis cries out for normative explanation and analysis Morally and politically how should we understand the fact that 1 in every 122 humans is a refugee How should we respond to it and why Jennifer Kling argues that war refugees have suffered and continue to suffer a series of harms wrongs and oppressions and so are owed recompense restitution and aid as a matter of justice by sociopolitical institutions around the world She makes the case that war refugees should be viewed and treated differently than migrants due to their particular circumstances but that their circumstances do not wholly alleviate their own moral responsibilities We must stop treating refugees as objects to be moved around on the global stage Kling contends and instead see them as people with their own subjective experiences of the world who might surprise us with their words and works While targeted toward students and scholars of philosophy War Refugees Risk Justice and Moral Responsibility will also be of interest to those working in political science international relations and foreign policy analysis and more broadly to anyone who is interested in thinking critically about the ongoing refugee crisis Undercurrent Journal: Vol. 10, Issue 2

Under Construction Laurel Kendall, 2001-09-30 Since the late 1960s the lives of south Koreans have been reconstructed on the shifting ground of urbanization industrialization military authoritarianism democratic reform and social liberalization Class and gender identities have been modified in relation to a changing modernity and new definitions of home and family work and leisure husband and wife Under Construction provides an illuminating portrait of south Koreans in the 1990s a decade that saw a return to civilian rule a loosening of censorship and social control and the emergence of a full blown consumer culture It shows how these changes impacted the lives of Korean men and women and the very definition of what it means to be male and female in Korea In a series of provocative essays written by Korean and Western scholars we see how Korean women and men actively engage and at times openly contest the limitations of gender Under Construction is part of a decisive turn in the anthropology of gender from its early quest for the causes of female subordination to a finely tuned analysis of the historical cultural and class based specificities of gender relations and the tension between gender as an ideological construct and as a lived experience Firmly grounded in the political and economic history of south Korea this long awaited volume fills an important gap in Korean studies and East Asia gender studies in English Contributors Nancy Abelmann Cho Haejoang Roger L.
