been obsessed with the image of Jesus in nearly all his films a theme in his cinema that dovetails with his 2011 academic study Jesus of Nazareth Through the Lens of Cinema of Violence offers a passionate nuanced and comprehensive critical look at the cinematic output of one of the Netherlands and Hollywood's most vital contemporary filmmakers

New Millennial Sexstyles Carol Siegel, 2000 New Millennial Sexstyles questions the twin feminist orthodoxies that the 1960s sexual revolution failed women and that the sexual attitudes most prominent in current youth cultures are deplorably regressive Comparing the American sexscape she inhabits to the vision of contemporary culture produced by feminist theorists Carol Siegel considers whether the sexual revolution may have succeeded but in ways not recognized by current academic studies of gender and sexuality In discouraging undomesticated heterosexuality academic feminism ignores the connection between mainstream opposition to all unrestrained sexual expression and the growth of new forms of homophobia in our times At the same time the youth subcultures challenges to these views of sexuality and gender have been dismissed as insignificant or misunderstood as sexist In this book they receive more respectful attention Siegel draws on her own experience as a college student to create a personal history of academic feminism's early sympathy with bourgeois values She looks at the development of American sex advice literature and at the reception of such transgressive popular films as Basic Instinct Thelma and Louise and Natural Born Killers to demonstrate that the most profoundly capitalist feminist theories have always been the most culturally authoritative A more encouraging vision emerges in the book's second half where a record of conversations about sex and gender with young people and of their responses to products designed for their consumption takes the reader through some of today's most radical youth cultures and suggests new directions for gender studies

Paul Verhoeven, Media Manipulation, and Hyper-reality

Emmanuel William Malchiodi, 2011 Dutch director Paul Verhoeven is a polarizing figure. Although many of his American-made films have received considerable praise and financial success, he has been lambasted on countless occasions for his gratuitous use of sex violence and contentious symbolism. 1995's Showgirls was overwhelmingly dubbed the worst film of all time, and 1997's Starship Troopers earned him a reputation as a fascist. Regardless of the controversy surrounding him, his science fiction films are a move beyond the conventions of the big blockbuster science fiction films of the 1980s. E.T. and the Star Wars trilogy are prime examples revealing a deeper exploration of both sociopolitical issues and the human condition. Much like the novels of Philip K. Dick, and Verhoeven's 1990 film Total Recall, an adaptation of a Dick short story, Verhoeven's science fiction work explores worlds where paranoia is a constant and determining whether an individual maintains any liberty is regularly questionable. It Doesn't Suck Adam Nayman, 2014-04-01

The Worst Movie Ever is a masterpiece. Seriously, enough time has passed since Showgirls flopped spectacularly that it's time for a good hard look back at the sequined spectacle. A salvage operation on a very public, very expensive train wreck, It Doesn't Suck argues that Showgirls is much smarter and deeper than it is given credit for. In an accessible and entertaining voice, the book encourages a shift in critical perspective on Paul Verhoeven's Showgirls, analyzing the film, its reception, and rehabilitation. This in-depth study of a much reviled movie is a must-read for lovers and haters of the 1995 Razzie winner for Worst Picture. Paul Verhoeven

Douglas Keeseey, 2005 Known for always pushing the envelope when it comes to showing sex and violence on screen, Paul Verhoeven has directed controversial films in several genres, including the erotic thriller Basic Instinct, melodrama Showgirls, and science fiction RoboCop, Total Recall, Starship Troopers, and Hollow Man. However, even before going to Hollywood, Verhoeven had been a success or scandal in his native Netherlands, where he directed a war saga Soldier of Orange, a medieval epic Flesh & Blood, a psychosexual thriller The Fourth Man, and a sex comedy Turkish Delight, which was voted Best Dutch Film of the Century at the Netherlands Film Festival. Verhoeven has shown that visceral thrills can be thought-provoking, challenging our received notions of heroism, patriotism, and eroticism. He has created some of the most courageous and contentious films of recent years. Made with full access to Paul Verhoeven's archives. Paul Verhoeven , The Lost One Stephen D.

Youngkin, 2005-09-30 The first full biography of this major actor draws upon more than 300 interviews, including conversations with directors Fritz Lang, Alfred Hitchcock, Billy Wilder, John Huston, Frank Capra, and Rouben Mamoulian, who speak candidly about Lorre, both the man and the actor. The Rochester Directory, 1870 100 Greatest Cult Films

Warwick,2023-02-15 Offering a survey of Hollywood science fiction cinema from 1979 to 2017 from Ridley Scott s Alien to Denis Villeneuve s Blade Runner 2049 Dystopia and Dispossession in the Hollywood Science Fiction Film argues that the trajectory of Hollywood s dystopianism in that period is inextricable from the phenomenon of the new enclosures the new dispossessions and privatisations sweeping across the United States since the 1970s More precisely it contends that the critiques of such dispossessions elaborated before the turn of the century consider the satire of private policing in RoboCop 1987 the portrayal of commodified air in Total Recall 1990 and the nightmarish extrapolations of postmodern urbanism in Blade Runner 1982 and The Truman Show 1998 begin to disappear in films such as The Matrix 1999 The Island 2005 District 9 2009 Repo Men 2010 and The Purge 2013 the further commodification of land forest reservoir ideas even the human genome having diminished the contrast between capitalist and non capitalist spaces on which the earlier critiques depended Bringing close readings of blockbuster films into dialogue with historical and theoretical scholarship on dispossession Dystopia and Dispossession in the Hollywood Science Fiction Film proposes a new understanding of the politics of science fiction in particular and utopian thought in general Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism Jonas E. Alexis, 2011-12-29 The simple step of a courageous individual is not to take part in the lie One word of truth outweighs the world Alexander Solzhenitsyn In this penetrating and provocative work Jonas E Alexis challenges common assumptions about the relationship between Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism and provides compelling evidence from history and theology that demonstrates the extent to which modern Judaism has been defined by the Pharisaic and Rabbinic schools of thought As Alexis meticulously documents there has been a constant struggle between Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism since the time of Christ a struggle that will define the destiny of the West Islam according to Christianity is a historically and theologically false religion since it denies both Jesus's deity and His work of salvation at the Cross But Rabbinic Judaism Alexis argues is equally false and in many respects more dangerous to Christianity and the West than Islam since at its root Rabbinic Judaism wages war against the Logos the system of order in the world embodied by Christ In this painstakingly scholarly yet readable work Alexis maintains that Rabbinic Judaism defined by the Pharisaic teachings now codified in the Talmud that Jesus sought to correct is a categorical and metaphysical rejection of Christianity a rejection that has had and will continue to have severe implications for Western culture intellectual history and theological exegesis
