scholarship has emerged within the last twenty five years on the role of Louisiana Creoles in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries yet academic work on the history of Creoles in New Orleans after the Civil War and into the twentieth century remains sparse Darryl Barth Jr s Becoming American in Creole New Orleans moves the history of New Orleans Creole community forward documenting the process of becoming American through Creoles encounters with Anglo American modernism Barth tracks this ethnic transformation through an interrogation of New Orleans's voluntary associations and social sodalities as well as its public and parochial schools where Creole linguistic distinctiveness faded over the twentieth century because of English only education and the establishment of Anglo American economic hegemony Barth argues that despite the existence of ethnic repression the transition from Creole to American identity was largely voluntary as Creoles embraced the economic opportunities afforded to them through learning English Becoming American entailed the adoption of a distinctly American language and a distinctly American racialized caste system Navigating that caste system was always tricky for Creoles who had existed in between French and Spanish color lines that recognized them as a group separate from Europeans Africans and Amerindians even though they often shared kinship ties with all of these groups Creoles responded to the pressures associated with the demands of the American caste system by passing as white people completely or situationally or more often redefining themselves as Blacks Becoming American in Creole New Orleans offers a critical comparative analysis of Creolization and Americanization social processes that often worked in opposition to each another during the nineteenth century and that would continue to frame the limits of Creole identity and cultural expression in New Orleans until the mid twentieth century As such it offers intersectional engagement with subjects that have historically fallen under the purview of sociology anthropology and critical theory including discourses on whiteness m tissage m tisaj and critical mixed race theory

A Creole Lexicon Jay Edwards, Nicolas Kariouk Pecquet du Bellay de Verton, 2004-09-01 Throughout Louisiana's colonial and postcolonial periods there evolved a highly specialized vocabulary for describing the region's buildings people and cultural landscapes This creolized language a unique combination of localisms and words borrowed from French Spanish English Indian and Caribbean sources developed to suit the multiethnic needs of settlers planters explorers builders surveyors and government officials Today this historic vernacular is often opaque to historians architects attorneys geographers scholars and the general public who need to understand its meanings With A Creole Lexicon Jay Edwards and Nicolas Kariouk provide a highly organized resource for its recovery Here are definitions for thousands of previously lost or misapplied terms including watercraft and land vehicles furniture housetypes unique to Louisiana people and social categories Drawn directly from travelers accounts historic maps and legal documents the volume's copious entries document what would actually have been heard and seen by the peoples of the Louisiana territory Newly produced diagrams and drawings as well as reproductions of original eighteenth and nineteenth century documents and Historic American Buildings Surveys enhance understanding Sixteen subject indexes list equivalent English words for easy access to appropriate Creole translations A Creole Lexicon is an invaluable resource for exploring and preserving Louisiana's cultural heritage

New Orleans and the Design Moment Jacob Wagner, Michael Frisch, 2014-06-11 Following the disaster of Hurricane Katrina in New Orleans people began to discuss and visualize the ways in which the urban structure of the city could be reorganized Rather than defining the disaster recovery process as simply a matter of rebuilding the existing city these voices called for a more radical rethinking of the city's physical, social, and environmental systems. This idea of disaster as an opportunity for urban restructuring is a hallmark of a design moment. Design moments are different from the incremental process of urban growth and development. Instead of gradual growth and change, design moments present the opportunity for a significant restructuring of urban form that can shape the city for decades to come. As such, a design moment presents a critical juncture in the historical growth and development of a city. In this book, we explore the question: what does urban design have to do with a disaster like Hurricane Katrina? Focused on New Orleans, the authors explore different dimensions of the post-disaster design moment, including the politics of physical redevelopment, the city's history and identity, justice, and the image of the city, demolition and housing development, and the environmental aspects of the recovery process. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Urban Design. New Orleans Charles D. Chamberlain, 2025-08-15. Intended for general readers. Charles D. Chamberlain's New Orleans: A Concise History of an Exceptional City offers a broad, reliable overview of the city's history. Although many excellent books are available that focus on specific eras in the Crescent City, this book is the first fully inclusive scholarly history that is engaging and easy to follow. In addition to a general historical narrative, each chapter provides a list of relevant historical sites and a carefully selected recipe to make the city's history come to life through site visits and culinary pursuits. Chamberlain encourages readers to experience the spirit of New Orleans first-hand by exploring its landscape and interacting with its cuisine. New Orleans: A Concise History of an Exceptional City is a trusty reference for tour guides and a valuable interactive resource for general readers interested in the fascinating history of one of America's most unique cities.

Plantations & Historic Homes of New Orleans Jan Arrigo, Laura McElroy, Hurricane Katrina ravaged much of New Orleans in 2005, but thankfully, the city's most treasured historic homes survived. Plantations: the homes artist Edgar Degas and author William Faulkner lived in during their New Orleans stays, and the 1850 House located in the Lower Pontalba building on Jackson Square. Learn about the building's namesake, a baroness with a tumultuous family life who managed to escape murder and was also responsible for building the American embassy in Paris. With lavish photographs of exteriors and rooms of special interest, gardens, and curiosities, and detailed information about New Orleans' diverse architecture and history, this book is both a perfect guide for visitors and natives alike and an enchanting visual tour of one of the greatest cities in the United States.

Creolization as Cultural Creativity Robert Baron, Ana C. Cara, 2011-10-11. Global in scope and multidisciplinary in approach, Creolization as Cultural Creativity explores the expressive forms and performances that come into being when cultures encounter one another. Creolization is presented as a powerful marker of identity in the postcolonial creole societies of Latin America, the Caribbean, and the southwest Indian Ocean region, as well as a universal process that can occur anywhere cultures come into contact. An extraordinary number of cultures from Haiti, Martinique, Guadeloupe, the southern United States, Trinidad and Tobago, Madagascar, Mauritius, Seychelles, Réunion, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Suriname, Jamaica, and Sierra Leone are discussed.

in these essays Drawing from the disciplines of folklore anthropology ethnomusicology literary studies history and material culture studies essayists address theoretical dimensions of creolization and present in depth field studies Topics include adaptations of the Gombe drum over the course of its migration from Jamaica to West Africa uses of ritual piracy involved in the appropriation of Catholic symbols by Puerto Rican brujos the subversion of official culture and authority through playful and combative use of creole talk in Argentine literature and verbal arts the mislabeling and trivialization toy blindness of objects appropriated by African Americans in the American South the strategic use of creole techniques among storytellers within the islands of the Indian Ocean and the creolized character of New Orleans and its music In the introductory essay the editors address both local and universal dimensions of creolization and argue for the centrality of its expressive manifestations for creolization scholarship

Sunset Limited Wendy A. Gaudin, 2025-03-18 Shaped by centuries of migration enslavement freedom colonization and cultural mixture Louisiana Creole identity is often simplified or misunderstood to fit into today's ideas about race and nationality In Sunset Limited An Autobiography of Creole Wendy A Gaudin fearlessly takes on the many meanings of Creole in a lyrical exploration of how this multilayered transnational bilingual and racially expansive history of New Orleans and Louisiana has manifested itself in her own diasporic Creole family When Gaudin s Creole grandparents boarded the Sunset Limited train in Jim Crow era New Orleans they imagined new lives for themselves in the city of Los Angeles The Sunset Limited produced a twentieth century Creole community on the West Coast whose members ate the traditional foods of south Louisiana gathered in one another s homes and churches spoke in the distinctive dialects of the Gulf Coast and taught their children to respect their unique blended ancestry and their centuries long history As an adult yearning to know more about her Creole background Gaudin returned to Louisiana There she began to trace her Creole ancestors back to the time before the Civil War confronting hard truths about the past her grandparents left behind Revisiting the lands of her ancestors diving into the archival record interviewing those who remained in New Orleans and remembering the stories told to her by her elders Gaudin sought answers to questions asked by many whose lives are shaped by migration Why did her people leave their ancestral home What did they lose in the leaving and what did they gain Sunset Limited explores the boundaries of what it means to be Creole how migration shaped Gaudin s family and her community and how this history is remembered and told Incorporating historical narrative oral history biomythography historiography cultural geography autoethnography and poetry Sunset Limited is as multidimensional and dynamic as Louisiana Creoles themselves Weaving together the stories of her mixed race elders the artifacts of her ancestors and memories of her California childhood Gaudin argues that history is not a cold linear record of the past Rather it is a deeply felt understanding of how we are shaped by the movements of our ancestors and of our rich and ever changing relationships with those who came before us

Rebuilding Urban Places

After Disaster Eugenie L. Birch, Susan M. Wachter, 2013-01-09 Disasters natural ones such as hurricanes floods or earthquakes and unnatural ones such as terrorist attacks are part of the American experience in the twenty first century The challenges of preparing for these events withstanding their impact and rebuilding communities afterward require strategic responses from different levels of government in partnership with the private sector and in accordance with the public will Disasters have a disproportionate effect on urban places Dense by definition cities and their environs suffer great damage to their complex interdependent social environmental and economic systems Social and medical services collapse Long standing problems in educational access and quality become especially acute Local economies cease to function Cultural resources disappear The plight of New Orleans and several smaller Gulf Coast cities exemplifies this phenomenon This volume examines the rebuilding of cities and their environs after a disaster and focuses on four major issues making cities less vulnerable to disaster reestablishing economic viability responding to the permanent needs of the displaced and recreating a sense of place Success in these areas requires that priorities be set cooperatively and this goal poses significant challenges for rebuilding efforts in a democratic market based society Who sets priorities and how Can participatory decision making be organized under conditions requiring focused strategic choices How do issues of race and class intersect with these priorities
