European Encounters: Language, Culture and Identity Irén

Annus, 2015-01-01 This volume is a collection of studies that analyze cultural encounters in Europe from multidisciplinary perspectives The book faithfully reflects the research conducted at various departments within the Faculty of Arts and Letters at the University of Szeged Hungary The idea for the collection was conceived during a dissemination meeting for a four year research project involving some of the authors known as Languages in a Network of European Excellence LINEE cofounded by the European Commission FP6 contract 28388 whose generous support also made the publication of this volume possible for which I would like to extend my gratitude here Our contemporary world has been persuasively described in a wealth of literature as an era of postmodernity characterized by a series of particular features including the development of digital culture and mediation an intricate interplay between globalization and localization the compression of time and space the rapid and constant movement of information and of people as well as the crossing of boundaries both in symbolic and concrete terms Lyotard Harvey and Appadurai Modernity among others It has been depicted as a transitory period marked by a series of turns linguistic cultural and pictorial visual e g by Rorty Jameson and Mitchell that have captured new mental frameworks for the comprehension of reality ies and resultant principles and processes of knowledge production also opening up avenues towards pluralism the politics of identity and difference and the centrality of issues concerning discourse power and ideology Calhoun Gupta and Ferguson Fairclough etc Having investigated various aspects of globalization Appadurai Disjuncture concluded that one way to understand this phenomenon is through the notion of cultural flows a concept that captures the speed and dynamism with which particular cultural forms and practices may travel and gain recognition outside of the local cultures within which they appear He proposed that these global cultural flows can best be explored through five imagined dimensions often in disjunction with each other ethnoscaples mediascaples technoscaples financescapes and ideoscapes Of these the studies in this volume focus primarily on ethnoscapescapes and ideoscapes the cultural flow that both the movement of people be they students tourists immigrants or artists and that of ideas from subcultures to teaching paradigms bring about and the representation of the various encounters these entail in language use cultural production and identity constructions This collection of studies tackles some of these issues as they appear in Europe particularly within the boundaries of Hungary where they have received particular attention after Hungary joined the European Union in 2004 Hungary's accession introduced not only EU rules norms and expectations to the country but also encouraged the flow of people cultural exchange and cooperation within the EU in numerous ways such as research projects and academic exchange programs e g Tempus and Erasmus and cultural projects such as the European Capital of Culture award program In the implementation of the various programs and broad cooperation upon which a united Europe may emerge it is imperative to ensure communication thus language teaching and learning and the attainment of a particular level of proficiency have received particular attention within the EU All this in a broader context can be regarded as part of the problematization tied to the word European including the construction and meaning of a European identity particularly in relation to other such as national regional and local identities while not being blind to other powerful factors such as ethnicity religion and gender that also shape self identities in compelling ways The authors in this volume represent a multiplicity of academic fields from linguistics and literary criticism to cultural anthropology and cultural studies They share the characteristic of reaching across traditional methods and disciplines thus typically applying an interdisciplinary approach in their investigations all of which focus on the construction mediation outcome or impact of cultural encounters in a variety of contexts Except for one all of these studies explore particular aspects of contemporary issues and practices As reflected in the subtitle of the volume the papers have been organized around three major themes language use cultural interaction and identity construction The first set of studies investigates the significance of language in the postmodern age Globalization is often associated with tendencies towards standardization and homogenization e g Featherstone in the course of which English is becoming the global language and culture is becoming more and more dominated by American and Western European models Smith 14 In this context issues such as the way in which English is used in the global community the forms of power English may represent in particular local communities or the washback effect this global role may have on emerging techniques used in the English as a Foreign Language EFL classroom require further investigation     Georgetown University Round Table on Languages and Linguistics (GURT) 1991: Linguistics and Language Pedagogy James E. Email Discourse Among Chinese Using English as a Lingua Franca Yuan-shan Chen, Der-Hwa Victoria Rau, Gerald Rau, 2015-10-24 This edited volume makes a valuable contribution to the burgeoning research field of English as a lingua franca. In a pioneering step the collection is exclusively devoted to the English email discourse of Chinese speakers. The studies address innovative topics related to various contexts and relationships using several different approaches and theories which taken together shed light on how English serves as a lingua franca in multiple types of global written communication. The research topics presented are organized into four thematic sections including emails from students to professors, emails from students to the international academic community, emails from peer to peer and emails at the workplace. This collection of empirical research invites readers to consider the special features of apologies, requests, terms of address, politeness and discourse organization and how cultural differences may affect the use or interpretation of each. Throughout the book readers will also discover how Chinese speakers use special features and strategies to construct their identity, establish relationships and achieve successful communication in English. This highly informative thought provoking book also provides insights on methods for teaching email discourse using English as a lingua franca and suggests directions for future research.

Reimagining Rapport Zane Goebel, 2021 To do ethnography a researcher must have rapport with research subjects. But what is rapport? Ethnography and ethnographic methods have increasingly become a feature of social inquiry in general and sociolinguistics in particular and rapport is generally considered a prerequisite for fieldwork. And yet unlike related terms such as communication and phatic communion this concept has remained largely unexamined. Reimagining Rapport turns a critical eye to the use of the term rapport across disciplines. The collection analyzes the very idea of rapport both exploring how it has been shaped by historical forces and actors within sociocultural anthropology and questioning its usefulness. Rather than viewing the term as simply denoting a type of positive social relationship that needs to be formed between researcher and consultant before research can begin, this book invites us to reimagine rapport theoretically, methodologically and meta methodologically. Zane Goebel and other leading sociolinguists challenge readers to think about how rapport has been constructed within these disciplines and ultimately to see rapport as an emergent co constructed social relationship that is actively built during situated multimodal encounters. The contributors collectively examine the role of ideology and mediation in the construction of rapport and argue that reconceptualizing research subject relationships is essential for establishing more sophisticated ways of understanding, interpreting and representing research context. A valuable resource for scholars and students of sociolinguistics and linguistic anthropology as well as for others engaged in ethnographic fieldwork. Reimagining Rapport is the first collection to provide an in depth investigation of this critically important but previously unexamined concept.

The Palgrave Handbook of Linguistic (Im)politeness Jonathan Culpeper, Michael Haugh, Dániel Z. Kádár, 2017-05-11 This handbook comprehensively examines social interaction by providing a critical overview of the field of linguistic politeness and impoliteness. Authored by over forty leading scholars it offers a diverse and multidisciplinary approach to a vast array of themes that are vital to the study of interpersonal communication. The chapters explore the use of im politeness in specific contexts as well as wider developments and variations across cultures and contexts in understandings of key concepts such as power, emotion, identity and ideology. Within each chapter the authors select a topic and offer a critical commentary on the key linguistic concepts associated with it, supporting their assertions with case studies that enable the reader to consider the practicalities of im politeness studies. This volume will be of interest to students and scholars of linguistics, particularly those concerned with pragmatics, sociolinguistics and interpersonal communication. Its multidisciplinary nature means that it is also relevant to researchers across the social sciences and humanities, particularly those working in sociology, psychology and history.

Politeness in Professional Contexts Dawn Archer, Karen Grainger, Piotr Jagodziński, 2020-08-15. Much like in everyday life, politeness is key to the smooth running of relationships and interactions. Professional contexts, however, tend to be characterised by a plethora of behaviours that may be specific to that context. They include polite behaviours, impolite behaviours and behaviours that arguably fall somewhere between or outside such concepts. The twelve chapters making up this edited collection explore these behaviours in a range of communication contexts representative of business, medical, legal and security settings. Between them, the contributions will help readers to theorize about and, in some cases, operationalize im politeness and related behaviours for these real world settings. The authors take a broad yet theoretically underpinned definition of politeness and use it to help explain, analyse and inform professional interactions. They demonstrate the importance of understanding how interactions are negotiated and managed in professional settings. The edited collection has something to offer, therefore, to academics, professionals and practitioners alike.
