Retrieving Nature Education For A Posthumanist Age:

Essays on Nature and the Philosophy of Environmental Education Michael Bonnett, Justin Dillon, Alan Reid, 2025-09-26 This volume identifies and debates important elements of what would be involved in an education that is truly adequate for the environmental situation that currently confronts us The chapters in the book present a wide variety of perspectives and raise questions about much mainstream environmental education particularly the heavy emphasis given to science in understanding environmental problems and to technology for solving them Contributions argue that there are other equally if not more important aspects to be considered notably our underlying attitudes towards nature and the quality of our underlying relationship with it They raise questions about what we mean by nature and how we come to know it most authentically in its many facets The overweening anthropocentrism and desire for mastery that informs much of current Western engagement with nature is revealed as stymying our ability properly to recognise nature's intrinsic value and moral standing Consideration is given to the need for a curriculum in which morality poetry and myth art and the humanities have key roles to play and where our understandings of the qualities of time and space that frame the curriculum are refreshed The majority of the chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Environmental Education Research

Environmental Consciousness, Nature and the Philosophy of Education Michael Bonnett, 2020-12-30 This book explores alternative ways of understanding our environmental situation by challenging the Western view of nature as purely a resource for humans Environmental Consciousness Nature and the Philosophy of Education asserts that we need to retrieve a thinking that expresses a different relationship with nature one that celebrates nature's otherness and is attuned to its intrinsic integrity agency normativity and worth Through such receptivity to nature's address we can develop a sense of our own being in nature that provides a positive orientation towards the problems we now face Michael Bonnett argues that this reframing and rethinking of our place in nature has fundamental implications for education as a whole questioning the idea of human stewardship of nature and developing the idea of moral education in a world of alterity and non rational agents Drawing on and revising work published by the author over the last 15 years this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of environmental studies environmental education and the philosophy of education Exploring Education

Through Phenomenology Gloria Dall'Alba, 2010-01-15 This book explores the resurgence of interest in phenomenology as a philosophy and research movement among scholars in education the humanities and social sciences Brings together a series of essays by an international team of philosophers and educationalists Juxtaposes diverse approaches to phenomenological inquiry and addresses questions of significance for education today Demonstrates why phenomenology is a contemporary movement that is both dynamic and varied Highlights ways in which phenomenology can inform a broad range of aspects of educational theorising and practice including learning through the body writing online being an authentic teacher ambiguities in becoming professionals and school transition Post-Sustainability and Environmental Education Bob

Jickling, Stephen Sterling, 2017-03-17 This book provides a critique of over two decades of sustained effort to infuse educational systems with education for sustainable development Taking to heart the idea that deconstruction is a prelude to reconstruction this critique leads to discussions about how education can be remade and respond to the educational imperatives of our time particularly as they relate to ecological crises and human nature relationships It will be of great interest to students and researchers of sociology education philosophy and environmental issues Thinking, Childhood, and Time Walter Omar Kohan, Barbara Weber, 2020-10-06 Thinking Childhood and Time Contemporary Perspectives on the Politics of Education is an interdisciplinary exploration of the notion of childhood and its place in a philosophical education Contributors consider children's experiences of time space embodiment and thinking By acknowledging Hannah Arendt's notion that every child brings a new beginning into the world they address the question of how educators can be more responsive to the Otherness that childhood offers while assuming that most educational models follow either a chronological model of child development or view children as human beings that are lacking The contributors explore childhood as a philosophical concept in children adults and even beyond human beings Childhood as a forgotten dimension of the world Contributors also argue that a pedagogy that does not aim for an exodus of childhood but rather responds to the arrival of a new human being responsibly dialogically fosters a deeper appreciation of the newness that children bring in order to sensitize us for our own Childhood as adults as well and allow us to welcome other forms of childhood in the world As a whole this book argues that the experience of natality such as the beginning of life is not chronologically determined but rather can occur more than once in a human life and beyond Scholars of philosophy education psychology and childhood studies will find this book particularly useful The Cambridge Primary Review Research Surveys Robin Alexander, Christine Doddington, John Gray, Linda Hargreaves, Ruth Kershner, 2012-08-06 The Cambridge Primary Review Research Surveys is the outcome of the Cambridge Primary Review England's biggest enquiry into primary education for over forty years Fully independent of government it was launched in 2006 to investigate the condition and future of primary education at a time of change and uncertainty and after two decades of almost uninterrupted reform Ranging over ten broad themes and drawing on a vast array of evidence the Review published thirty one interim reports including twenty eight surveys of published research provoking media headlines and public debate before presenting its final report and recommendations This book brings together the twenty eight research surveys specially commissioned from sixty five leading academics in the areas under scrutiny and now revised and updated to create what is probably the most comprehensive overview and evaluation of research in primary education yet published A particular feature is the prominence given to international and comparative perspectives With an introduction from Robin Alexander the Review's director the book is divided into eight sections covering children's lives and voices school home and community children's development learning diversity and needs aims values and contexts for primary education the structure and content of primary education outcomes standards and assessment in primary education teaching in primary schools structures and processes teaching in primary schools training development and workforce reform policy frameworks governance funding reform and quality assurance The Cambridge Primary Review Research Surveys is an essential reference tool for professionals researchers students and policy makers working in the fields of early years primary and secondary education Sustainable and Democratic Education Sarah Chave,2020-12-20 In a world struggling with environmental and social problems resistant to current solutions education needs to explore ways to enlarge the space of the possible rather than only replicate the existing possible To respond to this challenge this book troubles dominant Western philosophical conceptions which continue to have wide ranging influence in education worldwide and which limit more sustainable ways to be in the world together It argues for the importance of opening spaces in and through which unique subjects can emerge bringing potential for new ways of being and as yet unimagined futures The book makes a valuable contribution to international growing interest in Arendtian thinking complexity and emergence feminist thinking the emerging field of anticipation studies the posthuman and engagement with Indigenous scholarship and practices in ways which attempt to be non appropriating Sustainability continues to be a vital theme in education and the book responds to a desire to encourage education which invites more sustainable processes and ways of being in addition to education which limits itself to teaching about or for sustainability Sustainable and Democratic Education will be of great interest to academics and practitioners working with sustainability Indigenous scholarship complexity theory and the posthuman and what these ideas can mean in and for education Science | Environment | Health Albert Zeyer,Regula Kyburz-Graber,2012-05-24 Health and the environment are important learning areas in science education and their significance is growing Not only do they have high social relevance but they are also close to students interests and needs They provide many opportunities to unlock science with questions that are personally relevant to boys and girls and that inspire them to engage in science This book contains a selection of papers from prominent professionals in science health and environmental education who reflect on science education each from their specific point of view The core idea is to present well founded perspectives on how science education may benefit from challenges stemming from both health and environmental education Specific reasons are discussed as to why these two areas are particularly legitimized to challenge science education and their potential impact on a revision of science education is evaluated A new pedagogy for science environment health that yields interesting and relevant science education for students and teachers and addresses the grand challenges of this century what an attractive and rewarding project The book will motivate teachers teacher educators and science education researchers to take part in this on going project SAGE Handbook of Education for Citizenship and Democracy James Arthur,Ian Davies,Carole Hahn,2008-07-01 This handbook brings together new work by some of the leading authorities on citizenship education and is divided into five sections The first section deals with key ideas about citizenship education including democracy rights globalization and equity Section two contains a wide range of national case studies of citizenship education including African Asian Australian European and North and South American examples The third section focuses on perspectives about citizenship education with discussions about key areas such as sustainable development anti racism gender Section four provides insights into different characterisations of citizenship education with illustrations of democratic schools peace and conflict education global education human rights education etc The final section provides a series of chapters on the pedagogy of citizenship education with discussions about curriculum teaching learning and assessment

Beyond Learning by Doing Jay W. Roberts, 2012-03-22 EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION

This book brings a thoughtful and refreshing perspective on experiential education Educators interested in outdoor learning service learning and place based learning will find in Roberts analysis a critical understanding of what learning by doing means Dilafruz Williams Portland State University What is experiential education What are its theoretical roots Where does this approach come from Offering a fresh and distinctive take this book is about going beyond learning by doing through an exploration of its underlying theoretical currents As an increasingly popular pedagogical approach experiential education encompasses a variety of curriculum projects from outdoor and environmental education to service learning and place based education While each of these sub fields has its own history and particular approach they draw from the same progressive intellectual taproot Each in its own way evokes the power of learning by doing and direct experience in the educational process By unpacking the assumed homogeneity in these terms to reveal the underlying diversity of perspectives inherent in their usage this book allows readers to see how the approaches connect to larger conversations and histories in education and social theory placing experiential education in social and historical context Combining a critical philosophical approach with practical examples from the field Beyond Learning by Doing gives readers both an excellent summary of the theoretical histories of experiential education and a thesis driven argument about the current state of the field and its future possibilities and limitations Jay W Roberts is Associate Professor of Education and Environmental Studies Earlham College Provided by publisher
