Return To Auschwitz:

Return to Auschwitz Kitty Hart, 1981 Return to Auschwitz Kitty Hart, 2000 Untimely Interventions Leigh Ross Chambers, 2009-12-22 As atrocity has become characteristic of modern history testimonial writing has become a major twentieth century genre Untimely Interventions relates testimonial writing or witnessing to the cultural situation of aftermath exploring ways in which a culture can be haunted by its own history Ross Chambers argues that culture produces itself as civilized by denying the forms of collective violence and other traumatic experience that it cannot control In the context of such denial personal accounts of collective disaster can function as a form of counter denial By investigating a range of writing on AIDS the First World War and the Holocaust Chambers shows how such writing produces a rhetorical effect of haunting as it seeks to describe the reality of those experiences culture renders unspeakable Ross Chambers is Professor of Romance Languages at the University of Michigan His other books include Facing It AIDS Diaries and the Death of the Author

While America Watches : Televising the Holocaust Skirball Department of Hebrew and Judaic Studies New York University Jeffrey Shandler Dorot Teaching Fellow, 1999-02-04 The Holocaust holds a unique place in American public culture and as Jeffrey Shandler argues in While America Watches it is television more than any other medium that has brought the Holocaust into our homes our hearts and our minds Much has been written about Holocaust film and literature and yet the medium that brings the subject to most people television has been largely neglected Now Shandler provides the first account of how television has familiarized the American people with the Holocaust He starts with wartime newsreels of liberated concentration camps showing how they set the moral tone for viewing scenes of genocide and then moves to television to explain how the Holocaust and the Holocaust survivor have gained stature as moral symbols in American culture From early teleplays to coverage of the Eichmann trial and the Holocaust miniseries as well as documentaries popular series such as All in the Family and Star Trek and news reports of recent interethnic violence in Bosnia Shandler offers an enlightening tour of television history Shandler also examines the many controversies that televised presentations of the Holocaust have sparked demonstrating how their impact extends well beyond the broadcasts themselves While America Watches is sure to continue this discussion and possibly the controversies among many readers

Emil L. Fackenheim David Patterson, 2008-03-14 In this revealing book David Patterson explores Fackenheim's rigorous pursuit of a philosophical response to the tragedy of the Holocaust Fackenheim's writing sheds light on the tensions between Jewish thinking and German philosophy illustrating how elements of the latter were used by the Nazis to justify Jewish annihilation

Remembering the Holocaust Esther Jilovsky, 2015-08-27 An intriguing analysis of how place constructs memory and how memory constructs place Remembering the Holocaust shows how visiting sites such as Auschwitz shapes the transfer of Holocaust memory from one generation to the next Through the discussion of a range of memoirs and novels including Landscapes of Memory by Ruth Kluger Too Many Men by Lily Brett The War After by Anne Karpf and Everything is

Illuminated by Jonathan Safran Foer Remembering the Holocaust reveals the pivotal yet complicated role of place in each generation's writing about the Holocaust This book provides an insightful and nuanced investigation of the effect of the Holocaust upon families from survivors of the genocide to members of the second and even third generations of families involved By deploying an innovative combination of generational and literary study of Holocaust survivor families focussed on place Remembering the Holocaust makes an important contribution to the field of Holocaust Studies that will be of interest to scholars and anyone interested in Holocaust remembrance

My Father and I David Caron, 2011-02-23 It is a living museum of a long gone Jewish life and supposedly a testimony to the success of the French model of social integration It is a communal home where gay men and women are said to stand in defiance of the French model of social integration It is a place of freedom and tolerance where people of color and lesbians nevertheless feel unwanted and where young Zionists from the suburbs gather every Sunday and sometimes harass Arabs It is a hot topic in the press and on television It is open to the world and open for business It is a place to be seen and a place of invisibility It is like a home to me a place where I feel both safe and out of place and where my father felt comfortable and alienated at the same time It is a place of nostalgia innovation shame pride and anxiety where the local and the global intersect for better and for worse And for better and for worse it is a French neighborhood from My Father and I Mixing personal memoir urban studies cultural history and literary criticism as well as a generous selection of photographs My Father and I focuses on the Marais the oldest surviving neighborhood of Paris It also beautifully reveals the intricacies of the relationship between a Jewish father and a gay son each claiming the same neighborhood as his own Beginning with the history of the Marais and its significance in the construction of a French national identity David Caron proposes a rethinking of community and looks at how Jews Chinese immigrants and gays have made the Marais theirs These communities embody in their engagement of urban space a daily challenge to the French concept of universal citizenship that denies them all political legitimacy Caron moves from the strictly French context to more theoretical issues such as social and political archaism immigration and diaspora survival and haunting the public private divide and group friendship as metaphor for unruly and dynamic forms of community and founding disasters such as AIDS and the Holocaust Caron also tells the story of his father a Hungarian Jew and Holocaust survivor who immigrated to France and once called the Marais home

Holocaust Memory in the Digital Age Jeffrey Shandler, 2017-09-12 Holocaust Memory in the Digital Age explores the nexus of new media and memory practices raising questions about how advances in digital technologies continue to influence the nature of Holocaust memorialization Through an in depth study of the largest and most widely available collection of videotaped interviews with survivors and other witnesses to the Holocaust the University of Southern California Shoah Foundation's Visual History Archive Jeffrey Shandler weighs the possibilities and challenges brought about by digital forms of public memory The Visual History Archive's holdings are extensive over 100 000 hours of video including interviews with over 50 000 individuals and came about at a time of heightened anxiety about the imminent passing of the generation of Holocaust survivors and other eyewitnesses Now the Shoah Foundation s investment in new digital media is instrumental to its commitment to remembering the Holocaust both as a subject of historical importance in its own right and as a paradigmatic moral exhortation against intolerance Shandler not only considers the Archive as a whole but also looks closely at individual survivors stories focusing on narrative language and spectacle to understand how Holocaust remembrance is mediated

Digital Holocaust Memory, Education and Research Victoria Grace Walden, 2021-12-03 This book explores the diverse range of practical and theoretical challenges and possibilities that digital technologies and platforms pose for Holocaust memory education and research From social media to virtual reality 360 degree imaging to machine learning there can be no doubt that digital media penetrate practice in these fields As the Holocaust moves beyond living memory towards solely mediated memory it is imperative that we pay critical attention to the way digital technologies are shaping public memory and education and research Bringing together the voices of heritage and educational professionals and academics from the arts and humanities and the social sciences this interdisciplinary collection explores the practicalities of creating digital Holocaust projects the educational value of such initiatives and considers the extent to which digital technologies change the way we remember learn about and research the Holocaust thinking through issues such as ethics embodiment agency community and immersion At its core this volume interrogates the extent to which digital interventions in these fields mark an epochal shift in Holocaust memory education and research or whether they continue to be shaped by long standing debates and guidelines developed in the broadcast era
