Revising Herself The Story Of Womens Identity From College To Midlife:

Revising Herself Ruthellen Josselson, 1998-04-23 In 1972 Ruthellen Josselson was a young psychologist fascinated by the riddle of how a woman creates an identity and chooses one path over another in life particularly in the face of the nascent feminist movement which challenged as never before the traditional role models of earlier generations Selecting at random thirty young women in their last year of college Josselson undertook a ground breaking study that would follow these women s personal odysseys over the next twenty two years from graduation to midlife What she learned about the ways women reinvent themselves in an ever changing world is the subject of Revising Herself a myth shattering look at both a unique generation of American women on the front lines of wrenching social change and at the conflicts and compromises facing women today With stunning candor and hard won insight the ordinary and anonymous women in Josselson s study reveal how much more complex and interesting real women s lives are than the one dimensional stereotypes often portrayed in the media Dismissing a traditional stage theory of development as overly simplistic Josselson identifies four trajectories that women take from adolescence to adulthood Guardians are the good girls high achieving and committed to fulfilling their family s expectations but rigid in outlook and resistant to change Pathmakers are not afraid of risk or commitment striving to balance their own needs with others The often idealistic Searchers are overwhelmed by choice and unable to make commitments while Drifters live only for the moment avoiding choice and an exploration of identity Reflecting the degree to which women take risks make choices and form commitments these paths form a foundation for adulthood but they also lead to surprises at midlife Guardians seem strikingly able to cut loose from earlier traditional patterns while many Drifters have found themselves sometimes in quite traditional ways And coming of age just as the feminist movement gathered momentum the women in Josselson s study were the first to confront many contemporary issues not faced by their mothers or their mothers mothers How does an Irish Catholic contemplate an abortion How does a woman whose parents believe education is wasted on a daughter find the will to apply to medical school In examining these questions and others Josselson shows that the forging of a woman s identity whatever her path is ongoing a balancing of the need for self assertion against the equally compelling need for relationships Women create their identities along the seams of both competence and connection and continually revise what they have made Allowing women to define themselves in their own terms Revising Herself holds up a provocative mirror in which readers can reflect upon their own life choices Whether a Guardian Pathmaker Searcher or Drifter readers will recognize themselves in these women s experiences and gain new insight into how we construct our identities over a lifetime

Revising Herself Ruthellen Josselson, 1998-03-01 In 1972 Ruthellen Josselson was a young psychologist fascinated by the riddle of how a woman creates an identity and chooses one path over another in life particularly in the face of the nascent feminist movement which challenged as never before the traditional role models of earlier generations Selecting at random thirty young women in their last year of college Josselson undertook a ground breaking study that would follow these women's personal odysseys over the next twenty two years from graduation to midlife. What she learned about the ways women reinvent themselves in an ever changing world is the subject of Revising Herself a myth shattering look at both a unique generation of American women on the front lines of wrenching social change and at the conflicts and compromises facing women today. With stunning candor and hard won insight the ordinary and anonymous women in Josselson's study reveal how much more complex and interesting real women's lives are than the one dimensional stereotypes often portrayed in the media. Dismissing a traditional stage theory of development as overly simplistic Josselson identifies four trajectories that women take from adolescence to adulthood. Guardians are the good girls high achieving and committed to fulfilling their family's expectations but rigid in outlook and resistant to change. Pathmakers are not afraid of risk or commitment striving to balance their own needs with others. The often idealistic Searchers are overwhelmed by choice and unable to make commitments while Drifters live only for the moment avoiding choice and an exploration of identity. Reflecting the degree to which women take risks make choices and form commitments these paths form a foundation for adulthood but they also lead to surprises at midlife. Guardians seem strikingly able to cut loose from earlier traditional patterns while many Drifters have found themselves sometimes in quite traditional ways. And coming of age just as the feminist movement gathered momentum the women in Josselson's study were the first to confront many contemporary issues not faced by their mothers or their mothers' mothers. How does an Irish Catholic contemplate an abortion? How does a woman whose parents believe education is wasted on a daughter find the will to apply to medical school? In examining these questions and others Josselson shows that the forging of a woman's identity whatever her path is ongoing a balancing of the need for self assertion against the equally compelling need for relationships. Women create their identities along the seams of both competence and connection and continually revise what they have made. Allowing women to define themselves in their own terms Revising Herself holds up a provocative mirror in which readers can reflect upon their own life choices. Whether a Guardian Pathmaker Searcher or Drifter readers will recognize themselves in these women's experiences and gain new insight into how we construct our identities over a lifetime.

Identity Development Jane Kroger, 2007. This is the one book that I recommend as authoritative on life span identity development. Written in a lively style with examples both numerous and apt it helps practitioners and social planners to become current with research findings and it provides researchers with both the necessary background and intriguing new ideas to advance their work. University instructors will find it invaluable as a text for a seminar in identity development as well as a highly useful supplement for courses in life span development adolescence through late adulthood and personality theory. Kroger has written that rare book that is highly informative useful and a pleasure to read. James E. Marcia, Simon Fraser University, British Columbia. This volume highlights identity development from early adolescence through late adulthood and provides a valuable resource for university students as well as human services professionals. This Second Edition of Identity Development: Adolescence Through Adulthood presents an overview of the five general theoretical orientations to the question of what constitutes identity as well as the strengths and limitations of each approach The volume then describes key biological psychological and contextual issues during each phase of adolescence and adulthood Following these major adolescence and adulthood sections selected issues that may pose identity challenges for some are presented New to the Second Edition A thorough updating of key theories researches and demographic information on the course and contents of identity development from adolescence through adulthood An international focus in the selection of research used to examine key issues A discussion of measurement techniques used within various theoretical orientations to investigate issues of identity A contemporary critical analysis of current identity research within an Eriksonian framework Lesbian Epiphanies Karol L Jensen, 2013-12-02 Exploring identity development and gender orientation Lesbian Epiphanies Women Coming Out in Later Life contains firsthand information about the experiences and difficulties of women who discover and reveal their newfound lesbian sexuality in later life Psychologists social workers counselors and professors will find that Lesbian Epiphanies is the first book to extensively quote from interviews of lesbians and bisexuals who had entered into heterosexual marriages From the analysis of these 24 interviews the psychological erotic and social processes of women who come out as lesbians or bisexuals after a heterosexual marriage are clearly explained so you can better assist your clients throughout this coming out process Discussing the personal and societal standards which clouded early self awareness for these women Lesbian Epiphanies lifts the veil of confusion to clearly illuminate the issues at hand to assist you in understanding and helping your clients From the case studies in this important book you will learn how some women came to realize their same gender attractions and the barriers they faced including negative attitudes toward lesbian women and the lack of strong role models Helpful and informative Lesbian Epiphanies explores the development of sexual identity in women in the United States today and provides you with essential information to help you improve your services to lesbian and bisexual clients by examining how the role of marriage in American culture stifles a woman's self awareness of her sexuality in order to help clients avoid the mistake of a heterosexual marriage before husbands and children are involved examining reasons behind the lack of valuable sexual information in America that limits a woman's general awareness of herself her body her sexuality and her life options understanding the challenges that lesbians and bisexuals experience when attempting to establish their true identities to assist your clients in overcoming these barriers suggesting support groups for clients who are having a difficult time becoming used to the ideas and feelings of some same gender attractions This insightful book knocks down the sociological and psychological barriers that keep women from realizing or acknowledging their real sexual orientation by dispelling societal and cultural myths about what it means to be a woman in the United States Offering you invaluable advice on how to help clients effectively and happily live with their new identities Lesbian Epiphanies provides solutions to the challenges that women experience in establishing their other than heterosexual orientation in a heterosexist society Developing Social Justice Allies Robert

D. Reason, Ellen M. Broido, Tracy Davis, Nancy J. Motulsky, Amy Rutstein-Riley, 2019-12-01 Learning and identity development are lifetime processes of becoming The construction of self of interest to scholars and practitioners in adult development and adult learning is an ongoing process with the self both forming and being formed by lived experience in privileged and oppressive contexts Intersecting identities and the power dynamics within them shape how learners define themselves and others and how they make meaning of their experiences in the world I Am What I Become Constructing Identities as Lifelong Learners is an insightful and diverse collection of empirical research and narrative essays in identity development adult development and adult learning The purpose of this series is to publish contributions that highlight the intimate connections between learning and identity Our aim is to promote reflection and research at the intersection of identity and adult learning at any point across the adult lifespan and in any space where learning occurs in school at work or in community The series aims to assist our readers to understand and nurture adults who are always in the process of becoming Adult educators adult development scholars counselors psychologists and sociologists along with education and training professionals in formal and informal learning settings will revel in the rich array of qualitative research designs methods and findings as well as autobiographies and narrative essays that transform and expand our understanding of the lived experience of people both like us and unlike us from the U S and beyond Volume One Identity and Lifelong Learning in Higher Education contains chapters by and about post secondary educators and students Together these chapters enhance our understanding of the inextricable link between learning and identity

Identity, Formation, Agency, and Culture James E. Cote, Charles G. Levine, 2014-04-04 This authored book reviews the difficulties and complexities of identity formation It builds the basis of a theory with which to understand identity problems and shows how the theory can be applied It is the 1st comprehensive source on identity issues Black Girls Experiencing

Their Intersectional Identities in School Crystal L. Edwards, 2019-10-17 Black Girls Experiencing Their Intersectional Identities in School explores the subjective experience of Black girls within the educational context. Based on interviews, diary entries, and focus groups, the author argues that as a result of their intersectional identities, Black girls experience unique challenges and obstacles in the educational setting. Addressing topics ranging from interpersonal relationships, social media, beauty, sexuality, hypervisibility, invisibility, and microaggressions, this book highlights the voices and experiences of Black girls between the ages of 11 and 15. The Girls provide a narrative account of the challenges they face daily in the educational context, describing in detail the factors that maintain and perpetuate volatile conditions. Additionally, this book explores the coping strategies that this group of Black girls developed to resist and respond to the daily obstacles. Ultimately, this book not only identifies the unique struggles faced by Black girls in schools as a result of their intersectional identities but most importantly, this work explores pragmatic strategies that can be implemented to create safe and beneficial spaces for Black Girls. The author argues that through the implementation of Black Feminist Pedagogy, an Ethic of Caring, and partnerships with Black Girl Empowerment organizations, educational practitioners can mediate the negative experiences and create spaces for growth.

The Future of Identity Kenneth R. Hoover, 2004-01-01 Erik Erikson's lifetime of clinical and interdisciplinary work on human development centered on the formation and maintenance of identity among people of diverse backgrounds. In this volume, key scholars of identity from various disciplines, some who knew and worked with Erikson, discuss and assess his legacy. Truly transdisciplinary in scope, Erikson and his scholarship begs to be revisited by psychologists, sociologists, anthropologists, and students of cultural studies.

Handbook of Adolescent Development Sandy Jackson, Luc Goossens, 2020-01-29 Handbook of Adolescent Development fills a gap in the literature on adolescent development and behaviour. All of the authors of the various chapters were invited to include as many findings on European adolescents as possible. Through this specific emphasis, the handbook provides a complement to other reviews of the literature that are mostly based on North American samples. The contributors are all eminent researchers in the field, and the individual chapters cover their specific areas of expertise. Theories of adolescence along with emotional, physical, and cognitive issues are explored. Topics covered include families, peer relations, school, and leisure time, as well as problem areas such as depression, drug consumption, and delinquency. Handbook of Adolescent Development also incorporates a comprehensive review of the literature in the area and considers avenues for future research. This multidisciplinary text will be of interest to those studying and researching in the fields of developmental psychology, sociology, demography, epidemiology, and criminology.
