

People do funny things and tell jokes.

It's very short and we watch it between programmes.

It's often exciting. People do different things and win prizes.

It gives us information about important events.

We can find what the weather is like - if it's sunny, rainy, snowy, hot or cold.

We can watch volleyball, skiing, football.

It's long and we can watch it at the cinema.

People sing songs and play instruments.

It's funny. The people are not real on this programme.

A presenter asks questions and people answer them to win prizes.

People talk about different topics.

We learn about animals, plants and our planet.

Revision Art Programmes Of European Television Stations:

Revision Dorine Mignot, 1987 Revision: Art Programmes of European Television Stations Dorine Mignot, 1987 Art in the Cinema Steven Jacobs, Birgit Cleppe, Dimitrios Latsis, 2020-10-15 In the 1940s and 1950s hundreds of art documentaries were produced many of them being highly personal poetic reflexive and experimental films that offer a thrilling cinematic experience With the exception of Alain Resnais's Van Gogh 1948 Henri Georges Clouzot's Le Mystère Picasso 1956 and a few others most of them have received only scant scholarly attention This book aims to rectify this situation by discussing the most lyrical experimental and influential post war art documentaries connecting them to contemporaneous museological developments and Euro American cultural and political relationships With contributors with expertise across art history and film studies Art in the Cinema draws attention to film projects by Andr  Bazin Ilya Bolotowsky Paul Haesaerts Carlo Ragghianti John Read Dudley Shaw Aston Henri Storck and Willard Van Dyke among others Arts TV John Albert Walker, 1993 From Monitor to The Late Show British television programs featuring the visual arts are profiled here The various types or genres of arts programs are identified including review programs strand series drama documentaries and artists profiles and a chronological account of their evolution from 1936 to the 1990s is provided Major series such as Civilization Ways of Seeing Shock of the New State of the Art and Relative Values are examined in detail A Companion to Documentary Film History Joshua Malitsky, 2021-04-13 This volume offers a new and expanded history of the documentary form across a range of times and contexts featuring original essays by leading historians in the field In a contemporary media culture suffused with competing truth claims documentary media have become one of the most significant means through which we think in depth about the past The most rigorous collection of essays on nonfiction film and media history and historiography currently available A Companion to Documentary Film History offers an in depth global examination of central historical issues and approaches in documentary and of documentary's engagement with historical and contemporary topics debates and themes The Companion's twenty original essays by prominent nonfiction film and media historians challenge prevalent conceptions of what documentary is and was and explore its growth development and function over time The authors provide fresh insights on the mode's reception geographies authorship multimedia contexts and movements and address documentary's many aesthetic industrial historiographical and social dimensions This authoritative volume Offers both historical specificity and conceptual flexibility in approaching nonfiction and documentary media Explores documentary's multiple complex geographic and geopolitical frameworks Covers a diversity of national and historical contexts including Revolution era Soviet Union post World War Two Canada and Europe and contemporary China Establishes new connections and interpretive contexts for key individual films and film movements using new primary sources Interrogates established assumptions about documentary authorship audiences and documentary's historical connection to other media practices A Companion to Documentary Film History is an ideal text for undergraduate and graduate courses covering documentary or nonfiction film and media an excellent supplement for courses on national or regional media histories and an important new resource for all film and media studies scholars particularly those in nonfiction media

Art in Motion, Revised Edition Maureen Furniss, 2008-02-05 This text presents an examination of the aesthetics of animation It provides an overview of the relationship between animation studies and media studies then focuses on issues concerning flat and dimensional and limited and full animation It then looks at specific topics such as gender issues and adaption

Research Handbook on EU Media Law and Policy Parcu, Pier L., Brogi, Elda, 2021-09-21 This cutting edge Research Handbook presents a comprehensive overview of the European Union's influence on the regulation of the media sector in the digital age It explores and compares several areas of European legislation that have an impact on the media sector defined in a broad sense for its capacity to influence the public opinion at large

Media art net Rudolf Frieeling, Dieter Daniels, 2004 This text reader presented together with the Internet art project www.mediaartnet.org presents a panorama of international media art and its contexts The book features the most important essays accompanied online by multimedia and audiovisual representations of media art Text German English

Public Broadcasting and European Law Irini Katsirea, 2008-01-01 Although EU Member States share a tradition of regulating public broadcasting for the public interest such regulation has been in decline in recent years It has been challenged by the emergence of commercial television sworn to the market logic as well as by satellite services and the Internet EU law and policy has under pressure from powerful global forces abetted that decline The question thus arises Do cultural values still matter in European national broadcasting This important book examines the challenges posed to public service obligations by European Union media law and policy An in depth analysis of the extent to which six countries France Germany Greece Italy the Netherlands and the United Kingdom regulate broadcasting for the public interest reveals a range of vulnerability to national political pressures or alternatively to the ideology of market sovereignty The author examines the country of origin principle and the European quota rule of the Television without Frontiers Directive revealing the influence of European law on the definition and enforcement of programme requirements and shows how the case law of the European Court of Justice encourages deregulation at the national level without offering adequate safeguards at the supranational level in exchange She asks the question whether the alleged European audiovisual model actually persists that is whether broadcasting is still committed to protecting such values as cultural diversity the safety of minors the susceptibility of consumers to advertising media pluralism and the fight against racial and religious hatred The book concludes with an evaluation of the impact of the EU state aid regime on the licence fee based financing of public broadcasting Despite the increasing importance of the subject its study in a comparative context has been heretofore underdeveloped This book fully provides that context and more and will be of great value and interest to all parties concerned with the key role of communications in the development of European integration
