Revisioning The Past History Of Early Photography In Bengal 1875 1915:

Re-visioning the Past Malavika Karlekar, 2005 This book of photographs taken in Bengal during the period 1875 1915 aims to introduce a new dimension to the experience of colonialism in Bengal and reconstructs a history of growing urban Bengali middle class society

Liminalities of Gender and Sexuality in Nineteenth-Century Iranian Photography Staci Gem Scheiwiller, 2016-12-01 Nineteenth century Iran was an ocularcentered society predicated on visibility and what was seen and unseen and photographs became liminal sites of desire that maneuvered betwixt and between various social spaces public private seen unseen accessible and forbidden thus mapping graphing and even transgressing those spaces especially in light of increasing modernization and global contact during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Of primary interest is how photographs negotiated and coded gender sexuality and desire becoming strategies of empowerment of domination of expression and of being seen Hence the photograph became a vehicle to traverse multiple locations that various gendered physical bodies could not and it was also the social and political relations that had preceded the photograph that determined those ideological spaces of im mobility In identifying these notions in photographs one may glean information about how modern Iran metamorphosed throughout its own long dur e or resisted those societal transformations as a result of modernization

The Arab Imago Stephen Sheehi, 2021-08-10 The first history of indigenous photography in the Middle East The birth of photography coincided with the expansion of European imperialism in the Middle East and some of the medium s earliest images are Orientalist pictures taken by Europeans in such places as Cairo and Jerusalem photographs that have long shaped and distorted the Western visual imagination of the region But the Middle East had many of its own photographers collectors and patrons In this book Stephen Sheehi presents a groundbreaking new account of early photography in the Arab world The Arab Imago concentrates primarily on studio portraits by Arab and Armenian photographers in the late Ottoman Empire Examining previously known studios such as Abdullah Fr res Pascal S bah Garabed Krikorian and Khalil Raad the book also provides the first account of other pioneers such as Georges and Louis Sabounji the Kova Brothers Muhammad Sadiq Bey and Ibrahim Rif at Pasha as well as the first detailed look at early photographs of the annual pilgrimage to Mecca In addition the book explores indigenous photography manuals and albums newspapers scientific journals and fiction Featuring extensive previously unpublished images The Arab Imago shows how native photography played an essential role in the creation of modern Arab societies in Egypt Palestine Syria and Lebanon before the First World War At the same time the book overturns Eurocentric and Orientalist understandings of indigenous photography and challenges previous histories of the medium

Boundaries of the Self Debalina Banerjee, 2014-06-02 This book addresses the intersections between gender and identity by critically examining female spaces It has famously been argued that men and women are made in culture As such this volume explores how spaces social political cultural historical and even cyber affect the creative personal urban and global identities of women The scholarly approaches of the contributors here probe into these spaces and analyze the problematic of gender identities as they are constructed reconstructed or deconstructed through processes of appropriation subversion and signification The functional politics of patriarchy influences a range of networks that include social cultural political and religious archetypes This book will open new vistas in women s studies through dialogues and discussions on the various facets of Space and how in turn they generate the rhetoric of agency and power or again how they annihilate attempts at emancipation and empowerment Furthermore the book explores the diversity of women s experiences and their contributions across cultures and examines knowledge and practices in the light of gender differences suggesting new ways to conceptualize the relations between the self and the ever changing global communities Its interdisciplinary nature drawing on the humanities arts social sciences will give it a wide readership among students teachers and researchers In addition since women s studies is one of the most sought after academic disciplines of the contemporary academic world this book will generate interest and contribute to the dynamic nature of women s studies research

Gandhi's Spinning Wheel and the Making of India Rebecca Brown,2010-11-03 Spinning was seen as both an economic and political activity that could bring together the diverse population of South Asia This book looks at the politics of spinning both as a visual symbol and as a symbolic practice It traces the genealogy of spinning from its early colonial manifestations in Company painting to its reinterpretation deployment and manipulation by the anti colonial movement

Plague Image and Imagination from Medieval to Modern Times Christos Lynteris,2021-07-29 This edited collection brings together new research by world leading historians and anthropologists to examine the interaction between images of plague in different temporal and spatial contexts and the imagination of the disease from the Middle Ages to today The chapters in this book illuminate to what extent the image of plague has not simply reflected but also impacted the way in which the disease is experienced in different historical periods The book asks what is the contribution of the entanglement between epidemic image and imagination to the persistence of plague as a category of human suffering across so many centuries in spite of profound shifts in our medical understanding of the disease What is it that makes plague such a visually charismatic subject And why is the medical religious and lay imagination of plague so consistently determined by the visual register In answering these questions this volume takes the study of plague images beyond its usual art historical framework so as to examine them and their relation to the imagination of plague from medical historical visual anthropological and postcolonial perspectives

Marriage and Modernity Rochona Majumdar,2009-04-13 This cultural history of the evolution of modern marriage practices in colonial Bengal shows that arranged marriage as it is practiced today is a modern practice from the colonial era

A Very Old Machine Sudhir Mahadevan,2015-10-06 In A Very Old Machine Sudhir Mahadevan shows how Indian cinema s many origins in the technologies and practices of the nineteenth century continue to play a vital and broad function in its twenty first century present He proposes that there has never been a singular cinema in India rather Indian cinema has been a multifaceted phenomenon that was and is understood experienced and present in everyday life in myriad ways Employing methods of media archaeology close textual analysis archival research and cultural theory Mahadevan digs into the history of photography print media practices of piracy and showmanship and contemporary everyday imaginations of the cinema to offer an understanding of how the cinema came to be such a dominant force of culture in India The result is an open ended and innovative account of Indian cinema s many origins The Many Worlds of Sarala Devi Sarala Devi Chaudhurani,2010 This charming book The Many Worlds of Sarala Deri and The Tagores and Sartorial Styles as the titles suggest contain two separate but related writings on the Tagores The Tagores were a pre eminent family which became synonymous with the cultural regeneration of India specifically of Bengal in the nineteenth century The Routledge Companion to Journalism in the Global South Bruce Mutsvairo,Saba Bebawi,Eddy Borges-Rey,2023-11-21 Responding to mounting calls to decenter and decolonize journalism The Routledge Companion to Journalism in the Global South examines not only the deep seated challenges associated with the historical imposition of Western journalism standards on constituencies of the Global South but also the opportunities presented to journalists and journalism educators if they choose to partake in international collaboration and education This collection returns to fundamental questions around the meaning value and practices of journalism from alternative methodological theoretical and epistemological perspectives These questions include What really is journalism Who gets to and who is qualified to define it What role do ethics play What are the current trends challenges and opportunities for journalism in the Global South How is news covered reported written and edited in non Western settings What can journalism players living and working in industrialized markets learn from their non Western colleagues and counterparts and vice versa Contributors challenge accepted universal ethical standards while showing the relevance of customs traditions and cultures in defining and shaping local and regional journalism Showcasing some of the most important research on journalism in the Global South and by journalists based in the Global South this companion is key reading for anyone researching the principles and practices of journalism from a de essentialized perspective
