Power over Peoples Daniel R.

Headrick,2012-06-28 A major history of technology and Western conquest For six hundred years the nations of Europe and North America have periodically attempted to coerce invade or conquer other societies They have relied on their superior technology to do so yet these technologies have not always guaranteed success Power over Peoples examines Western imperialism s complex relationship with technology from the first Portuguese ships that ventured down the coast of Africa in the 1430s to America s conflicts in the Middle East today Why did the sailing vessels that gave the Portuguese a century long advantage in the Indian Ocean fail to overcome Muslim galleys in the Red Sea Why were the same weapons and methods that the Spanish used to conquer Mexico and Peru ineffective in Chile and Africa Why didn t America s overwhelming air power assure success in Iraq and Afghanistan In Power over Peoples Daniel Headrick traces the evolution of Western technologies from muskets and galleons to jet planes and smart bombs and sheds light on the environmental and social factors that have brought victory in some cases and unforeseen defeat in others He shows how superior technology translates into greater power over nature and sometimes even other peoples yet how technological superiority is no guarantee of success in imperialist ventures because the technology only delivers results in a specific environment or because the society being attacked responds in unexpected ways Breathtaking in scope Power over Peoples is a revealing history of technological innovation its promise and limitations and its central role in the rise and fall of empire Some images inside the book are unavailable due to digital copyright restrictions

A new edition of the leading textbook on the economic history of Britain since industrialization. Combining the expertise of more than thirty leading historians and economists, Volume 1 tracks Britain's economic history in the period ranging from 1700 to 1870, from industrialisation to global trade and empire. Each chapter provides a clear guide to the major controversies in the field and students are shown how to connect historical evidence with economic theory and apply quantitative methods. New approaches are proposed to classic issues such as the causes and consequences of industrialisation, the role of institutions and the state, and the transition from an organic to an inorganic economy, as well as introducing new issues such as globalisation, convergence and divergence, the role of science, technology and invention, and the growth of consumerism. Throughout the volume, British experience is set within an international context and its performance benchmarked against its global competitors.

A Cultural History of Work in the Age of Enlightenment Anne Montenach, Deborah Simonton, 2020-09-17. Winner of the 2020 PROSE Award for Multivolume Reference Humanities. The Enlightenment led to revised ideas about work together with new social attitudes toward work and workers. Coupled with dynamism in the economy and the rise of the middling orders, work was more frequently perceived positively as a commodity and as a source of social respectability. This volume explores the cultural implications of the transition from older systems based on privilege, control, and embedded practices to a more open society increasingly based on merit and ability. It examines how guild controls broke down and political and commercial systems loosened. It also considers the theoretical justifications that brought new binding ideas such as the strengthening of ideology on home domesticity for the female and work and politics for the male. North America embodied the extremes of these transitions with free workers able to make their way in a society based on ability and initiative while solidifying the ravages of the slavery system. A Cultural History of Work in the Age of Enlightenment presents an overview of the period with essays on economies, representations of work, workplaces, work cultures, technology, mobility, society, politics, and leisure.
