America's Geisha Ally Naoko Shibusawa, 2010-01-01 During World War II Japan was vilified by America as our hated enemy in the East Though we distinguished good Germans from the Nazis we condemned all Japanese indiscriminately as fanatics and savages As the Cold War heated up however the U S government decided to make Japan its bulwark against communism in Asia But how was the American public made to accept an alliance with Japan so soon after the Japs had been demonized as subhuman bucktoothed apes with Coke bottle glasses In this revelatory work Naoko Shibusawa charts the remarkable reversal from hated enemy to valuable ally that occurred in the two decades after the war While General MacArthur's Occupation Forces pursued our nation's strategic goals in Japan liberal American politicians journalists and filmmakers pursued an equally essential though long unrecognized goal the dissemination of a new and palatable image of the Japanese among the American public With extensive research from Occupation memoirs to military records from court documents to Hollywood films and from charity initiatives to newspaper and magazine articles Shibusawa demonstrates how the evil enemy was rendered as a feminized submissive nation as an immature youth that needed America's benevolent hand to guide it toward democracy Interestingly Shibusawa reveals how this obsession with race gender and maturity reflected America's own anxieties about race relations and equity between the sexes in the postwar world America's Geisha Ally is an exploration of how belligerents reconcile themselves in the wake of war but also offers insight into how a new superpower adjusts to its role as the world's preeminent force

Marriage and Marriageability Chigusa Yamaura, 2020-07-15 How do the Japanese men and Chinese women who participate in cross border matchmaking individuals whose only interaction is often just one brief meeting come to see one another as potential marriage partners Motivated by this question Chigusa Yamaura traces the practices of Sino Japanese matchmaking from transnational marriage agencies in Tokyo to branch offices and language schools in China from initial meetings to marriage the visa application processes and beyond to marital life in Japan Engaging issues of colonial history local norms and the very ability to conceive of another or oneself as marriageable Marriage and Marriageability rethinks cross border marriage not only as a form of gendered migration but also as a set of practices that constructs marriageable partners and imaginable marriages Yamaura shows that instead of desiring different others these transnational marital relations are based on the tactical deployment of socially and historically created conceptions of proximity between Japan and northeast China Far from seeking to escape local practices participants in these marriages actively seek to avoid transgressing local norms By doing so on a transnational scale they paradoxically reaffirm and attempt to remain within the boundaries of local marital ideologies Framed by War Susie Woo, 2019-11-19 An intimate portrait of the postwar lives of Korean children and women Korean children and women are the forgotten population of a forgotten war Yet during and after the Korean War they were central to the projection of US military cultural and political dominance Framed by War examines how the Korean orphan GI baby adoptee birth mother prostitute and bride emerged at the heart of empire Strained embodiments of war they brought Americans into Korea and Koreans into America in ways that defined and at times defied US empire in the Pacific What unfolded in Korea set the stage for US postwar power in the second half of the twentieth century and into the twenty first American destruction and humanitarianism violence and care played out upon the bodies of Korean children and women Framed by War traces the arc of intimate relations that served as these foundations To suture a fragmented past Susie Woo looks to US and South Korean government documents and military correspondence US aid organization records Korean orphanage registers US and South Korean newspapers and magazines and photographs interviews films and performances Integrating history with visual and cultural analysis Woo chronicles how Americans went from knowing very little about Koreans to making them family and how Korean children and women who did not choose war found ways to navigate its aftermath in South Korea the United States and spaces in between Monthly Vital Statistics Report, 1987
