Trans Experiences - A Research Report for Trans Communities and their Allies Eva C. Moser, 2013 Trans communities are in the headlines Everybody has an opinion on what transsexuality is But how do trans people themselves describe being trans This community based study examined this question Findings include that the diversity and complexity of people s experience by far exceeds what is commonly acknowledged Physical embodiment and social acceptance are important to trans people but the most unifying themes are self finding self realization and spirituality Experiences described cover a wide range They can in fact be mutually exclusive This suggests that any simplistic one fits all explanation will be oppressive to at least some trans people In a sad twist the research finds that trans people who challenge the clinical model of transsexuality the most are also the ones who most likely will not participate in clinical studies thus guaranteeing that much of the diversity within communities remains hidden except by community based research like the one at hand

The Hidden Rules of Race Andrea Flynn, Dorian T. Warren, Felicia J. Wong, Susan R.

Holmberg,2017-09-08 Why do black families own less than white families Why does school segregation persist decades after Brown v Board of Education Why is it harder for black adults to vote than for white adults Will addressing economic inequality solve racial and gender inequality as well This book answers all of these questions and more by revealing the hidden rules of race that create barriers to inclusion today While many Americans are familiar with the histories of slavery and Jim Crow we often don't understand how the rules of those eras undergird today's economy reproducing the same racial inequities 150 years after the end of slavery and 50 years after the banning of Jim Crow segregation laws This book shows how the fight for racial equity has been one of progress and retrenchment a constant push and pull for inclusion over exclusion By understanding how our economic and racial rules work together we can write better rules to finally address inequality in America

Trans Kids Tey Meadow,2018-08-17 Trans Kids is a trenchant ethnographic and interview based study of the first generation of families affirming and facilitating gender nonconformity in children Earlier generations of parents sent such children for psychiatric treatment aimed at a cure but today many parents agree to call their children new names allow them to wear whatever clothing they choose and approach the state to alter the gender designation on their passports and birth certificates Drawing from sociology philosophy psychology and sexuality studies sociologist Tey Meadow depicts the intricate social processes that shape gender acquisition Where once atypical gender expression was considered a failure of gender now it is a form of gender Engaging and rigorously argued Trans Kids underscores the centrality of ever more particular configurations of gender in both our physical and psychological lives and the increasing embeddedness of personal identities in social institutions

Normative Theory and Business Ethics Jeffery David Smith,2009 Since its inception thirty years ago business ethics has benefited from the interdisciplinary contributions by management political theory sociology and of course philosophy This volume provides an updated examination of the role that moral and political philosophy can play in addressing problems in business ethics The essays contained within its pages represent the work of new scholars and address a wide array of foundational issues such as distributive justice within firms human rights ethical challenges of international business the role of virtue in business management entrepreneurship and the relationship of markets and market actors with democratic institutions In an important sense this collection traces where philosophy has been and where it is headed within business ethics Each of the contributions represent new work that at once strengthens the theoretical foundations of normative business ethics and provides practical insight for non philosophers working in the field Government Paternalism Julian Le Grand,Bill New,2020-11-03 Should governments save people from themselves Do governments have the right to influence citizens behavior related to smoking tobacco eating too much not saving enough drinking alcohol or taking marijuana or does this create a nanny state leading to infantilization demotivation and breaches in individual autonomy Looking at examples from both sides of the Atlantic and around the world Government Paternalism examines the justifications for and the prevalence of government involvement and considers when intervention might or might not be acceptable Building on developments in philosophy behavioral economics and psychology Julian Le Grand and Bill New explore the roles boundaries and responsibilities of the government and its citizens Le Grand and New investigate specific policy areas including smoking saving for pensions and assisted suicide They discuss legal restrictions on risky behavior taxation of harmful activities and subsidies for beneficial activities And they pay particular attention to nudge or libertarian paternalist proposals that try to change the context in which individuals make decisions so that they make the right ones Le Grand and New argue that individuals often display reasoning failure an inability to achieve the ends that they set themselves Such instances are ideal for paternalistic interventions for though such interventions might impinge on autonomy the impact can be outweighed by an improvement in well being Government Paternalism rigorously considers whether the state should guide citizen decision making in positive ways and if so how this should be achieved Dying Green Christine Vatovec,2023-04-14 The slow violence being inflicted on our environment through everything from carbon emissions to plastic pollution also represents an impending public health catastrophe Yet standard health care practices are more concerned with short term outcomes than long term sustainability Every resource used to deliver medical care from IV tubes to antibiotics to electricity has a significant environmental impact This raises an urgent ethical dilemma in striving to improve the health outcomes of individual patients are we damaging human health on a global scale In Dying Green award winning educator Christine

Vatovec offers an engaging study that asks us to consider the broader environmental sustainability of health care Through a comparative analysis of the care provided to terminally ill patients in a conventional cancer ward a palliative care unit and an acute care hospice facility she shows how decisions made at a patient s bedside govern the environmental footprint of the healthcare industry Likewise Dying Green offers insights on the many opportunities that exist for reducing the ecological impacts of medical practices in general while also enhancing care for the dying in particular By envisioning a more sustainable approach to care this book offers a way forward that is better for both patients and the planet
