neighbours the decolonisation project of independence is still a work in progress Nation K. S. Inglis, 2014-10-14 T M Fitzgerald and George Munster produced the paper each fortnight from 1958 until 1972 when its name and some of its spirit went into the Nation Review The journal attracted contributors already well known among them W Macmahon Ball Manning Clark Max Harris and Cyril Pearl and discovered writers such as Sylvia Lawson Brian Johns and Bob Ellis Robert Hughes became an art critic in its pages and Harry Kippax the country's most respected theatre reviewer Some people who wrote pseudonymously are here unmasked for the first time This book is for old readers who still miss Nation and for the young who never knew it K S Inglis himself a contributor has chosen the items and written a history of the journal to make a retrospective exhibition a chronicle of the time and a bedside or poolside book for the 1990s East Timor at the Crossroads Peter Carey, G. Carter Bentley, 1995-09-01 In a rapidly changing post Cost War world where many age old conflicts and injustices are at last being put to rights East Timor stands out as a still unresolved tragedy In the past twenty years 1975-95 this former Portuguese colony has been under Indonesian military occupation an occupation responsible for the death of over 200 000 of its inhabitants a third of its pre 1975 population and the destruction of much of its indigenous society Yet despite enormous odds the people of East Timor continue to fight for the independence which was denied them in the mid 1970s Twenty years on there is now a very real chance for a new beginning in East Timor This book which brings together contributions by both East Timorese and Western specialists of East Timor provides a compelling account of the process by which a once isolated and traditional society has been forged into a nation with a deep sense of its own identity rooted in its unique religious cultural linguistic and historical heritage Indonesia is at last beginning to realize the cost of Third World colonialism and its Western allies are becoming less tolerant of its security state methods The last section of this book considers the new diplomatic initiatives which are currently in train under the auspices of the UN to bring about a resolution to the Timor problem without jeopardizing the integrity of the Indonesian Republic An extensive bibliography of titles on East Timor published between 1970 and 1994 will prove especially useful for scholars A Critical View of Western Journalism and Scholarship on East Timor Geoffrey C. Gunn, 1994 Sense & Censorship Michael Pollak, 1990

Clinton to be Secretary of State* United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations, 2010 Nuclear Test Ban Ola Dahlman, S. Mykkeltveit, Hein Haak, 2009-04-21 Nuclear tests have caused public concern ever since the first such test was conducted more than six decades ago During the Cold War however conditions were not conducive to discussing a complete ban on nuclear testing It was not until 1993 that negotiations on such a treaty finally got under way From then on things moved relatively quickly in 1996 the United Nations General Assembly adopted the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty CTBT To date the Treaty has been signed by 178 states and ratified by 144 though it has yet to enter into force as nine out of 44 Annex 2 states whose ratification is mandatory have not heeded the call Nevertheless the CTBT verification system is already provisionally operational and has proven its effectiveness We commend the CTBT organisation in Vienna for its successful efforts to build a verification network This book is an excellent overview of the evolution of the CTBT and its verification regime The authors are eminent scholars from the Netherlands Norway and Sweden who have been intimately involved with the CTBT and its verification agency the CTBTO Preparatory Commission from their inception to the present day They have written a thorough and engaging narrative of the long road that led to the CTBT Their story will appeal to both the layman and the expert and provide useful lessons for future negotiations on disarmament issues

British Nuclear Weapons and the Test Ban 1954-1973 John R. Walker,2016-05-23 In 1962 Dean Acheson famously described Britain as having lost an Empire but not yet found a role Perhaps nowhere is this more apparent than in the realms of nuclear weapons An increasingly marginal world power successive post war British governments felt that an independent nuclear deterrent was essential if the country was to remain at the top table of world diplomacy Focusing on a key twenty year period this study explores Britain's role in efforts to bring about a nuclear test ban treaty between 1954 and 1973 Taking a broadly chronological approach it examines the nature of defence planning the scientific goals that nuclear tests were designed to secure Anglo American relationships the efficacy of British diplomacy and its contribution to arms control and disarmament A key theme of the study is to show how the UK managed to balance the conflicting pressures created by its determination to remain a credible nuclear power whilst wanting to pursue disarmament objectives and how these pressures shifted over the period in question Based on a wealth of primary sources this book opens up the largely ignored subject of the impact of arms control on the UK nuclear weapons programme Its appraisal of the relationship between the requirements and developments of the UK nuclear weapons programme against international and domestic pressures for a test ban treaty will be of interest to anyone studying post war British defence and foreign policy history of science arms control disarmament and non proliferation and international relations It also provides important background information on current events involving nuclear proliferation and disarmament Australia's Threat Perceptions Alan Dupont, 1991
