The Economics of the Good, the Bad and the Ugly Manfred J. Holler, 2018-07-20 The highly praised Western The Good the Bad and the Ugly has been used in many game theory courses over the years and has also found its way into leading journals of this field Using the rich material offered by this movie alongside other elements from popular culture literature and history this book furthers this exploration into a fascinating area of economics In his series of Schumpeter lectures Manfred J Holler uses his analysis of Sergio Leone s movie as a starting point to argue that combinations of desires secrets and second mover advantages trigger conflicts but also allow for conflict resolution Many people and organizations have a desire for secrecy and this is often motivated by a desire to create a second mover advantage and by undercutting the second mover advantage of others This book demonstrates that the interaction of these three ingredients account for a large share of social problems and failures in politics and business but somewhat paradoxically can also help to overcome some of the problems that result by applying one or two of them in isolation This book has been written for curious readers who want to see the world from a different perspective and who like simple mathematics alongside story telling Its accessible approach means that it will be of use to students and academics alike especially all those interested in decision making game theory and market entry

States of Desire Vicki Mahaffey,1998 States of Desire argues that what people desire is fundamentally connected to how they write and read Not only do language and narrative shape desire and vice versa but because these processes are socially conditioned some political circumstances such as those present in Ireland at the turn of the century foster experimental desire more successfully than others Mahaffey s contribution to the critical discourse on literary modernism is to assign a political motive to the art of modernist wordplay in doing so she offers a more compelling and socially driven version of the oft told tale of literary modernism

Constructing a New Canon of Post-1980s Indian English Fiction Sahdev Luhar, Madhurita

Choudhary, 2017-08-21 The literary canon implies the evaluation or estimation of certain literary texts as the most important during a particular time. The canon is not merely a set of texts; it is a set of standards, evaluative procedures, and values. Belonging to a canon confers a guarantee of literary greatness. A canon is formed by a particular group to channelize cultural hegemony over others or can be constructed by a governed group to bring about cultural symmetry. The rise of diverse literatures in English in different parts of the world after the colonial rule of England was the consequence of an urge to articulate a cultural equilibrium or an urge to strike back. The process of canon formation is also a focused and bigoted act and is always carried out to accomplish certain self-centred objectives. It is commonly accepted that canon formation is executed to accomplish or naturalize certain ideological functions. In the sphere of Indian English literature, Indian English fiction after the end of the 1980s has emerged as a new canon. This book looks into the process of literary canon formation in Indian universities and examines such fiction as an alternative literary canon and as an anti-imperialistic response to the British literary canon. The book ascertains the anti-imperialistic design involved in forming the canon of post-1980 Indian English fiction, examines the gradual emerging trends in such fiction, and discerns the role of language, culture, and native ethos in the formation of a canon. It also differentiates post-1980s Indian English fiction from British fiction, bhasha fiction, and even from pre-1980s Indian English fiction.

The Light Above Maria Dintino, 2022-01-18 The Light Above is a memoir told through the unfolding stories of two proud daughters of New England: Margaret Fuller, American transcendentalist, women's rights champion, and public intellectual alive in the first half of the nineteenth century; and Maria Dintino, the author, daughter of a first-generation Italian American and longtime New Hampshire resident. A literary enthusiast, Dintino encounters Fuller and discovers that her stories shed light on her own. Fuller becomes Dintino's guide and teacher, and Dintino gradually deepens her understanding and trust of her own life story. A memoir that reveals the impact of shared stories extending beyond the limits of time and place.
