Sunset, 1922 The Sunset, 1922 After the Cult Holger Jebens, 2010-04-01

In many parts of the world, the white man is perceived to be an instigator of globalization and an embodiment of modernity. However, so far, anthropologists have paid little attention to the actual heterogeneity and complexity of whiteness in specific ethnographic contexts. This study examines cultural perceptions of other and self as expressed in cargo cults and masked dances in Papua New Guinea. Indigenous terms, images, and concepts are being contrasted with their western counterparts, the latter partly deriving from the publications and field notes of Charles Valentine. After having done his first fieldwork more than fifty years ago, this anthropological ancestor has now become part of the local tradition and has thus turned into a kind of mythical figure. Based on anthropological fieldwork as well as on archival studies, this book addresses the relation between western and indigenous perceptions of self and other, between tradition and modernity, and between anthropological ancestors and descendants. In this way, the work contributes to the study of whiteness, cargo cults, and masked dances in Papua New Guinea.
