Settlers Servants And Slaves Aboriginal And European Children In Nineteenth Century Western Australia:

Settlers, Servants and Slaves Penelope Hetherington, 2002 Intimacies of Violence in the Settler Colony Penelope Edmonds, Amanda Nettelbeck, 2018-05-25 Violence and intimacy were critically intertwined at all stages of the settler colonial encounter and yet we know surprisingly little of how they were connected in the shaping of colonial economies Extending a reading of economies as labour relations into new arenas this innovative collection of essays examines new understandings of the nexus between violence and intimacy in settler colonial economies of the British Pacific Rim The sites it explores include cross cultural exchange in sealing and maritime communities labour relations on the frontier inside the pastoral station and in the colonial home and the material and emotional economies of exploration Following the curious mobility of texts objects and frameworks of knowledge this volume teases out the diversity of ways in which violence and intimacy were expressed in the economies of everyday encounters on the ground In doing so it broadens the horizon of debate about the nature of colonial economies and the intercultural encounters that were enmeshed within them The Lives and Legacies of a Carceral Island Ann Curthoys, Shino Konishi, Alexandra Ludewig, 2022-09-30 This book is a biographical history of Rottnest Island a small carceral island offshore from Western Australia Rottnest is also known as Wadjemup or the place across the water where the spirits are by Noongar the Indigenous people of south western Australia Through a series of biographical case studies of the diverse individuals connected to the island the book argues that their particular histories lend Rottnest Island a unique heritage in which Indigenous maritime imperial colonial penal and military histories intersect with histories of leisure and recreation Tracing the way in which Wadjemup Rottnest Island has been continually re imagined and re purposed throughout its history the text explores the island s carceral history which has left behind it a painful community memory Today it is best known as a beach holiday destination a reputation bolstered by the quokka selfie trend the online posting of photographs taken with the island s cute native marsupial This book will appeal to academic readers with an interest in Australian history Aboriginal history and the history of the British Empire especially those interested in the burgeoning scholarship on the concept of carceral archipelagos and island prisons Aboriginal Children, History and Health John Boulton, 2016-04-28 This volume traces the complex reasons behind the disturbing discrepancy between the health and well being of children in mainstream Australia and those in remote Indigenous communities Invaluably informed by Boulton s close working knowledge of Aboriginal communities the book addresses growth faltering as a crisis of Aboriginal parenting and a continued problem for the Australian nation The high rate and root causes of ill health amongst Aboriginal children are explored through a unique synthesis of historical anthropological biological and medical analyses Through this fresh approach which includes the insights of specialists from a range of disciplines Aboriginal Children History and Health provides a thoughtful and innovative framework for considering Indigenous health Settler Society in the Australian Colonies Angela Woollacott, 2015 Examines the rising numbers of free settlers from the 1820s to the 1860s their dependence on Aboriginal immigrant and convict under paid laborers and the slow development of representative government

Khoesan and Imperial Citizenship in Nineteenth Century South Africa Jared McDonald, 2023-04-24

This volume explores the formative and expressive dynamics of Khoesan identity during a crucial period of incorporation as an underclass into Cape colonial society. Khoesan and Imperial Citizenship in Nineteenth Century South Africa emphasises loyalism and subjecthood posited as imperial citizenship as foundational aspects of Khoesan resistance to the debilitating effects of settler colonialism. The work argues that Khoesans were active in the creation of their identity as imperial citizens and that expressions of loyalty to the British Crown were reflective of a political and civic consciousness that transcended their racially defined place in Cape colonial society. Following a chronological trajectory from the mid 1790s to the late 1850s, author Jared McDonald examines the combined influences of colonial law, evangelical humanitarianism, imperial commissions of inquiry and the abolition of slavery as conduits for the notion of imperial citizenship. As histories and legacies of colonialism come under increasing scrutiny, the history of the Khoesans during this period highlights the complex nature of power and its imposition and the myriad nuanced ways in which the oppressed react, resist and engage. This book will be of interest to scholars and students working on British imperialism in Africa as well as histories of settler colonialism, nationalism and loyalism.

The Slow Evolution of Foster Care in Australia Nell Musgrove, Deidre Michell, 2018-08-10

This book draws on archival, oral history and public policy sources to tell a history of foster care in Australia from the nineteenth century to the present day. It is primarily a social history which places the voices of people directly touched by foster care at the centre of the story but also within the wider social and political debates which have shaped foster care across more than a century. The book confronts foster care's difficult past: death and abuse of foster children, family separation and a general public apathy towards these issues, but it also acknowledges the resilience of people who have survived a childhood in foster care and the challenges faced by those who have worked hard to provide good foster homes and to make child welfare systems better. These are themes which the book examines from an Australian perspective but which often resonate with foster care globally.

Genocide on Settler Frontiers Mohamed Adhikari, 2015-06-01. European colonial conquest included many instances of indigenous peoples being exterminated. Cases where invading commercial stock farmers clashed with hunter-gatherers were particularly destructive, often resulting in a degree of dispossession and slaughter that destroyed the ability of these societies to reproduce themselves. The experience of Aboriginal peoples in the settler colonies of southern Africa, Australia, North America and Latin America bears this out. The frequency with which encounters of this kind resulted in the annihilation of forager societies raises the question of whether these conflicts were inherently genocidal, an issue not yet addressed by scholars in a systematic way.

Children, Childhood and Youth in the British World Simon Sleight, Shirleene Robinson, 2016-10-06. Age was a critical factor in shaping imperial experience yet it has not received any sustained scholarly attention. This pioneering interdisciplinary collection is the first to investigate the lives of children and young people and the construction of modes of childhood and youth within the British world

Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies Ian Keen, 2010-12-01 This volume seeks to contribute to the body of anthropological and historical studies of Indigenous participation in the Australian colonial and post colonial economy It arises out of a panel on this topic at the annual conference of the Australian Anthropological Society held jointly with the British and New Zealand anthropological associations in Auckland in December 2008 The panel was organised in conjunction with an Australian Research Council ARC Linkage Grant project on Indigenous participation in Australian economies involving the National Museum of Australia as the partner organisation and the School of Archaeology and Anthropology at The Australian National University The chapters of the volume bring new theoretical analyses and empirical data to bear on a continuing discussion about the variety of ways in which Indigenous people in Australia have been engaged in the colonial and post colonial economy Contributions cover settler capitalism concepts of property on the frontier Torres Strait Islanders in the mainland economy the pastoral industry in the Kimberley doggers in the Western Desert bean and pea picking on the South Coast of New South Wales attitudes to employment in general in western New South Wales relations of Aboriginal people to mining in the Pilbara and relations with the uranium mine and Kakadu National Park in the Top End The chapters also contribute to discussions about theoretical and analytical frameworks relevant to these kinds of contexts and bring critical perspectives to bear on current issues of development In the March 2012 edition of Oceania Diane Austin Broos reviews Ian Keen's Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies historical and anthropological perspectives She opens with an emphatic assertion This is a good book and praises the collected essays for covering geographically and temporally a wide range of Indigenous engagements Austin Broos synopsis of the essays in this collection gives an enticing glimpse of what readers can expect from these textured accounts of local experience She hopes that other like publications will follow this one either in the form of edited collections of sole authored monographs Austin Broos Diane Review of Indigenous Participation in Australian Economies historical and anthropological perspectives by Ian Keen Oceania issue 82 1 March 2012
