Salviati Etienne Van Heerden, 2002 The Cambridge History of South African Literature David Attwell, Derek Attridge, 2012-01-12 South Africa's unique history has produced literatures in many languages in both oral and written forms reflecting the diversity in the cultural histories and experiences of its people The Cambridge History offers a comprehensive multi authored history of South African literature in all eleven official languages and more minor ones of the country produced by a team of over forty international experts including contributors from all of the major regions and language groups of South Africa It will provide a complete portrait of South Africa's literary production organised as a chronological history from the oral traditions existing before colonial settlement to the post apartheid revision of the past In a field marked by controversy this volume is more fully representative than any existing account of South Africa's literary history It will make a unique contribution to Commonwealth international and postcolonial studies and serve as a definitive reference work for decades to come The Cambridge Companion to the Postcolonial Novel Ato Quayson, 2016 This Companion provides an engaging account of the postcolonial novel from Joseph Conrad to Jean Rhys Covering subjects from disability and diaspora to the sublime and the city this Companion reveals the myriad traditions that have shaped the postcolonial literary landscape

Losing the Plot Leon de Kock, 2016-09-01 In Losing the Plot well known scholar and writer Leon de Kock offers a lively and wide ranging analysis of postapartheid South African writing which he contends has morphed into a far more flexible and multifaceted entity than its predecessor If postapartheid literature's founding moment was the transition to democracy writing over the ensuing years has viewed the Mandelaplan project with increasing doubt Instead authors from all quarters are seen to be reporting in different ways and from divergent points of view on what is perceived to be a pathological public sphere in which the plot the mapping and making of social betterment appears to have been lost The compulsion to detect forensically the actual causes of such loss of direction has resulted in the prominence of creative nonfiction A significant adjunct in the rise of this is the new media which sets up a wounded space within which a cult of commiseration compulsively and repeatedly plays out the facts of the day on people's screens This De Kock argues is reproduced in much postapartheid writing And although fictional forms persist in genres such as crime fiction with their tendency to overplot more serious fiction underplots yielding to the imprint of real conditions to determine the narrative construction The Cambridge

Companion to the African Novel Abiola Irele, 2009-07-23 An overview of the key novels and novelists of the continent covering multiple cultures and languages Singularity and Transnational Poetics Birgit Mara Kaiser, 2014-12-05 Over the past decade singularity has been a prominent term in a broad range of fields ranging from philosophy to literary and cultural studies to science and technology studies This volume intervenes in this broad discussion of singularity and its various implications proposing to explore the term for its specific potential in the study of literature Singularity and Transnational Poetics brings together scholars working in the fields of literary and cultural studies translation studies and transnational literatures The volume's central concern is to explore singularity as a conceptual tool for the comparative study of contemporary literatures beyond national frameworks and by implication as a tool to analyze human existence Contributors explore how singularity might move our conceptions of cultural identity from prevailing frameworks of self other toward the premises of being as singular plural Through a close reading of transnational literatures from Ireland Germany the Netherlands France and South Africa this collection offers a new approach to reading literature that will challenge a reader's established notions of identity individuality communicability and social cohesion

The Postcolonial Unconscious Neil Lazarus, 2011-06-30 The Postcolonial Unconscious is a major attempt to reconstruct the whole field of postcolonial studies In this magisterial and at times polemical study Neil Lazarus argues that the key critical concepts that form the very foundation of the field need to be reassessed and questioned Drawing on a vast range of literary sources Lazarus investigates works and authors from Latin America and the Caribbean Africa and the Arab world South Southeast and East Asia to reconsider them from a postcolonial perspective Alongside this he offers bold new readings of some of the most influential figures in the field Fredric Jameson Edward Said and Frantz Fanon A tour de force of postcolonial studies this book will set the agenda for the future probing how the field has come to develop in the directions it has and why and how it can grow further

Coetzee and the Ethics of Reading Derek Attridge, 2021-04-10 Nobel Prize winning novelist J M Coetzee is one of the most widely taught contemporary writers but also one of the most elusive Many critics who have addressed his work have devoted themselves to rendering it more accessible and acceptable often playing down the features that discomfort and perplex his readers Yet it is just these features Derek Attridge argues that give Coetzee's work its haunting power and offer its greatest rewards Attridge does justice to this power and these rewards in a study that serves as an introduction for readers new to Coetzee and a stimulus for thought for those who know his work well Without overlooking the South African dimension of his fiction Attridge treats Coetzee as a writer who raises questions of central importance to current debates both within literary studies and more widely in the ethical arena Implicit throughout the book is Attridge's view that literature more than philosophy politics or even religion does singular justice to our ethical impulses and acts Attridge follows Coetzee's lead in exploring a number of issues such as interpretation and literary judgment responsibility to the other trust and betrayal artistic commitment confession and the problematic idea of truth to the self

The Columbia Guide to South African Literature in English Since 1945 Gareth Cornwell, Dirk Kloppe, Craig MacKenzie, 2010 From the outset South Africa's history has been marked by division and conflict along racial and ethnic lines From 1948 until 1994 this division was formalized in the National Party's policy of apartheid Because apartheid intruded on every aspect of private and public life South African literature was preoccupied with the politics of race and social engineering Since the release from prison of Nelson Mandela in 1990 South Africa has been a new nation in the making inspired by a nonracial idealism yet beset by poverty and violence South African writers have responded in various ways to Njabulo Ndebele's call to rediscover the ordinary The result has been a kaleidoscope of texts in which evolving cultural forms and modes of identity are rearticulated and explored An invaluable guide for general readers as well as scholars of African literary history this comprehensive text celebrates the multiple traditions and exciting future of the South African voice Although the South African Constitution of 1994 recognizes no fewer than eleven official languages English has remained the country's literary lingua franca This book offers a narrative overview of South African literary production in English from 1945 to the postapartheid present An introduction identifies the most interesting and noteworthy writing from the period Alphabetical entries provide accurate and objective information on genres and writers An appendix lists essential authors published before 1945
