Long Story Short:

The Short Story in South Africa Rebecca Fasselt, Corinne Sandwith, 2022-03-24 This book considers the key critical interventions on short story writing in South Africa written in English since the year 2000 The short story genre whilst often marginalised in national literary canons has been central to the trajectory of literary history in South Africa In recent years the short story has undergone a significant renaissance with new collections and young writers making a significant impact on the contemporary literary scene and subgenres such as speculative fiction erotic fiction flash fiction and queer fiction expanding rapidly in popularity This book examines the role of the short story genre in reflecting or championing new developments in South African writing and the ways in which traditional boundaries and definitions of the short story in South Africa have been reimaged in the present Drawing together a range of critical interventions including scholarly articles interviews and personal reflective pieces the volume traces some of the aesthetic and thematic continuities and discontinuities in the genre and sheds new light on questions of literary form Finally the book considers the place of the short story in twenty first century writing and interrogates the ways in which the short story form may contribute to or recast ideas of the post apartheid or post transitional The perfect guide to contemporary short story writing in South Africa this book will be essential reading for researchers of African literature

Speak Not James Griffiths, 2021-10-21 A New Yorker Best Book of 2022 A Globe Mail Book of the Year A stimulating work on the politics of language LA Review of Books As globalisation continues languages are disappearing faster than ever leaving our planet's linguistic diversity leaping towards extinction The science of how languages are acquired is becoming more advanced and the internet is bringing us new ways of teaching the next generation however it is increasingly challenging for minority languages to survive in the face of a handful of hegemonic super tongues In Speak Not James Griffiths reports from the frontlines of the battle to preserve minority languages from his native Wales Hawaii and indigenous American nations to southern China and Hong Kong He explores the revival of the Welsh language as a blueprint for how to ensure new generations are not robbed of their linguistic heritage outlines how loss of indigenous languages is the direct result of colonialism and globalisation and examines how technology is both hindering and aiding the fight to prevent linguistic extinction Introducing readers to compelling characters and examining how indigenous communities are fighting for their languages Griffiths ultimately explores how languages hang on what happens when they don't and how indigenous tongues can be preserved and brought back from the brink

Compact Cinematics Pepita Hesselberth, Maria Poulaki, 2017-01-26 Compact Cinematics challenges the dominant understanding of cinema to focus on the various compact short miniature pocket sized forms of cinematics that have existed from even before its standardization in theatrical form and in recent years have multiplied and proliferated taking up an increasingly important part of our everyday multimedia environment Short films or micro narratives cinematic pieces or units re assembled into image archives and looping themes challenge the concepts that have traditionally been used to understand cinematic experience like linear causality sequentiality and closure and call attention to complex and modular forms of cinematic expression and perception Such forms in turn seem to meet the requirements of digital convergence which has pushed the development of more compact and mobile hardware for the display and use of audiovisual content on laptops smartphones and tablets Meanwhile contemporary economies of digital content acquisition filing and sharing equally require the shrinking of cinematic content for it to be recorded played projected distributed and installed with ease and speed In this process cinematic experience is shortened and condensed as well so as to fit the late capitalist attention economy The essays in this volume ask what this changed technical socio economic and political situation entails for the aesthetics and experience of contemporary cinematics and call attention to different concepts theories and tools at our disposal to analyze these changes
