

Dedication

Marking a Trail: The Quest Continues is dedicated to the founders who believed in and fought for educational opportunities for women; to the legislators and governors of Texas who have for a century supported and funded the special mission of the University; to the 70,000 students who have called this institution their alma mater; to the thousands of faculty members who have devoted themselves to the development of students and the advancement of knowledge through research and creative endeavors; to the countless staff members who have worked tirelessly to make the University a place of purpose; to the loyal alumnae who remain the treasured allies and advocates of the University; to the citizens of Texas who take pride in their state university primarily for women; to community supporters in Dallas, Denton, and Harris counties; to the many donors who have shared their resources so that TWU could advance in the goals of teaching, research, and service, and to all those who join in the belief that the quest for excellence in education begun in the past century should continue into the next.

Acknowledgements

The development of this centennial history is possible only because of the generosity and dedication of many individuals who gave of their time and knowledge to assure the completion of the project. Dr. Carol Surles, ninth President of TWU, first commissioned me to prepare a book that would reflect the first hundred years of the University's history. The project did not go forward because of lack of support when Dr. Surles left the University. Dr. Ann Stuart, who became the tenth President and first Chancellor of TWU in December of 1999, expressed prompt and enthusiastic interest in the concept of a pictorial history and set in motion the development of this centennial history. The clear and consistent support of Dr. Stuart and the Provost, Dr. Lois Smith, enabled me to revive the project and sustain it. I thank them for their generous help and for their appreciation of the history of TWU and their dedication to its future progress. I gratefully acknowledge the generous support of Dr. Surles, Dr. Stuart, Dr. Smith, and the TWU Foundation Board.

The work of the late Dr. Joyce Thompson, Professor of English and author of Marking A Trail, a volume which reflects the first seventy-five years of the institution's history, was a major reference throughout the composition of this book.

The work on this centennial history was made joyful by the dedication and daily support of the TWU staff members who formed a team with me to see the project through. To Yolanda Amador, Ann McGuffin Barton, Charlsa Kern, and Jackie Webster, I express my deepest thanks.

Many others gave us help along the way. I wish to acknowledge the thoughtful assistance and kind encouragement of Carolyn Barnes, Bill Benson, Wilkes Berry, Barry Boesch, Demell Bulls, John Calabrese, Verda Chism, Sally Clement, the Denton Record Chronicle, Mickey Dudley, Juanita Duenez-Lazo, Jane Erwin, Elizabeth J. Elkins, Bobbie Ferrell, Marjorie W. Ford, Bettie Garner, Mib Garrard, Tom Graf, Lybeth Hodges, Patricia Jackson Edwards, Clea Jones, Glenda Kallman, the Lasso, Dawn Letson, Frank Longoria, Kathy Luca, Susan Phillips, Judy Prouty, Barbara Presnall, Ruth Ann Ragland, Richard Rodean, Carolyn Roder, Donna Ryan, Fritz Schwalm, Paula Scott, Glenda Simmons, Judy Southard, Elizabeth Snapp, Susan Sponsler, Karen Theatt, Melinda Williams-McBee, Joe Wilkinson, Deborah Young, and others who contributed suggestions and photographs for this book.

The photographs included in the book, except as noted in the captions, belong to the TWU archives. Many of the pictures came to the archives from the records of the Lasso, the Office of Marketing and Communication, the National Alumnae Association office, and the Daedalian.
