Subrahmanyam, Defence Planning for Small and Middle Powers Tim Sweijs, Saskia van Genugten, Frans Osinga, 2024-08-01 This book examines the processes practices and principles of defence planning in small and middle powers Small and middle powers are recalibrating their force postures in this age of disruption They are adapting their defence planning and military innovation processes to protect the security of their nations The purpose of this book is to explore defence planning and military innovation in 11 contemporary case studies of small and middle powers in North America Europe the Middle East Asia and Oceania Employing a structured focused comparison framework it traces patterns in the choices of small and middle powers across the following themes 1 alliances dependencies and national ambitions 2 approaches processes methods and techniques and 3 military innovation strategies and outcomes Breaking new theoretical ground it offers a three pronged typology distinguishing between the strategic defence planner the transactional defence planners and the complacent defence planner The book offers a rich array of insights into cases that fall across different geographies strategic cultures and governance systems These insights can help guide discussions on how to structure decision making structures arrive at ambition levels formulate priorities select partners and design defence planning and military innovation processes This book will be of much interest to students of defence studies security studies public policy and international relations as well as to professionals in defence planning British Military Planning for the Defence of Germany 1945-50 Paul Cornish, 1996-03-14

Using recently released archive material British Military Planning for the Defence of Germany 1945 50 reassesses Britain's strategy for the defence of Germany up to the outbreak of the Korean War Convinced of the capabilities of strategic air power with atomic weapons and convinced that the defence of the Middle East should be the first call on British planning Britain's military chiefs made a series of token gestures designed to boost French morale and consistently refused to make a genuine continental commitment of operational troops

Strategy and Defence Planning Colin S. Gray, 2014-06-26

Strategy and Defence Planning Meeting the Challenge of Uncertainty explores and examines why and how security communities prepare purposefully for their future defence The author explains that defence planning is the product of interplay among political process historical experience and the logic of strategy The theory of strategy best reveals both the nature and the working of defence planning Political ends strategic ways and military means all fed by reigning if not always recognized assumptions organize the subject well with a template that can serve any time place and circumstance The book is designed to help understanding of what can appear to be a forbiddingly complex as well as technical subject A good part of the problem for officials charged with defence planning duties is expressed in the second part of the book's title The real difficulty which rarely is admitted by those tasked with defence planning duty is that defence planning can only be guesswork But because defence preparation is always expensive not untypically is politically unpopular yet obviously can be supremely important claims to knowledge about the truly unknowable persist In truth we cannot do defence planning competently because our ignorance of the future precludes understanding of what our society will be shown by future events to need The challenge faced by the author was to identify ways in which our problems with the inability to know the future in any detail in advance the laws of nature in other words may best be met and mitigated Professor Gray argues that our understanding of human nature of politics and of strategic history does allow us to make prudent choices in defence planning that hopefully will prove good enough

Perspectives on Military Intelligence from the First World War to Mali Floribert

Baudet, Eleni Braat, Jeoffrey van Woensel, Aad Wever, 2017-07-01 With a foreword by Michael Kowalski Chairman of the Netherlands Intelligence Studies Association Many intelligence practitioners feel that the statutory footing on which intelligence agencies have been placed forms an impediment to confronting unprecedented contemporary challenges On the basis of case studies spanning the period from the First World War to the present this book argues that while the intelligence community in the era of globalization has indeed come to face new and complex challenges that require adaptation operating in demanding and changing environments is not new at all This book questions the conventional wisdom of 9 11 or the end of the Cold War as caesurae It also argues that the ability to adapt innovate question and learn from past experience is crucial for the success of intelligence organizations rather than ever expanding funding Agencies ability to reflect adapt and learn from experience determines their subsequent capability to deliver One key development resulting from globalization is the marked increase in cooperation between intelligence agencies of different countries on the one hand and between investigative agencies and intelligence agencies on the other This has led to concerns over human rights and privacy and to increased calls for accountability and improved oversight as the increase in cooperation between organizations operating globally also provides scope for the circumvention of domestic restrictions This book proposes an instrument to assess the effectiveness of existing accountability arrangements and offers new insights into the role of military intelligence in a number of crises e g the 1962 Cold War confrontation over Western New Guinea and the functioning of intelligence in peacekeeping operations ranging from Srebrenica to Mali Thematically comprehensive it offers a mixture of historical legal operational and policy aspects analyzed through the lens of institutional learning bringing together academic and practitioners perspectives The focus lies not only on the familiar Anglo Saxon experience but also on cases from India the Netherlands South East Asia Bosnia Lebanon and Mali The book is aimed at both scholars and practitioners studying and or working in the field of civil and military intelligence and those involved in international relations and international humanitarian law human rights law It brings together contributions from authors who spoke at the Conference to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Dutch Military Intelligence and Security Service organized by the Netherlands Intelligence Studies Association NISA and from a number of authors who were specifically invited to participate About the editors Floribert Baudet is Associate Professor of Strategy at the Netherlands Defence Academy in Breda Eleni Braat is Assistant Professor at the Department of History and Art History at Utrecht University Jeoffrey van Woensel is a military historian who works at the Veteraneninstituut in Doorn and Aad Wever is an independent scholar who formerly worked at Saxion University of Applied Sciences in Enschede and Ferris State University MI USA and who is now retired Specific to this book Offers a mixture of historical legal operational and policy aspects analyzed through the lens of institutional learning Brings together academic and practitioners perspectives Focusses not only on the familiar Anglo Saxon experience but also presents cases from India the Netherlands South East Asia Bosnia Lebanon and Mali

the NATO Defense College and the Joint Special Operations University Press Geography, Power, Strategy and Defence Policy Desmond Ball, Sheryn Lee, 2016-05-18 Paul Dibb AM has had an extraordinary career He enjoys an international scholarly reputation of the highest order while at the same time he has done much distinguished public service He was a pioneer in moving back and forth between posts in government departments notably the Department of Defence and academia He began as a student of Soviet economic geography and then spent nearly two decades in Australian Defence intelligence including service as Head of the National Assessments Staff NAS in the Joint Intelligence Organisation JIO from 1974 to 1978 Deputy Director of JIO in 1978 80 Director of JIO in 1986 88 and Deputy Secretary of Defence Strategy and Intelligence in 1988 91 before becoming a Professor in the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre SDSC at The Australian National University where he is now an Emeritus Professor He has been quite happy to engage in vigorous public debate about important and controversial strategic and defence issues giving him a high public profile The contributors include two former Chancellors of ANU one a former Minister of Defence and the other a former Secretary of the Department of Defence a former Chief of the Defence Force CDF and other former senior officials as well as academic specialists in geography international relations and strategic and defence studies This would be a high quality set of essays for any edited volume but for a festschrift a genre that sometimes generates uneven collections this is an exceptional assembly The individual pieces are very good together they have coherence and power Professor Ian Hall Professor of International Relations Griffith University Germany, Poland and the Common Security and Defence Policy L. Chappell, 2012-08-29 A comparative analysis of an old and new EU Member State s perceptions of and contributions to EU security and defence This book focuses on change and continuity in both countries defence policies and where convergence and divergence has occurred This has important implications for the EU s effectiveness as an international security actor Resource Allocation and Management in Defence: Need for a Framework , 2013-01-15 The question that faces governments and militaries the world over is how best to allocate resources for management of defence in the new age This book by Shri A K Ghosh who has an economics background explores the framework for change in resource allocation and capability building It emphasises the importance of introducing programming in Indian defence to serve as a link between defence planning and budgeting There is match between defence planning and budgeting needs to be connected by the introduction of resource constrained budgeting having a multi year perspective The RMA force modernisation cost benefit analysis management of risks and internal and external audits are among the many issues the author has provided a perspective on It is argued by the author that defence needs to be viewed as a giant business and where possible business practices should be introduced The book is recommended reading for planners and decision makers of defence management and will benefit readers from the armed forces as well The lay readers interested in the subject of national defence and security will also find it useful and interesting Terrorism , 1979 Perspectives on the Canadian Way of War Bernd Horn, 2006-04-01 Contrary to popular opinion

this nation has always consciously and consistently utilized military force to further its security as well as its economic and political well being Despite the best of intentions to aid others the reality is that military force has most often been used to serve the national interest in ways that were not always altruistic but rather to serve practical political purpose In the final analysis the Canadian military experience has been integral to creating the advanced affluent and vibrant nation that exists today This collection of essays written by such noted historians and authors as Douglas Delaney Stephen J Harris Ronald Haycock Michael Hennessy Bernd Horn and Sean Maloney spans the entirety of the Canadian military experience and underlines the reality that the government has consistently used its armed forces to achieve political purpose More often than not the Canadian way of war has been a direct reflection of circumstance and political will European Defence Policy Frédéric Mérand,2008-05-22 This book explains the creation of the European Union s Security and Defence Policy to this day the most ambitious project of peacetime military integration M rand explores the complex relations between the state the military and citizenship in today s Europe Legal Perspectives on Security Institutions Hitoshi Nasu,Kim Rubenstein,2015-07-24 Explores the tensions that arise when institutions address contemporary security threats Turkey and European Security Defence Policy Çigdem Üstün,2010-11-30 Security perceptions in Europe have changed drastically in the last decade due to the effects of globalisation As a result the EU s relations with Turkey and the security policies of the EU and Turkey have become increasingly important In light of recent developments not least the controversial issue of Turkey s EU candidacy this book attempts to answer two main questions Is there a gap between EU and Turkish security cultures and To what extent is Turkey an advantage for Europe Cigdem Ustun here examines Turkey s crucial role with NATO and details its relations and priorities in the Mediterranean the Middle East and the Black Sea regions comparing these with EU relations and priorities This comparison illustrates the advantages and disadvantages of including Turkey in European security policies and will be essential reading for all those involved in security studies and policy Defense Planning and Arms Control National Security Affairs Institute (U.S.),1980 Civil-Military Relations in Perspective Stephen J. Cimbala,2016-05-23 The topic of civil military relations has high significance for academics for policy makers for military commanders and for serious students of public policy in democratic and other societies The post Cold War and post 9 11 worlds have thrown up traditional as well as new challenges to the effective management of armed forces and defense establishments Further the present century has seen a rising arc in the use of armed violence on the part of non state actors including terrorists to considerable political effect Civil military relations in the United States and their implications for US and allied security policies is the focus of most discussions in this volume but other contributions emphasize the comparative and cross national dimensions of the relationship between the use or threat of force and public policy Authors contributing to this study examine a wide range of issues including the contrast between theory and practice in civil military relations the role perceptions of military professionals across generations the character of civil military relations in authoritarian or other democratically challenged political systems the usefulness of business models in military management the attributes of civil military relations during unconventional conflicts the experience of the all volunteer force and its meaning for US civil military relations and other topics Contributors include civilian academic and policy analysts as well as military officers with considerable academic expertise and experience with the subject matter at hand

The European Union's Foreign Policy in Comparative Perspective Ingo Peters, 2015-11-19 This ground breaking volume provides a new perspective on the EU's foreign policy and offers a reconstruction of EU research that extends beyond narrow minded concepts of power and actorness Focusing on two intertwined research questions it presents a more sustainable base for studying EU foreign policy What is the EU's foreign policy quality in terms of actorness and power compared to other types of actors in international relations and global politics What factors influence the EU's foreign policy performance in comparison to states and international organizations This guiding principle and application of a grounded theory or heuristic case study approach allows the book to deliver a structured comparative analysis of EU foreign policy comparing findings across policy fields different legal foundations and respective policy modes of governance This book will be of key interest to students and scholars of European Union studies European Union foreign policy studies international relations and security policy studies

Asian Strategic and Military Perspective Ravi Shekhar Narain Singh Singh, 2005 Nation states are compelled to function within the parameters of their respective geo political and geo strategic environment The behavior of nations and the interplay of their strengths and vulnerabilities particularly their foreign and military posturing is predicated on geographic political and economic factors Besides historical imperatives also coalesce in determining the way States shape their policies Many Asian countries today are threatened by a war that is of a subtle and imperceptible nature There is also a paradigm shift in the perception of national security especially with the blurring of the notion of internal and external security This is reflected in the growing military expenditures of several Asian countries This volume attempts to examine the critical factors that influence the foreign and defense policies of Asian countries It provides comprehensive information and analyses of the strengths needs aspirations and compulsions that shape their strategic and military outlook
