Mississippi author Eudora Welty the first living writer to be published in the Library of America series mentored many of today's greatest fiction writers and is a fascinating woman having lived the majority of the twentieth century 1909-2001 Her life reflects a century of change and is closely entwined with many events that mark our recent history This biography follows this twentieth century path while telling Welty's story beginning with her parents and their important influence on her reading and writing life The chapters that follow focus on her education and her most important teachers her life during the Depression and how her career just getting started is interrupted by World War II and how she shows independence and courage through her writing during the turbulent civil rights period of the 1950s and 1960s After years of caregiving and the deaths of all her immediate family members Welty persevered and won the Pulitzer Prize in 1973 for The Optimist's Daughter Her popularity soared in the 1980s after she delivered the three William E. Massey Lectures to standing room only crowds at Harvard and the lectures were later published as One Writer's Beginnings and became a New York Times bestseller This biography intends to introduce readers to one of the most significant women writers of the past century a prolific author who transcends her Mississippi roots and has written short stories novels and nonfiction that will endure for all time      The New York Times Book Review Index, 1896-1970: Category index, 1973      Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature. Volume Xxvi. 1946, Kay Boyle

M. Clark Chambers, 2002 This is the first comprehensive bibliography on American author Kay Boyle The political active Boyle was one of the so-called Lost Generation of American expatriate writers in Europe between the World Wars She traveled in the literary circles of James Joyce Ernest Hemingway and Gertrude Stein She wrote fourteen novels nine short story collections three children's books five collections of poetry and two collections of essays Additionally she ghostwrote two books co-edited two others and translated three books from French into English The gifted writer was awarded two Guggenheim Fellowships and was a member of the American Academy of Art The Academy recognized Boyle for her extraordinary contribution to contemporary American literature over a lifetime of creative work      The Lonely Hunter Virginia Spencer Carr, 2003 The Lonely Hunter is widely accepted as the standard biography of Carson McCullers Author of such landmarks of modern American fiction as Reflections in a Golden Eye and The Ballad of the Sad Café Carson McCullers was the enfant terrible of the literary world of the 1940s and 1950s Gifted but tormented vulnerable but exploitative

McCullers led a life that had all the elements and more of a tragic novel From McCullers's birth in Columbus Georgia in 1917 to her death in upstate New York in 1967 The Lonely Hunter thoroughly covers every significant event in and aspect of the writer's life her rise as a young literary sensation her emotional artistic and sexual eccentricities and entanglements her debilitating illnesses her travels in America and Europe and the provenance of her works from their earliest drafts through their book stage and film versions To research her subject Virginia Spencer Carr visited all of the important places in McCullers's life read virtually everything written by or about her and interviewed hundreds of McCullers's relatives friends and enemies The result is an enduring distinguished portrait of a brilliant but deeply troubled writer     Searching for Common Ground, 1940-49 William Carl Beyer, 1988     Prize Stories from Collier's Collier's, the national weekly, 1916
