Disappearing Object Phenomenon Tony Jinks, 2016-10-03 Have you ever had your car keys or television remote control inexplicably vanish from under your nose only to reappear months later in another part of the house for no evident reason Most would dismiss it as absent mindedness with perhaps a joking remark about paranormal activity Yet remarkable circumstances surrounding many such accounts suggest that the mysterious disappearance of objects could be more than just one of those things Examining a large selection of fascinating narratives this book reviews the disappearing object phenomenon DOP from a scientific standpoint Both skeptical and supportive perspectives on DOP are considered leading to the conclusion that disappearing appearing and reappearing objects are indicators of a controversial take on the nature of reality

The Broken Voice Robert Eaglestone, 2017-05-26 Which writer today is not a writer of the Holocaust asked the late Imre Kert sz Hungarian survivor and novelist in his Nobel acceptance speech one does not have to choose the Holocaust as one s subject to detect the broken voice that has dominated modern European art for decades Robert Eaglestone attends to this broken voice in literature in order to explore the meaning of the Holocaust in the contemporary world arguing again following Kert sz that the Holocaust will remain through culture which is really the vessel of memory Drawing on the thought of Hannah Arendt Eaglestone identifies and develops five concepts the public secret evil stasis disorientalism and kitsch in a range of texts by significant writers including Kazuo Ishiguro Jonathan Littell Imre Kert sz W G Sebald and Joseph Conrad as well as in work by victims and perpetrators of the Holocaust and of atrocities in Africa He explores the interweaving of complicity responsibility temporality and the often problematic powers of narrative which make up some part of the legacy of the Holocaust

Identity, Culture and Belonging Tony Eaude, 2020-02-20 Tony Eaude argues that the foundations of a robust but flexible identity are formed in early childhood and that children live within many intersecting and sometimes conflicting cultures He considers three meanings of culture associated with often implicit values and beliefs the arts and spaces for growth In exploring how young children's identities as constructed and constantly changing narratives are shaped he discusses controversial intersecting factors related to power in terms of race ethnicity gender religion class physical ability and age Eaude explores how young children learn often tacitly highlighting reciprocity example habituation and children's agency and voice He emphasises the importance of a sense of belonging created through trusting relationships and inclusive environments with adults drawing on and extending children's cultural capital and funds of knowledge Eaude shows how a holistic education requires a breadth of opportunities across and beyond the school curriculum and highlights how play the humanities and the arts enable children to explore how it is to be human and to become more humane broadening horizons and helping challenge preconceptions and stereotypes This radical inclusive and culturally sensitive vision for an international audience challenges many current assumptions about identity culture childhood and education

Urban Education, Approaches that Work United States. Congress. House. Committee on Small Business. Subcommittee on Empowerment, 1998 A hearing was held before the Subcommittee on Empowerment of the House Committee on Small Business to build a record of a lot of things that are working in urban education in high risk zones In his opening remarks Representative Souder Indiana noted that there is no question but that the best way to combat unemployment and the problems that flow from it is to provide people with the best possible training For most of the work force training begins in school Strengthening basic skills is not exclusively an urban problem but it is one that is of particular concern in the cities The purpose of this hearing was not why so many schools are failing but why some succeed Five educators who run successful urban schools appeared at the hearing to explain why their schools work Thaddeus S Lott Sr principal of a charter school district in Houston Texas described the experiences of a successful elementary school that used an intensive reading program beginning in kindergarten and direct instruction to raise academic achievement Vera White principal of a junior high school in the District of Columbia achieved academic success with a program that focused on student learning and high expectations and that was supported in a partnership with COMSAT Comments by hearing participants follow these statements In the second panel discussion of the hearing Oscar J Underwood headmaster of a Christian college preparatory school Indiana spoke about the importance of the educational environment and teacher attitudes Leah White administrator of an urban Christian school Maryland noted the importance of promoting parent participation and the importance of an atmosphere focused on learning William Elliott headmaster of a Christian academy in Philadelphia Pennsylvania emphasized the importance of good relationships between teachers and students and the importance of accountability and high standards Comments from panelists completed the hearing An appendix contains the prepared statements of the panelists and a letter from Governor George Bush Texas about Dr Lott s Houston school SLD     What is Art?
