Reason And Reform Studies In Social Policy:

Social Policy Reform in Hong Kong and Shanghai: A Tale of Two Cities Linda Wong, Lynn T. White, III, Gui Shixun, 2016-07-22 As the richest cities in the world's most populous nation Hong Kong and Shanghai have recently experienced dynamic growth spurred by more and better managed capital. These cities also have social problems whose solutions will cost money. Their urban populations are aging. Health finance at the level these First World cities demand threatens to consume a large portion of the municipal budgets. Eldercare and social security are now less well covered by traditional Chinese families. Education has become more complex and public tuition where it occurs brings with it official plans for schools. Immigrants have flocked to Shanghai from inland China and Hong Kong's border has become a protector of the former colony's high productivity jobs. Housing problems also have deeply affected both cities albeit in somewhat different ways. This book provides a comprehensive overview of the similarities and differences between social policies in the two cities. Each chapter covers a different issue: health finance, housing, education, labor, poverty, and social security, eldercare, and migration and competitiveness. The contributors explore pertinent developments in each city and analyze the similarities and differences between the two cities' approaches to social policies. They focus on policy reform and the interface between social policy and its environment. One main theme throughout the book is the extent to which spending for capital accumulation is in conflict with spending for social policies.

The Politics of Social Policy Change in Chile and Uruguay Rossana Castiglioni Nunez, 2005-01-07 This work explains the causes of social policy reform in Chile and Uruguay in the areas of health care, pensions, and education. Until the 1970s Chile and Uruguay shared striking similarities.

The Power Struggles over the Post-neoliberal Social Security System Reforms in Venezuela and Ecuador Ezequiel Luis Bistoletti, 2018-08-25 This book carries out a comparative analysis of the power struggles over the post-neoliberal social security reforms in Venezuela and Ecuador. The research breaks down why the social security system reform initiated by Hugo Chavez's government in Venezuela has come down since its passing in 2002, whereas the social security system reform initiated by Rafael Correa's government in Ecuador has come along in spite of the obstacles since 2007. All in all, the analysis determined that the struggles over the social security system reforms in both countries remarkably corresponded to each other with regard to their structural conditions, points of contention, and contending actors. In contrast, the analysis established substantial divergences regarding the ways in which the struggles over both reforms came about due to the divergent development of the struggles for hegemony between government and opposition. These divergences finally brought about the indefinite stagnation of the reform in Venezuela and the advancement of subsequent partial reforms aimed at the universalization of social security in Ecuador.
