Zink, 2018-06 This work provides a compelling explanation of something that has bedeviled a number of feminist scholars Why did popular authors like Edna Ferber continue to write conventional fiction while living lives that were far from conventional Amanda J. Zink argues that white writers like Ferber and Willa Cather avoided the subject of their own domestic labor by writing about the performance of domestic labor by others showing that American print culture both in novels and through advertisements moved away from portraying women as angels in the house and instead sought to persuade other women to be angels in their houses Zink further explores lesser known works such as Mexican American cookbooks and essays in Indian boarding school magazines to show how women writers dialoging domesticity exemplify the cross cultural encounters between colonial domesticity and sovereign domesticity By situating these interpretations of literature within their historical contexts Zink shows how these writers championed and challenged the ideology of domesticity *The New Cambridge Companion to T. Wenger, 2010 History Lessons is the first book to examine how Jews in the United States collectively wove themselves into the narratives of the nation and came to view the American Jewish experience as a unique chapter in Jewish history Beth Wenger shows how American Jews celebrated civic holidays like Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July in synagogues and Jewish community organizations and how they sought to commemorate Jewish cultural contributions and patriotism often tracing their roots to the nation's founding She looks at Jewish children's literature used to teach lessons about American Jewish heritage and values which portrayed and sometimes embellished the accomplishments of heroic figures in American Jewish history Wenger also traces how Jews often disagreed about how properly to represent these figures focusing on the struggle over the legacy of the Jewish Revolutionary hero Haym Salomon From publisher description American Literature in Transition, 1930-1940 Ichiro Takayoshi, 2018-11-15 American Literature in Transition 1930-1940 gathers together in a single volume preeminent critics and historians to offer an authoritative analytic and theoretically advanced account of the Depression era's key literary events Many topics of canonical importance such as protest literature Hollywood fiction the culture industry and populism receive fresh treatment The book also covers emerging areas of interest such as radio drama bestsellers religious fiction internationalism and middlebrow domestic fiction Traditionally scholars have treated each one of these issues in isolation This volume situates all the significant literary developments of the 1930s within a single and capacious vision that discloses their hidden structural relations their contradictions similarities and reciprocities This is an excellent resource for undergraduate graduate students and scholars interested in American literary culture of the 1930s
