Rediscovery Of Antiquity:

The Rediscovery of Antiquity Jane Fejfer, Tobias Fischer-Hansen, Annette Rathje, 2003 Classical Archaeologists art historians and artists consider the Role of the Artist in the rediscovery of the past Johannes Wiedewelt Marjatta Nielsen, Annette Rathje, 2010 In the latter half of the 18th century Johannes Wiedewelt 1731 1802 played a pivotal role in introducing an early form of Neoclassicism into Danish sculpture by creating a large number of monuments for many different purposes In the 1750s he studied in Paris and Rome where he became part of an international network of pioneering artists and scholars including J J Winckelmann In Denmark Wiedewelt endeavored to translate the ancient idiom in statuary and monuments into an eternal national monument style This volume reassesses Wiedewelt's role in the service of art art theory academic education design etc Special emphasis is placed on his studies of Classical Antiquity and Danish prehistoric and medieval monuments which makes him particularly interesting for the history of archaeology This is the first book length study of Johannes Wiedewelt in English In Search of Pre-Classical Antiquity: Rediscovering Ancient Peoples in Mediterranean Europe (19th and 20th c.), 2016-11-28 The book aims rethinking the cultural history of Mediterranean nationalisms between 19th and 20th centuries by tracing their specific approach to antiquity in the forging of a national past By focusing on how national imaginaries dealt with this topic and how history and archaeology relied on antiquity this collection of essays introduces a comparative approach presenting several cases studies concerning many regions including Spain Italy and Slovenia as well as Albania Greece and Turkey By adopting the perspective of a dialogue among all these Mediterranean political cultures this book breaks significantly new ground because it shifts attention on how Southern Europe nationalisms are an interconnected political and cultural experience directly related to the intellectual examples of Northern Europe but also developing its own particular trends Contributors are i dem Atakuman Filippo Carl Francisco Garcia Alonso Maja Gori Eleni Stefanou Rok Stergar Katia Visconti Hellenomania Katherine Harloe, Nicoletta Momigliano, Alexandre Farnoux, 2018-01-29 Hellenomania the second volume in the MANIA series presents a wide ranging multi disciplinary exploration of the modern reception of ancient Greek material culture in cultural practices ranging from literature to architecture stage and costume design painting sculpture cinema and the performing arts It examines both canonical and less familiar responses to both real and imagined Greek antiquities from the seventeenth century to the present across various national contexts Encompassing examples from Inigo Jones to the contemporary art exhibition documenta 14 and from Thessaloniki and Delphi to Nashville the contributions examine attempted reconstructions of an authentic ancient Greece alongside imaginative and utopian efforts to revive the Greek spirit using modern technologies new media and experimental practices of the body Also explored are the political resonances of Hellenomaniac fascinations and tensions within them between the ideal and the real the past present and future Part I examines the sources and derivations of Hellenomania from the Baroque and pre Romantic periods to the early twentieth century While covering more canonical material than the following sections it also casts spotlights on less familiar figures and sets the scene for the illustrations of successive waves of Hellenomania explored in subsequent chapters Part II focuses on responses uses and appropriations of ancient Greek material culture in the built environment mostly architecture but also extends to painting and even gymnastics it examines in particular how a certain idealisation of ancient Greek architecture affected its modern applications Part III explores challenges to the idealisation of ancient Greece through the transformative power of colour movement and of reliving the past in the present human body especially female Part IV looks at how the fascination with the material culture of ancient Greece can move beyond the obsession with Greece and Greekness

Antiquities in Motion Barbara

Furlotti,2019-06-18 An exciting new approach to understand the trade of antiquities in early modern Rome traces the journey of objects from discovery to display Barbara Furlotti presents a dynamic interpretation of the early modern market for antiquities relying on the innovative notion of archaeological finds as mobile items She reconstructs the journey of ancient objects from digging sites to venues where they were sold such as Roman marketplaces and antiquarians storage spaces to sculptors workshops where they were restored and to Italian and other European collections where they arrived after complicated and costly travel over land and sea She shifts the attention away from collectors to peasants with shovels dealers and middlemen and restorers who unearthed cleaned up and repaired or remade objects recuperating the role these actors played in Rome s socioeconomic structure Furlotti also examines the changes in economic value meaning and appearance that antiquities underwent as they moved throughout their journeys and as they reached the locations in which they were displayed Drawing on vast unpublished archival material she offers answers to novel questions How were antiquities excavated How and where were they traded How were laws about the ownership of ancient finds made followed and evaded

Making Pagans John Kuhn,2024-12-10 How early modern theatrical practice helped construct the category of pagan as a tool of European self definition and colonial ambition In Making Pagans John Kuhn argues that drama played a powerful role in the articulation of religious difference in the seventeenth century Tracing connections between the history of stagecraft and ethnological disciplines such as ethnography antiquarianism and early comparative religious writing Kuhn shows how early modern repertory systems that leaned heavily on thrift and reuse produced an enduring theatrical vocabulary for understanding religious difference through the representation of paganism a key term in the new taxonomy of world religions emerging at this time and a frequent subject and motif in English drama of the era Combining properties such as triumphal chariots trick altars and moving statues with music special effects and other elements the spectacular set pieces that were mostly developed for plays set in antiquity depicting England s pre Christian past were frequently repurposed in new plays in representations of Native Americans and Africans in colonial contact zones Kuhn argues that the recycling of these set pieces encouraged audiences to process new cultural sites through the lens of old performance tropes and helped produce fictitious quasi ethnographic knowledge for spectators generating the idea of a homogeneous trans historical trans geographical paganism Examining the common scenes of pagan ritual that filled England's seventeenth century stages magical conjurations oracular prophecies barbaric triumphal parades and group suicides Kuhn traces these tropes across dozens of plays from a range of authors including Ben Jonson Christopher Marlowe John Dryden and Philip Massinger Drawing together theater history Atlantic studies and the history of comparative religion Making Pagans reconceptualizes the material and iterative practices of the theater as central to the construction of radical religious difference in early modernity and of the category of paganism as a tool of European self definition and colonial ambition

Empires of Antiquities Billie Melman, 2020 Empires of Antiquities is a history of the rediscovery of the imperial civilizations of the ancient Near East in a modern imperial order that evolved between the outbreak of the First World War and the decolonization of the British Empire in the 1950s It explores the ways in which near eastern antiquity was redefined and experienced becoming the subject of imperial regulation modes of enquiry and international and national politics Billie Melman follows a series of globally publicized spectacular archaeological discoveries in Iraq Egypt and Palestine which made antiquity material visible and accessible as never before She demonstrates that the new definition and uses of antiquity and their relations to modernity were inseparable from the emergence of the post war international imperial order transnational collaboration and crises the aspirations of national groups and collisions between them and the British mandates This study uniquely combines a history of the internationalization of archaeology and the rise of a new regime of antiquities under the oversight of the League of Nations and its institutions a history of British attitudes to and passion for near eastern antiquity and on the ground colonial policies and mechanisms as well as nationalist claims on the past It points at the centrality of the new mandate system Drawing on an unusually wide range of materials collected in archives in six countries as well as on material and visual evidence this volume weaves together imperial international and national histories and the history of archaeological discovery which it connects to imperial modernity
