Reforming Africa's Institutions Ownership Incentives And Capabilities:

Reforming Africa's Institutions Steve Kayizzi-Mugerwa, 2003 There is not a single African country that did not attempt public sector reforms in the 1990s Governments no longer see themselves as sole suppliers of social services frequently opting for partnerships with the private sector Efficiency and choice have entered the language of the planning and implementation units of Africa's line ministries while privatization is no longer the controversial subject it was a decade ago There have also been moves towards more open and democratic governments Reforming Africa's Institutions looks at the extent to which reforms undertaken in Sub Saharan Africa in recent years have enhanced institutional capacities across the breadth of government To what extent have reforms been internalized and defended by governments The authors also look specifically at the impact of public sector reforms on these economies and pose the question whether ownership can be attained when countries continue to be heavily dependent on external support The volume is presented in three parts The first focuses on the issue of reform ownership on the issues of governance the political economy of reform ownership and the contradictions inherent in using aid as an instrument for enhancing domestic reform ownership Part two examines the nature of incentives in the African civil service and the reforms undertaken in recent years to raise public sector efficiency in Africa The third part discusses issues related to institutional capabilities in Africa and how they have been affected by the reforms undertaken in the 1990s including privatization and movement towards political pluralism Party Politics and Economic Reform in Africa's Democracies M. Anne Pitcher, 2012-05-07 Argues that the interaction of formal institutions and the quality of democracy explain patterns of private sector development across Africa Sub-Saharan Africa's Development Challenges

O. Kimanuka, 2009-01-05 The first analysis of the 1994 genocide written by a Rwandan national Kimanuka examines Rwanda's survival from being a failed state looking at how leaders bold decisions and the commitment of the Rwandan people led to reform programs and economic recovery Wider conversation of Africa's general development challenges are also explored Civil service reforms in Pakistan Abdul Wajid Rana, 2019-11-12 Effective governance is one of the key challenges for both developing and developed countries Governments today are increasingly encountering complex and cross cutting issues such as economic and financial volatility internal and external conflicts growing social tensions adverse demographic trends climate change vulnerabilities weak regulatory regimes huge infrastructure and service delivery gaps state and elite capturing and sustaining rule of law Faced with growing criticism of ineffectiveness of state institutions undermining country's economic social and political development because of weakening capacity of public officials to pace up with emerging challenges there is a renewed interest in reforming the governance and reforming the civil service Rethinking Development Challenges for Public Policy K. Hanson, G. Kararach, T. Shaw, 2012-04-05 Covers topical issues for Africa's development economics and politics of climate change water management public service delivery and delivering aid The authors argue that these issues should be included in the post MDG paradigm and add an important voice to recent moves by academics and practitioners to engage with each other

African Development Report 2005 The African Development Bank, 2005-12-22 The African Development Report 2005 is the seventeenth annual survey of economic and social progress in Africa The Report provides comprehensive analysis of the state of the African economy examining development policy issues affecting the economic prospects of the continent The African Development Bank Group is a regional multilateral development finance institution the members of which are all of the 53 countries in Africa and 25 countries from Asia the Middle East Europe North and South America The purpose of the Bank is to further the economic development and social progress of African countries individually and collectively To this end the Bank promotes the investment of public and private capital for development primarily by providing loans and grants for projects and programs that contribute to poverty reduction and broad based sustainable development in Africa The non concessional operations of the Bank are financed from its ordinary capital resources In addition the Bank s soft window affiliates the African Development Fund and the Nigeria Trust Fund provide concessional financing to low income countries that are not able to sustain loans on market terms

Challenges of African Growth B. J. Ndulu, 2007 Poverty in Africa is largely the outcome of slow growth With the region hosting 10 percent of the world s population but a staggering 30 percent of the world s poor the challenges it faces are enormous but NOT insurmountable The message of this book is clear poverty eradicating development in Africa is possible In fact there are indications that Africa is at a turning point and there is growing momentum among front runner economies in the region toward higher and sustained growth This study challenges African countries and their development partners to consolidate and continue this momentum and to exploit the advantages of the continent as a latecomer particularly in innovation and in drawing lessons from successful export led growth experiences in Asia and Latin America Challenges of African Growth identifies opportunities constraints and strategic choices that African countries face in their quest for achieving the growth necessary for poverty alleviation More important the study provides a broad menu of strategic options for ensuring not only that countries embark on a growth path but also that the growth is shared and sustainable The critical areas for action rest on four pillars the investment climate infrastructure innovation for increasing productivity and competitiveness and institutional capacity

Ownership Leadership and Transformation Thomas Theisohn, Carlos Lopes, 2013-07-04 The third and final in a series this text bridges the conceptual foundations of capacity development and the difficulties and practical realities in the field It demystifies the process of capacity development to make it more user friendly The book has two parts The first shows how long standing development dilemmas can be turned into opportunities for capacity development and societal transformation It proposes a set of principles to guide the search for context specific approaches as the norm and based on these default principles the authors explore relevant issues in comprehensible stages through a capacity lens The second part is a compilation of experiences and lessons from around the world to showcase promising initiatives and innovative solutions It forms a casebook of insights and good rather than best practices on how development stakeholders can turn development dilemmas into opportunities tailored to the needs of their societies

Strategies for Sustainable Transformation of Developing Countries Mark Izevbekhai, 2015-12-11 Strategies for the Sustainable Transformation of Developing Countries attempts a holistic solution approach through sustainable development concepts and principles to address challenges in developing countries In fact the book is the application of sustainable development and thus it offers strategies that could be applied to the development and transformation of social economical and environmental dimensions of society using the example of Nigeria a developing country in West Africa The book is divided into five parts covering critical subjects of development which include education government and good governance community security leadership and community development It provides answers to how sustainable development can bring change and benefits to these subject matters within the context of developing countries using Nigeria as an example This book is very different from many other book written on the challenges of development particularly on African countries in the sense that it gives priority to solutions and mapping them out in a feasible sustainable and practical way The cornerstone of the book is the emphatic suggestion of a national transition initiative programme and Sustainable Community development Programme to drive sustainable development from the top and the bottom of society respectively
