Resource Allocation For The New Defense Strategy:

Resource Allocation for the New Defense Strategy The DynaRank Decision-Support System, 1998 This report describes a decision support system called DynaRank It illustrates DynaRank s use in defense planning with examples based on work for the Quadrennial Defense Review and follow up research in 1997 It is our hope that a version of this methodology which explicitly links program level choices to higher level strategy will become part of the Department of Defense Planning Programming and Budgetary System PPBS We believe that a methodology that considers all of the components of the new defense strategy respond shape and prepare now will help provide rationale for making difficult programmatic choices if necessary This report and DynaRank should not only be of interest to military analysts but also to policy analysts and other researchers in general because of DynaRank s broader applicability to evaluating policy options This document describes the DynaRank tool in a fair amount of detail including an appendix that can be used as a tutorial DynaRank is a Microsoft Excel workbook available for the Macintosh and an IBM compatible computer

Theory and Methods for Supporting High Level Military Decisionmaking Paul K. Davis, James P. Kahan, 2007 This report describes an approach to high level decision support for a Joint Forces Air Component Commander in combat operations or a Chief of Staff in defense planning Its central theme is the fundamental importance of dealing effectively with uncertainty whether in effects based operations building the Air Force s Commander s Predictive Environment or planning future forces with the methods of capabilities based planning Because many features of the future cannot be predicted with reasonable confidence it is better to proceed with the expectation of surprise developments and to have skill in recognizing adaptations and making them than it is to treat uncertainty merely as an annoyance This report sketches the framework of a high level decision support environment that is top down expresses concepts in simple and intuitive language deals explicitly with risk and uncertainty and provides the capability for decisionmakers to readily discover and question the bases for key assumptions and assessments It can accommodate both rational analytic and naturalistic decisionmakers allowing them to produce strategies that are flexible adaptive and robust FAR Two explicit methods and their related tools are described The first involves portfolio style thinking and analysis a good mechanism for balancing risks and other considerations in choosing a course of action The second is a novel modification of foresight exercises that addresses the need to include humans effectively in dealing with uncertainty A more extensive discussion of available methods and enabling technologies is also presented along with some recommendations about investment priorities

Resource Allocation for the New Defense Strategy Richard John Hillestad, Paul K. Davis, 1998 DynaRank is a Microsoft Excel based program that allows detailed high level evaluation of policy options This report describes the development of DynaRank through a series of RAND policy studies culminating in its application to the Quadrennial Defense Review QDR The authors provide an overview of the process and why it was developed describing its application to a domestic transportation project and a long range planning study for the Air Force They then provide detail about its application late in the QDR process and describe how it assisted them in reaching certain conclusions The appendixes provide a tutorial instructing a new user how to set up and apply DynaRank show a step by step example of its use and list DynaRank s functions

Defence Planning and Uncertainty Stephan Frühling, 2014-04-24 How can countries decide what kind of military forces they need if threats are uncertain and history is full of strategic surprises This is a question that is more pertinent than ever as countries across the Asia Pacific are faced with the military and economic rise of China Uncertainty is inherent in defence planning but different types of uncertainty mean that countries need to approach decisions about military force structure in different ways This book examines four different basic frameworks for defence planning and demonstrates how states can make decisions coherently about the structure and posture of their defence forces despite strategic uncertainty It draws on case studies from the United States Australian and New Zealand each of which developed key concepts for their particular circumstances and risk perception in Asia Success as well as failure in developing coherent defence planning frameworks holds lessons for the United States and other countries as they consider how best to structure their military forces for the uncertain challenges of the future
