Mikus-Kos, 2005-11-15 This book aims to promote the psychosocial well being of children following war and terrorism Experts from the former Yugoslavia Israel Palestine NATO countries and elsewhere have contributed chapters detailing conceptual models and practical examples of community based interventions for children Some authors are experienced experts with extensive experience in providing community based interventions for children during post war reconstruction Others have scientific experience conducting either research or program evaluation for such interventions A third group of participants has experience in both the provision and evaluation of psychosocial services to children These different perspectives are easy to identify from one chapter to the next and provide a creative tension regarding competing approaches to conceptualizing and implementing the most effective interventions It is clear that such alternative views are complementary rather than contradictory The purpose of this book therefore is to show how community based psychosocial approaches can benefit from a thoughtful synthesis of both experiential and empirical strategies that link individual mental health psychosocial well being with the health and stability of the community

Large-Scale Evacuation Michael K. Lindell, Pamela Murray-Tuite, Brian Wolshon, Earl J. Baker, 2018-12-07

Large Scale Evacuation introduces the reader to the steps involved in evacuation modelling for towns and cities, from understanding the hazards that can require large scale evacuations through understanding how local officials decide to issue evacuation advisories and households decide whether to comply to transportation simulation and traffic management strategies. The author team has been recognized internationally for their research and consulting experience in the field of evacuations. Collectively they have 125 years of experience in evacuation, including more than 140 projects for federal and state agencies. The text explains how to model evacuations that use the road transportation network by combining perspectives from social scientists and transportation engineers' fields that have commonly approached evacuation modelling from distinctly different perspectives. In doing so, it offers a step-by-step guide through the key questions needed to model an evacuation and its impacts to the evacuation route system as well as evacuation management strategies for influencing demand and expanding capacity. The authors also demonstrate how to simulate the resulting traffic and evacuation management strategies that can be used to facilitate evacuee movement and reduce unnecessary demand. Case studies which identify key points to analyze in an evacuation plan, discuss evacuation termination and re-entry, and highlight challenges that someone developing an evacuation plan or model should expect are also included. This textbook will be of interest to researchers, practitioners, and advanced students.

Treating Victims of Mass Disaster and Terrorism Jennifer Housley, Larry E Beutler, 2007-01-01 The mental health effects of disasters and terror events can be severe and are most effectively characterized as differing stress reactions with psychological consequences Empirical studies show that addressing these consequences requires a staged approach to care This volume written by leading experts provides professionals with practical evidence based guidance on diagnosis and treatment following disaster and terrorist events and does so in a uniquely reader friendly manner It is both a compact how to reference for use by professional clinicians as well as an ideal educational resource for students and professionals and for practice oriented continuing education The unique feature of the book is that it outlines a staged approach for post disaster mental health care based on empirically supported principles of treatments that work Practical and reader friendly it is a compact and easy to follow guide covering all aspects that are relevant in real life Postcolonial Disaster Pallavi Rastogi, 2020-04-15 Postcolonial Disaster studies literary fiction about crises of epic proportions in contemporary South Asia and Southern Africa the oceanic disaster in Sri Lanka the economic disaster in Zimbabwe the medical disaster in South Africa and Botswana and the geopolitical disaster in India and Pakistan Pallavi Rastogi argues that postcolonial fiction about catastrophe is underpinned by a Disaster Unconscious a buried but mobile agenda that forces disastrous events to narrate themselves She writes that in disaster fiction a literary Story and its real life Event are in constant dialectic tension In recent disasters Story and Event are tied together as the urgency to circulate information and rebuild in the aftermath of the disaster dictates the flow of the narrative As the Story acquires temporal distance from the Event such as the seventy three years since the partition of India in 1947 it plays more with form and theme to expand beyond a tale about an all consuming tragedy Story and Event are in a constant dance with each other and the Disaster Unconscious plays the tune to which they move Rastogi creates a narratology for postcolonial disaster fiction and brings concepts from Disaster Studies into the realm of literary analysis

In the Line of Fire Cheryl Regehr, Ted Bober, 2005 In the wake of disaster emergency responders are first on the scene and last to leave They put concern for the lives of others over concern for their own lives and work tirelessly to recover the bodies of the missing Their heroic actions save lives provide comfort to and care for the wounded and inspire onlookers but at what cost to themselves We now know that rescue workers who are exposed to mutilated bodies mass destruction multiple casualties and life threatening situations may become the hidden victims of disaster The traumatic consequences of exposure can profoundly impact emergency responders radiate to their families and permeate the emergency organization This much needed new book based on the authors original research and clinical experience describes the consequences of trauma exposure on police officers fire fighters and paramedics Weaving data collected in large scale quantitative studies with the personal stories of responders shared in qualitative interviews this much needed account explores the personal organizational and societal factors that can ameliorate or exacerbate traumatic response Stress theory organizational theory crisis theory and trauma theory provide a framework for understanding trauma responses and guiding intervention strategies Using an ecological perspective the authors explore interventions spanning prevention disaster response and follow up on individual family group organizational and community levels They provide specific suggestions for planning intervention programs developing trauma response teams training emergency service responders and mental health professionals and evaluating the effectiveness of services provided Disaster whether large scale or small underscores our ongoing vulnerability and the crucial need for response plans that address the health and well being of those who confront disaster on a daily basis In the Line of Fire speaks directly to these emergency response workers as well as to the mental health professionals who provide them with services the administrators who support their efforts and the family members who wonder if their loved one will return home safely from work tonight
