Restorative Justice Reader Texts Sources:

A Restorative Justice Reader Gerry Johnstone, 2013 This title seeks to bring together a selection of extracts from the most important contributions to the restorative justice literature and its emergent philosophy It contains works by some of the proponents of restorative justice as well as its critics A Restorative Justice Reader Gerry Johnstone, 2006

Handbook of Restorative Justice Gerry Johnstone, Daniel Van Ness, 2013-01-11 Discusses the key concepts and principles of restorative justice explains how the campaign for restorative justice arose and developed into an influential social movement describes the variety of restorative justice practices and identifies and examines key issues within the restorative justice movement Handbook of Restorative Justice , Social Work and Restorative Justice Elizabeth Beck, Nancy P.

Kropf, Pamela Blume Leonard, 2010-11-11 Presents an innovative synergistic practice model that will help social workers use restorative justice skills to facilitate healing and recovery in the families and communities that they serve Restorative

Policing Lodewijk Gunther Moor, 2009 The focus of restorative policing is within a community oriented policing approach where the police have important tasks in rendering services to the population Traditional forms of penal treatment no longer satisfy entirely especially in relation to nuisances incivilities and petty crime Is the community police officer the simple registrar of events between victim and offender Can s he take the role of mediator or can s he refer to external instances in the domain of mediation or to civil judges Do the police have their own restorative regulations and institutionalized practices and are they involved in mediation in penal matters In what ways do police officers contribute to informal restorative practices and conflict resolution in neighborhoods This book is about restorative policing practices and the place and role police forces can take in this kind of approach Restoring Justice after Large-scale Violent Conflicts Ivo Aertsen, Jana

Arsovska, Holger-C Rohne, Marta Valiñas, Kris Vanspauwen, 2013-05-13 This book provides a comparative analysis of the potential of restorative justice approaches to dealing with mass victimization in the context of large scale violent conflicts focusing on case studies from Kosovo Israel Palestine and Congo incorporating contributions from leading authorities in these areas One of the main objectives of the book is to examine if how and to what extent restorative justice is applicable in various different cultural social and historical contexts and what common themes can be identified within the different regions under analysis The book will also provide a critical analysis of the UN Basic Principles on the use of restorative justice programmes in criminal matters as applied to the context of large scale violence Justice in Transition Anna Eriksson, 2013-05-13 This book provides a unique account of the high profile community based restorative justice projects in the Republican and Loyalist communities that have emerged with the ending of the conflict in Northern Ireland Unprecedented new partnerships between Republican communities and the Police Service of Northern Ireland have developed and former IRA and UVF combatants and political ex prisoners have been amongst those involved Community restorative justice projects have been central to these groundbreaking changes acting as both facilitator and transformer

Based on an extensive range of interviews with key players in this process many of them former combatants and unique access to the different community projects this book tells a fascinating story At the same time this book explores the wider implications for restorative justice internationally highlighting the important lessons for partnerships between police and community in other jurisdictions particularly in the high crime alienated neighbourhoods which exist in most western societies as well as transitional ones It also offers a critical analysis of the roles of both community and state and the tensions around the ownership of justice and a critical unromanticized assessment of the role of restorative justice in the community

The Peacebuilding Elements of the Belfast Agreement and the Transformation of the Northern Ireland Conflict Cornelia Albert, 2009 The aim of this book is to analyse whether the implementation of the peacebuilding elements of the Belfast Agreement contributed to the transformation of the protracted Northern Ireland Conflict Therefore this book deals with the following sections of the Agreement Rights Safeguards and Equality of Opportunity

Decommissioning Security Policing and Justice and Prisoners The author comes to the conclusion that the majority of the peacebuilding elements contributed to the transformation of the Northern Ireland Conflict The results of the study were obtained in conducting interviews in consulting surveys and in studying reports and other relevant literature on the recent developments in Northern Ireland

Critical Issues in Crime and Justice Mary Maguire, Dan Okada, 2014-11-11 A comprehensive provocative overview of the origins and present state of issues and perspectives in criminal justice and criminology from leading scholars in the field In this important book of essays leading scholars explore the gamut of topics in criminal justice and criminology examining both historical and contemporary material to illustrate the past and present of each topic covered Drawing on a wide range of sources Mary Maguire and Dan Okada illustrate the breadth of research policy and practice implications in key areas of the field such as crime theory law enforcement jurisprudence corrections and criminal justice organization and management The coverage of concepts insights voices and perspectives is geared toward students with a background in criminal justice or criminology courses to challenge them to synthesize what they have learned to question standard interpretations and to begin to create new directions and visions for their future careers as professionals in the field

Forgiveness and Remembrance Jeffrey M. Blustein, 2014-05-01 Forgiveness and Remembrance examines the complex moral psychology of forgiving remembering and forgetting in personal and political contexts It challenges a number of entrenched ideas that pervade standard philosophical approaches to interpersonal forgiveness and offers an original account of its moral psychology and the emotions involved in it The volume also uses this account to illuminate the relationship of forgiveness to political reconciliation and restorative political practices in post conflict societies Memory is another central concern that flows from this since forgiveness is tied to memory and to emotions associated with the memory of injury and injustice In its political function memory of wrongdoing and of its victims is embodied in processes of memorialization such as the creation of monuments commemorative ceremonies and museums The book casts light on the underexplored relationship of memorialization to transitional justice and politically consequential interpersonal forgiveness It examines the symbolism and the symbolic moral significance of memorialization as a political practice reflects on its relationship to forgiveness and finally argues that there are moral responsibilities associated with memorialization that belong to international actors as well as to states

Breaking the Cycle of Mass Atrocities Marina Aksenova, Elies van Sliedregt, Stephan Parmentier, 2019-05-02 Breaking the Cycle of Mass Atrocities investigates the role of international criminal law at different stages of mass atrocities shifting away from its narrow understanding solely as an instrument of punishment of those most responsible The book is premised on the idea that there are distinct phases of collective violence and international criminal law contributes in one way or another to each phase The authors therefore explore various possibilities for international criminal law to be of assistance in breaking the vicious cycle at its different junctures

Making Amends Linda Radzik, 2011-04-07 It is often assumed that wrongdoing can only be resolved through punishment or forgiveness But this book explores the responses that wrongdoers can and should make to their own misdeeds responses such as apology repentance reparations and self punishment It examines the possibility of atonement in a broad spectrum of contexts from cases of relatively minor wrongs in personal relationships to crimes to the historical injustices of our political and religious communities It argues that wrongdoers often have the ability to earn redemption within the moral community that respect and trust among victims communities and wrongdoers can be rebuilt and that the moral responsibility of wrongdoing groups can be addressed without treating their members unfairly
