Asia and Pacific Dept,2017-01-30 This 2016 Article IV Consultation highlights that Papua New Guinea is facing headwinds stemming from low commodity prices and is recovering from a major drought these factors have weighed on economic growth weakened the external position and created fiscal challenges Foreign exchange FX remains in short supply but inflows have recently picked up somewhat Near term risks to the outlook are tilted to the downside as fiscal retrenchment may have a greater impact on the economy than currently expected and the limited availability of FX continues to constrain imports and economic activity A further drop in commodity prices would weaken the external and fiscal positions Poultry value chain and cluster development in Papua New Guinea: Insights from a recent field study Fang, Peixun,Gimiseve, Harry,Mukerjee, Rishabh,Schmidt, Emily,Zhang, Xiaobo,2024-10-07 Despite poultry being lauded as a relatively affordable source of protein and micronutrients in many lower income countries chicken meat is twice as expensive in PNG compared to nearby Southeast Asian countries Recent rural household consumption data collected by the International Food Policy Research Institute IFPRI suggests that an important share of households do not eat enough protein to meet healthy dietary guidelines Schmidt et al 2024 Poultry along with fish and pork are the three most important animal source protein foods in the country yet these products remain financially prohibitive to a large share of the population This paper explores the unique challenges and opportunities within PNG s poultry sector using a growth diagnostic approach pioneered by Rodrik 2010 Through interviews with key stakeholders across the poultry value chain we found that while high feed costs persist as a significant challenge poultry farmers have yet to adopt additional cost reduction strategies such as establishing small scale regional feed mills utilizing local feed ingredients and diversifying feed and input imports An intriguing puzzle of PNG s poultry sector is the limited number of small scale producers successfully transitioning to medium scale operations This primarily stems from high transport costs and restricted access to input and sales markets The challenges of marketing chicken in PNG have received less attention than production Drawing on the experiences of successful models in other countries and considering the specific situation of PNG s poultry sector fostering poultry production and processing clusters e g in Lae suburban areas emerges as a potential strategy to address production transportation and marketing constraints By concentrating production value chain clustering can enhance access to essential services e g slaughtering and cold storage improve market access and reduce overall costs While clustering holds promise for PNG s poultry value chain its success hinges upon joint action between the public and private sectors as well as NGOs operating within the value chain
