Steve Spencer, Gary Taylor

Wayne Ross, 2017-03-01 Like the schools in which it is taught social studies is full of alluring contradictions It harbors possibilities for inquiry and social criticism liberation and emancipation Social studies could be a site that enables young people to analyze and understand social issues in a holistic way finding and tracing relations and interconnections both present and past in an effort to build meaningful understandings of a problem its context and history to envision a future where specific social problems are resolved and take action to bring that vision in to existence Social studies could be a place where students learn to speak for themselves in order to achieve or at least strive toward an equal degree of participation and better future Social studies could be like this but it is not Rethinking Social Studies examines why social studies has been and continues to be profoundly conversing in nature the engine room of illusion factories whose primary aim is reproduction of the existing social order where the ruling ideas exist to be memorized regurgitated internalized and lived by Rethinking social studies as a site where students can develop personally meaningful understandings of the world and recognize they have agency to act on the world and make change rests on the premises that social studies should not show life to students but bringing them to life and that the aim of social studies is getting students to speak for themselves to understand people make their own history even if they make it in already existing circumstances These principles are the foundation for a new social studies one that is not driven by standardized curriculum or examinations but by the perceived needs interests desires of students communities of shared interest and ourselves as educators Rethinking Social Studies challenges readers to reconsider conventional thought and practices that sustain the status quo in classrooms schools and society by critically engaging with questions and issues such as neutrality in the classroom how movement conservatism shapes the social studies curriculum how corporate driven education affects schools teachers and curriculum ways in which teachers can creatively disrupt everyday life in the social studies classroom going beyond language and inclusive content in social justice oriented teaching making critical pedagogy relevant to everyday life and classroom practice the invisibility of class in the social studies curriculum and how to make it a central organizing concept class war class consciousness and social studies in the Change Tsietsi Mmutle,Tshepang Bright Molale,Olanrewaju Olugbenga Akinola,Olebogeng Selebi,2023-12-13 This book is the first of its kind within the African region to combine scholarly perspectives from the fields of Strategic Communication Management and Communication for Development and Social Change It draws insights from scholars across the African continent by unravelling the complementary nature of scholarship between the two fields through the lens of prevailing governance and sustainability challenges facing African countries today This edited volume covers issues that have adversely affected the achievement of goals related to humanitarian upliftment development and social change for all African nations Consequently citizen participation which lies at the heart of these challenges when considering the question of sustainable governance and policy development for social change in an African context is addressed To this end a reflection is also made on various case studies that exist where local citizens do not inform sustainable development programmes while the promotion of bottom up development and social change is largely replaced by top down instrumental action approaches and Social Identities Steve Spencer,Gary Taylor,2004-08-02 Social Identities Multidisciplinary Approaches attempts to make sense of the increasingly complex ways in which we define ourselves and others It recognises that we are not simply individuals or members of a certain class or a certain nationality Rather each of us comprises a rich blend of various identities The book provides not only an eclectic spectrum of the forms of identity and influences through which identities are formed but also critical treatment of the theoretical tools used to understand these phenomena Knowledge

Evolution and Societal Transformations Jerald Hage,2020-04-30 Knowledge evolution punctuates the previous equilibrium of society and requires us to develop adaptive solutions One new rule is that as the discovery of new knowledge grows more difficult more complex organizational and institutional arrangements have to be adopted Knowledge growth is accelerating because not only are there more creative individuals and organizations developing radical innovations but also innovative regions are facilitating both of these trends The discussion of four social regions and the kinds of selves produced help explain partisan divides and integrate the social psychological literature The growth in knowledge produces two kinds of social changes In the nature of the social structure and the kinds of institutional problems that have to be solved The discussion of changes in the stratification system in the choice of organizational form and in the spread of inter organizational networks with tight connections heterogeneous social capital allows us to update Marx Weber and Durkheim The new adaptive problems include growing inefficiencies in labor product and public markets and the failure of many existing programs The proposed solutions are the creation of coordinated systemic networks in each of these areas which integrates the comparative institutional literature neoclassical economics and political science
