Speck, 2017-01-30 During his last years ethnohistorian Frank G Speck turned to the study of Iroquois ceremonialism This 1950 book investigates the religious rites of the Cayuga tribe one of six in the Iroquois confederation that occupied upstate New York until the American Revolution In the 1930s and the 1940s Frank Speck observed the Midwinter Ceremony the Cayuga thanksgiving for the blessings of life and health performed in long houses on the Six Nations Reserve in Ontario Collaborating with Alexander General Desk heh the noted Cayuga chief Speck describes vividly the rites and dances giving thanks to all spiritual entities Of special interest are the medicine societies that not only prescribed herbs but used powerfully evocative masks in treating the underlying causes of sickness Long House, Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado George S. Cattnach, Richard Page Wheeler, 1980 Winter's Handmaiden J.C. Wade, 2024-04-01 Plunged into a world of ancient magic and myth modern day archaeologist Maryn Ferguson must find the missing spring goddess if she hopes to return home and save the world from an endless winter Forced into the underworld alongside her reluctant companion Maryn's determination to return to her ordinary life begins to waver in the presence of Arawn the enigmatic god of death Can she unravel the mystery behind the vanished goddess and stop the lingering frost Can her heart survive the pull of a broken god who may be both her greatest ally and her deepest danger Gods faeries and monsters what could possibly go wrong Tracking the Neolithic House in Europe Daniela Hofmann, Jessica Smyth, 2012-12-09 The Neolithic period is noted primarily for the change from hunter gatherer societies to agriculture domestication and sedentism This change has been studied in the past by archaeologists observing the movements of plants animals and people But has not been examined by looking at the domestic architecture of the time Along with tracking the movement of sedentism Neolithic houses are also able to show researchers the beginnings of cultural identity group representation through the construction and decoration of these structures Additionally as agriculture moved west and north in this era the architecture and material culture shows this change and its significance Chapters are arranged chronologically so that authors can address differences and similarities of their region to neighboring ones To ensure continuity authors have framed the chapters around the following considerations construction materials and architectural characteristics how houses facilitated or perpetua

Coming Full Circle is an interdisciplinary exploration of the relationships between spirituality and health in several contemporary Coast Salish and Chinook communities in western Washington from 1805 to 2005 Suzanne Crawford O'Brien examines how these communities define what it means to be healthy and how recent tribal community based health programs have applied this understanding to their missions and activities She also explores how contemporary definitions goals and activities relating to health and healing are informed by Coast Salish history and also by indigenous spiritual views of the body which are based on an understanding of the relationship between self ecology and community Coming Full Circle draws on a historical framework in reflecting on contemporary tribal health care efforts and the ways in which they engage indigenous healing traditions alongside twenty first century biomedicine The book makes a strong case for the current shift toward tribally controlled care arguing that local culturally distinct ways of healing and understanding illness must be a part of contemporary Native healthcare Combining in depth archival research extensive ethnographic participant based field work and skillful scholarship on theories of religion and embodiment Crawford O'Brien offers an original and masterful analysis of contemporary Native Americans and their worldviews Encyclopedic Dictionary of Archaeology Barbara Ann Kipfer,2013-06-29 A modern comprehensive compilation of more than 7 000 entries covering themes concepts and discoveries in archaeology written in nontechnical language and tailored to meet the needs of professionals students and general readers The main subject areas include artifacts branches of archaeology chronology culture features flora and fauna geography geology language people related fields sites structures techniques and methods terms and theories and tools

Drawing Back Culture Tweedie,2015-08-17 The Makah Indians of Washington State briefly in the national spotlight when they resumed their ancient whaling traditions in 1999 have begun a process that will eventually lead to the repatriation of objects held by museums and federal agencies nationwide Drawing Back Culture describes the early stages of the tribe's implementation of what some consider to be the most important piece of cultural policy legislation in the history of the United States the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act NAGPRA NAGPRA was passed by Congress in 1990 to give Native people a mechanism through which they could reclaim specific objects of importance to the tribe Because NAGPRA definitions were intended for widespread applicability each tribe must negotiate a fit between these definitions and their own material culture The broad range of viewpoints within any given tribal community creates internal negotiations over NAGPRA surrounding the identification and eventual return of such objects Negotiations also arise concerning the nature of ownership At the heart of this ongoing struggle are themes relevant to indigenous studies worldwide the central role of material culture in cultural revitalization movements concerns with intellectual property rights and self representation and the trend towards professional cultural resource management among indigenous peoples The conception of ownership lies at the heart of the Makahs struggle to implement NAGPRA Tweedie explores their historical patterns of ownership and demonstrates the challenges of implementing legislation which presumes a concept of communal ownership foreign to the Makahs highly developed and historically documented patterns of personal ownership of both material culture and intellectual property Drawing Back Culture explores how NAGPRA implementation has been working at the tribal level from the perspective of a tribe struggling to fit the provisions of the law with its own sense of history ownership and the drive for cultural renewal
